JORY HAS WILD HORSES AND FAMOUS COWBOYS, COWGIRLS

Wild West Show from Eastern Oregon Brings to Fair Some of Country's Best Riders

"Joy Killer," Bucking Mule and "Cattletto," a Half-Breed, Are Among Attractions

"Let 'er Go! Whoopee!" This catchy yell will take on more and more significance from now on.

Let anyone visit the barn on the fair grounds where Mr. Jory has just installed some of his best horses and talk with this wizard of the range and the visitor will want to yell, "Let 'er Go!"

There is no sham about Jory either. When asked for something sensational about his horses and riders he said, "I want it to be strictly true. I'd rather not say it than to have it not true."

Then he gave the Outlook a partial list of his horses and the names of some of his most daring riders and some of the startling features to be shown.

Most of these features will be new in this part of Oregon. On the range they become familiar sights, that's why "Frontier Days on the Range" seems most appropriate as a name.

Many Wild Horses. Mr. Jory has nearly 50 head of wild horses many of them fresh from the ranges of eastern Oregon and Washington.

Speedball, Culdesac, Webfoot, Zane Grey, McKay, Distillation, Miss Wiggins, Wiggles, Doughboy.

Cattletto is a half cow and half buffalo, a daughter of the famous old Sharkey bucking bull.

"She is the only one of the kind in the state," says Jory, "and she is a sure buckler. She has never been ridden more than 12 feet."

Joykiller is a mule, which in addition to his natural kicking propensities has added the bucking habit and he is a confirmed thrower. He has never been ridden, it is claimed.

George Fletcher, of Hermiston, colored, known everywhere as "Nigger Gawge" is an old time bulldogger and all around cowboy. He won second place as bulldogger at Pendleton in 1911. He will enter the contests. Among the cowboys and cowgirls who will participate here during fair week are the following.

Helston Moore, famous rider, of Butter Creek. Ed. Coffield, one of the best cow buckers of eastern Oregon.

Dismal Dick Lockett, winner of second prize at Hermiston on July 4. Pat Owens, famous buckler from the heart of Horse Heaven.

Chuck Nell, of the Horse Heaven country, winner of first at the big Hermiston celebration.

"Slim" Keifer of Burns, famous buckaroo. Jack Coffield, famous bareback rider of Vancouver, Washington.

Buffalo Daniels, bulldogger of Walla Walla. Slim Holman of eastern Washington.

Claud Williams of Montana. Marie Hall, of California, famous trick and relay rider.

Alice Wilson, noted bucking horse rider. Many Feature Acts.

Among the feature acts will be the following: Novelty relay race, run with cowboy, cowgirl and Indian.

Wild horse race. Bareback riding bucking horses, cattle and mule.

Buffalo riding. Bulldogging. Trick riding.

Trick and fancy roping. Mr. Jory, who has been in the wild west show business for 15 years, is a well known stockman of Hermiston, Oregon.

When asked how he liked the fair grounds and track at Gresham Mr. Jory spoke in high praise of the arrangements, saying it was the best he had seen.

Several wild steers, fresh from the range will be provided for the exhibition.

gold. Their day will be Tuesday with exercises from 2 to 4. They also have arranged a symposium hour from 4 to 5 for Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, with well known speakers.

Judge Stapleton is arranging for a prominent speaker to take part on the program afternoons between the races during the fair, speaking to the people in the grandstand and bleachers.

Among the speakers are some of the candidates, including Maurice Crumpacker, Congressman Elton Watkins, I. N. Patterson, Milton A. Miller, and possible Senator McNary. Judge Stapleton will introduce the speakers.

Arrangements have been made with the Baptist Ladies' Guild to serve

Bucking and Bulldogging Contests Are Open to the Whole World

The bucking and bulldogging at the race track on the fair grounds next week, which will be one of the big features of Jory's wild west shows, will be a real contest, "open to the world."

The bucking contest will be for the season of four days and will be a two horse contest. The entry fee will be $25 and all the entry money goes into the purse. There are already eight entries, which starts the contest with a purse of $200. The winner takes all the money. There should be many more entries.

The bulldogging is also a contest, open to anyone. The entry fee is $25 and all money goes into the purse. In the bulldogging contest the winner will be the one having the best two average. There are already three entries.

