So This is Paris.

The most pretentious benefit entertainment ever attempted in the city of Portland will be "A Night in Paris," the annual show of Portland Post, American Legion, to be staged in the civic auditorium on Monday night, December 31. A vaudeville performance of great merit will be given in the main auditorium while the basement of the building will be transformed into Parisian boulevards with cafes, market places. Free dancing will be given in the wings of the building. More than 5000 people were entertained at the show held last year.

And He Got It.

Old Gentleman (meeting 5 year tot on sidewalk)—Ah—Good morning, young sir. You're a mighty fine young gentleman and a credit to the country—and how did you sleep last night? Little One—"Inna bed."
