One year, $1.50, six months, 85c, three months, 50c. Single copies, 10c. Combination rates with all the Portland Dailies.

ADVERTISING Rates reasonable. Our representative will call.

Official paper of the Town of Gresham. Official paper of the Town of Fairview. Entered as second-class matter March 3, 1911, at the Postoffice at Gresham, Oregon, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

HOW IT WAS DONE.

That handsome 20-page holiday issue—how was it done?

First, the thinking and planning on the part of writers, editors, ad men, make-up man and other workers, covering in some cases many days and evenings of study and thought, was something tremendous. It represented, roughly speaking what would have produced ten or a dozen ordinary Outlooks.

Second, the mechanical work involved in the composition, printing and mailing of 1600 copies taxed the full capacity of the Outlook's printing plant for several days and almost as many nights of nearly continuous work.

Third, a wealth of material was drawn upon, material which the Outlook office accumulates and keeps in reserve for just such occasions. This includes not only the ordinary type but also cuts, borders, etc., of almost endless variety.

Fourth, the Outlook's regular correspondents and special writers were very generous and faithful in their articles which made a readable and attractive paper possible.

Fifth, the advertisers responded loyally with about 1200 inches of advertising, without which such a paper would have been impossible.

The Outlook prides itself on producing in the holiday issue something new, original and attractive. There is no room for boiler-plate or filler. The cover design is always a product of the Outlook office.

To all who had a part in the production of this year's holiday Outlook the publishers extend their thanks.

CIVILIZATION AND GOOD ROADS.

That civilization owes a great debt to the highway builders can be understood by reference to history. The first European highways were those which went out from Rome, that the Roman soldier might have easy and quick access to the remotest bounds of his great empire. With him went law and order. Later, over the highways, went the school master and the college, the education, the institution and its teachers. The missionary of the Cross used the highway, the church spread its doctrine over the highway, and to this day, the great churches, schools, colleges, hospitals, and institutions for the amelioration of the condition of mankind, are found all way on, never away from, great highways.

It is the highway which made the city, not the city the highway. It is the highway which made the demand for the railroad, which is but a steel highway for cars of steel. It is the highway over which all freight must move sometime, the highway over which must travel all that is good, noble, desirable in life.

Where good highways are, there is a good civilization. Where are poor highways, are usually ignorance, poverty, disease, lawlessness, lack of culture, poor standards of living misery. Investment in highways means investment in civilization!

A War Against Santa Claus.

Along with the rebellion against God and governments there is a war against Santa Claus. Every year there are new recruits in the army of grumblers against holidays.

There is nothing wrong about Christmas. But something has happened to a lot of people, declares a writer in the Delinquent.

There is only one way to have Christmas, and that is to make it for someone else.

If there is so little of the child left in you that you scorn Christmas and frown Santa Claus—if there is so little love and sympathy for those who suffer (for suffering makes the strongest of us as little children)—then find some excuse to go away on Christmas. Enjoy your gloom all by yourself. You will know then what you have lost. You will prove what is left in life—your life—material facts, and doubt of all else.

This is the cross of life. The gold is in the hands of little children and of the men and women who bind their souls to that indefinable, mysterious something in man that lifts him above the beasts.

Santa Claus is a part of that spiritual side of us; Santa Claus—with his reindeers, his sleigh bells, his round little belly and red coat we almost glimpsed in one childhood—who never failed to conquer all obstacles of storms and roofs and narrow chimneys—and no chimneys at all! Even in war, when gray death put her black finger on the heart of the world, Santa came down from the nowhere to the little children.

Constitution of Multnomah County Fair

As Amended at the Annual Meeting on December 3, 1923, to provide for a Board of 19 Directors.

Article I.—Name. Section 1. This Corporation shall be known as the Multnomah County Fair.

Article II.—Object. Section 1. The object of this corporation shall be to operate, maintain, manage and conduct fairs, carnivals, exhibitions, and other enterprises, for competition, pleasure or profit; to buy, lease, acquire and hold real or personal property necessary to the success of its undertakings, and to enter into such legal obligations as the business interests of the corporation may require, in accord with its articles of incorporation.

