

DAMASCUS WOMAN WILL RIDE IN TOURNAMENT

Mrs. Ruth Wilson of Damascus will take part in the musical ride given by the woman's riding class as a feature of the military tournament. The class has been practicing for more than a month for the drill.

A rope race, in which each rider tries to get a prize fastened to a rope stretched across the football field, will be staged after the drill. The military tournament is an annual affair staged by the military department in which all the members of the college

R. O. T. C., in addition to many others, take part.

Several airplanes will also be used in the tournament this year, under the guidance of Lieut. Oakley J. Kelley, who made the first non-stop flight across the continent. Mrs. Wilson is a senior in agriculture and a member of the greater O. A. C. committee.

Travel savings

The dime bank idea, an old one and an excellent one, has taught people how to save; Christmas savings clubs have become so popular that the Yuletide shopping problem is no longer a troublesome one, and the practice of "laying aside" a little money at regular intervals has become so general that many of the good things in life which a few years ago were looked upon covetously as luxuries are no longer regarded in that class.

Because the saving habit has become so universal traveling is more popular than ever, and is more nearly within the reach of the average man.

Many of our good friends are adding to their travel savings as regularly and as amply as possible.

When they are ready to take the journeys about which they have dreamed and romanced they are happy to find that in many ways this bank can assist them in making necessary arrangements.

One of the most important of all our services is the sale of American Express Travelers Cheques—convenient to carry, acceptable everywhere, and an insurance protection against loss of funds.
