DOCTOR TELLS HOW TO AVOID COLDS

"Where did you get that cold?" everyone is asking. Winter days are here, and with them comes the usual crop of colds—sniffling, coughing, and sneezing. If you wish to be convinced of this just make a visit to any of the churches, schools, theaters, moving picture shows, or any public assembly, and notice how many people are affected with colds. This is not the fault of the season however, according to Dr. Frederick D. Stricker of the Oregon state board of health. Dr. Stricker further says, "Contrary to the popular idea colds are not caught from drafts, cold air, open windows, or wet feet. Cold air does not cause a cold so long as you are protected with warm clothing and are breathing fresh air. It is a well known fact that Arctic explorers never have colds until they get back to civilization. The engineers and firemen on the railroads are not the ones who catch cold, but the passengers in the train. Colds are a germ disease. Colds are therefore preventable, and are not at all necessary either in winter or summer.

The air passages of a normal individual are generally flooded with germs of all kinds, but these do not thrive unless they are planted on favorable soil. The mucous membranes of the respiratory tracts are provided with natural defences by which germs are thrown off and destroyed. The dry stuffy air of steam heated apartments and public buildings is especially harmful. The converted heat from steam heated apartments and public buildings is found to be more trying on the mucous membranes than the radiated heat from open fireplaces.

"How then can we avoid taking cold? A correct idea of the cause of colds on the part of the laity is necessary in order to avoid them. Never allow your rooms or apartments to become overheated and stuffy. Avoid all crowded, congested, stuffy, and overheated places. Children with colds should not be allowed to go to school. Strict observance of the rules of personal hygiene will generally prevent the catching of colds. Persons with infected tonsils or adenoids should have them removed, as they are frequently important factors in predisposing to colds. Cough and sneeze in your handkerchief and do not spread your cold.

SOMETHING YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT WINTER LUBRICATION

If an oil solidifies in cold weather it can't lubricate your car

That's why we say—use Zerolene "cold-test" oil, — it remains fluid in cold weather and lubricates the bearings and cylinder walls at the first turn of the motor—and makes starting easier. You'll probably avoid trouble and expense by getting on the safe side, with Zerolene.

A poor "cold-test" oil often means scored cylinders, worn bearings and expensive repair bills. Be sure—use the grade of Zerolene recommended for the winter lubrication of your car. Consult the Zerolene Correct Lubrication Chart—wherever Zerolene is sold.

STANDARD OIL COMPANY (California)

Zerolene No. 1, No. 3 and No. 5 are all good "cold-test" oils. If you have trouble shifting gears, use Zerolene Transmission Lubricant "B"—it remains fluid at low temperatures and permits ready shifting of gears.