Article III.—Stock. Section 1. The capital stock of this corporation shall consist of five thousand ($5000) dollars, divided into one thousand (1000) shares fully paid, non-assessable, of a par value of five ($5.00) dollars each; but the capital stock may be increased by vote of stockholders whenever the interests of the corporation demand it, such increase being in accord with the legal requirements of such action.

Article IV.—Officers. Section 1. The principal offices, place of business and exhibition shall be in the town of Gresham, Multnomah county, Oregon.

Article V.—Officers. (As amended December 3, 1923)

Section 1. The officers of this association shall consist of a board of directors, of nineteen in number, to be elected by ballot at a meeting of stockholders to be held annually the first Monday in December of each year, in the town of Gresham, a place to be designated by the president of the board. Notice of such meeting shall be issued by the secretary, by mail to each stockholder, at least ten (10) days previous to the date of meeting. Each share of stock shall entitle its owner to a vote, and he shall vote in person or by proxy.

Article VI.—Vacancies. Section 1. Vacancies may occur in the board of directors by resignation or by failure to qualify previous to election of officers in January, or by absence from three consecutive regular meetings of the board without sufficient excuse. Such vacancies shall be filled by the remaining directors by election from the body of stockholders.

Article VII.—Special Meetings. Section 1. Special meetings of stockholders may be called at the discretion of the directors for the consideration of rules of government, increase or reduction of capitalization, change in articles of incorporation, or for instructions relative to any matter in which the board of directors feel such a necessity.

Section 2. Special meetings of the stockholders may and shall be called by the president of the board whenever 20 per cent of the stockholders in written petition demand it, and such meeting shall not be delayed more than 20 days from the date of presentation of the petition, or beyond that date when the purpose of the petition would be defeated.

Article VIII.—Annual Meeting. Section 1. The annual meeting of the organization of board of directors shall be held on the first Monday after the first of January each year.

Article IX.—Board of Directors—Organization and Duties. Section 1. The newly elected board of directors shall meet, qualify and be organized the first Monday succeeding the first day of January of each year, and shall elect president, vice president, secretary and treasurer, who shall hold office until their successors are elected and qualified.

Section 2. The president and vice-president shall be elected from the body of the directors; the secretary and treasurer may be elected from the stockholders.

Section 3. The duties of the board of directors shall be to manage the financial interests of the association, prepare for and give an annual agricultural and industrial exhibit, and to hold frequent meetings for the purpose of consultation and instruction of their executive officers. They shall issue premium lists, appoint and instruct committees on premiums, publicity, buildings and conveniences, decoration, amusements and instruction, concessions, admission, public protection, awards, auditing of accounts, and salaries. They shall meet in regular session the first Monday after the first day of January, the first Monday of each month, and whenever the president and secretary, or on the petition of five or more directors, a special meeting is deemed necessary.

The secretary shall call a special meeting by notifying every director by mail, giving a five days' notice. During each day of the fair, sessions shall be held every evening at the secretary's office at 9 p. m.

Section 4. The president shall preside at all meetings of the board and at meetings of the stockholders; he shall put all properly presented motions and announce the results; appoint committees when so instructed, name heads of departments unless these offices are filled by vote of the directors, and have general supervision of the rules and orders of the association and its directors.

Section 5. The vice president shall preside in the absence of the president or in case of his inability to exercise the office.

Section 6. The secretary shall keep an accurate record of the proceedings of the association, its directory meetings, and shall produce such record or any portion of it whenever required. He shall issue stock certificates.

NOTICE OF FILING FINAL ACCOUNT. In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon, for the County of Multnomah. In the Matter of the Estate of Henry Metzger, deceased.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned as administrator of the estate of Henry Metzger, deceased, has filed his final account as such administrator in the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon, for the County of Multnomah, Department of Probate, that Friday, the 15th day of January, 1924, at 9:30 o'clock in the forenoon of said day and the court room of said court has been appointed as the time and place for the hearing of objections to said final account and the settlement thereof.

ates to all persons paid up and entitled thereto. He shall in person or by deputy superintendent the recording of expenses and receipts of the association, of all entries for exhibits, concession fees, admission, etc., of prizes awarded, and other disbursements, and of such other information or data as would seem to be necessary to a complete record of the work of the association. He shall settle all accounts and issue all premiums subject to instructions from the board of directors as soon after presentation of claims as possible. He shall receive all money due the association, issuing duplicate receipts therefor, and shall turn it over to the treasurer within ten days of its receipt by him, taking a treasurer's receipt on the latter's acceptance. He shall issue duplicate treasurer's warrants for the payment of all vouchers or claims against the association and shall not pay any claim or order against the association from any money he may have on hand. At the discretion of the board he shall execute a bond for the secretary of all books, records and money belonging to the association in a sum to be determined by the board. His books shall be open for the inspection of directors or stockholders at any time.

Section 7. The treasurer shall receive all money paid to the secretary, giving a receipt in duplicate therefor, and shall recognize all warrants, countersigned by the president, for the payment of money, by issuing treasurer's checks of the association. No payments shall be made in cash. He shall keep an accurate record of receipts and expenditures, which shall be open to inspection of stockholders at any time. He shall be required to give bond to an amount to be determined by the board for the safety of all money of the association.

Section 8. The bonds required of the secretary and treasurer shall be fixed and presented to the president not later than the May meeting, and may be on personal security or through a bonding company at the association's expense.

Section 9. The president and four directors to be chosen by the board, shall constitute an executive committee to whom questions demanding immediate action may be referred, but no expenditures not previously authorized are anticipated in this clause. The executive committee may nominate a manager, director of exhibits, superintendents of departments and standing committees named in Section 3; but all nominations shall be confirmed by action of the board. This committee shall individually and collectively execute the rules and instructions of the association and see that those employed or acting under the association's authority comply with its instructions.

Article X.—Auditing Committee. Section 1. An auditing committee shall be appointed from stockholders, not members of the board of directors, at the August meeting and its report shall be rendered at the regular January meeting and at the annual meeting of stockholders in December.

Article XI.—Voting. Section 1. Voting for directors by stockholders shall be by ballot, each share of stock entitling its holder to a vote. In election of officers in the directorate vote shall be by ballot, a majority of votes cast being necessary to a choice and each director being entitled to one vote. If there is only one nominee the vote may be by acclamation.

Article XII.—Surplus. Section 1. All money on hand unnecessary to meet the actual expenses of the fair, at the regular October meeting of the board, shall constitute a surplus to be held for further improvement in whole or part, or be distributed among the stockholders as a dividend, at the discretion of the directors.

Article XIV.—Date of the Fair. Section 1. The date of the fair shall be determined not later than the March meeting of the board each year.

Article XV.—By-Laws or Rules. Section 1. A body of rules may be adopted by the board to govern its routine or special business and such rules may be amended by adding to or striking out a portion, at any meeting or present; but no rule shall be adopted that does not conform to intent of this constitution.

Article XVI.—Quorum. Section 1. A quorum for the transaction of business in a director's meeting shall require eight members of the board to be present. In a stockholder's meeting 20 per cent of the stock shall be represented to constitute a quorum.

Article XVII.—Amendments. Section 1. Amendments or alterations may be made to this constitution by a two-thirds vote of stockholders present at an annual meeting or at a special meeting called for the purpose. Notice of all proposed amendments or alterations must be published thirty days previous to the date of final vote.

Article XVIII.—Ratification. Section 1. This constitution shall be valid and binding whenever a majority of the stockholders have attached their signatures thereto or have by written notice consented to its adoption; and all the business transacted by the association shall be transacted in conformity with this constitution from the time of the acceptance of the committee's report in whole or amended, until it shall have been adopted by the stockholders, and thereafter.