It is said there are some ex-cowboys around the country who are wont to boast of their prowess and what they could do if they only had the chance. Now they are going to have their opportunity and they are expected to come across or forever hold their peace.

The fair slogan is, "Let 'er Go!" The cowboys, with reference to these contests, are saying, "Let 'em come!"

FAIR GROUNDS OFFERED LIVESTOCK SHOW

The fair board at a special meeting held for the purpose on Thursday morning passed a resolution offering to the International Livestock show the free use of the Multnomah county fair grounds for the fall livestock and pet stock show. The secretary was instructed to communicate same to O. M. Plummer, general manager of the livestock show.

BIG FAIR PARADE IN PORTLAND MON. NOON

Bucking Auto, Cowboys and Cowgirls, Band and Autos Will Participate

Other Comic Stunts Wanted and People Asked to Volunteer Help

Boys and Girls, Attention!

The fair board wants 25 to 30 boys and girls to ride on a truck in the big parade in Portland next Monday noon. H. W. Strong has kindly donated his truck for the purpose and will lead the singing of fair songs in the parade. He wants to meet the boys and girls who will go and who can sing on the fair grounds at the chautauqua tent at 4 o'clock sharp tomorrow, Saturday. Boys and girls of the glee clubs, from any school, are wanted.

Don't forget. Be in the grove at the fair grounds at 4 o'clock tomorrow. It will be a big parade with comic features, and all. The following article gives the details:

Arrangements are being made for a big parade in Portland Monday noon in the interest of the county fair, which will open next Tuesday, and of the Children's Farm Home ticket selling campaign.

The fair board decided last night to make the parade something quite startling, noisy and attractive and make the Portland people sit up and take notice.

There will be a band, Raker's bucking auto, auto loads of cowboys, cowgirls, Indians, fair board members and children singing the official "It Aint Goin' to Rain No Mo'" fair songs.

The children's farm home campaign will enter several decorated cars in the parade.

The Queen of the Multnomah county fair will be in the parade. Permission to put on this big pre-fair parade has been secured from the Portland police department and the route has been laid out covering the principal blocks of the business part of the city.

"IT AINT GOIN' TO RAIN NO MO'"

Many verses have been sent the Outlook in the fair song contest. Tonight the contest closes. H. W. Strong will assist the editor in deciding the winners and the next Outlook will announce the names and awards.

Thank you.

The parade will start exactly at 11:29 1/2—not a minute later. The formation will be at East Sixth and Hawthorne and the route is as follows: Start—East Sixth and Hawthorne. On Hawthorne to Grand. On Grand to Morrison. On Morrison, across bridge to Third. On Third to Alder. On Alder to Tenth. On Tenth to Stark. On Stark to Broadway. On Broadway to Pine. On Pine to Sixth. On Sixth to Morrison. On Morrison to Fifth. On Fifth to Washington. On Washington to Fourth. On Fourth to Madison. End on Madison.

The parade will be preceded by four motorcycle cops.

H. L. St. Clair and O. A. Eastman, of the publicity committee for the fair will have charge of the arrangements for the parade. There will be need of several cars besides those of board members and a low truck for the band of 12 pieces.

Suitable banners will be provided for the cars. It would be appreciated if several with good sized autos would volunteer to the committee to drive in the parade and personally deck out their cars in some neat, attractive but simple way for the occasion.

The committee wants to meet about 25 of the older boys and girls at the chautauqua on the fair grounds at 4 o'clock on Saturday afternoon to practice the songs for the parade.

They will be taken to Portland in the autos on Monday and vie with the band in the parade. A good leader will be selected.

FUNERAL SERVICE FOR GRESHAM GIRL HELD

The funeral service held for Miss Benema Mathews, who died early Monday morning at the home of her sister, Mrs. F. Medler in Portland from gastric ulcers, was held in the Gresham Methodist Episcopal church on Wednesday afternoon. The church was filled with sorrowing friends of the young woman and her family, among them being many from the office of the O. W. R. & N. where she worked.

The Rev. Frank L. Purnell of Portland, pastor of the Montavilla Christian church, brought a message of comfort and encouragement. Music was furnished by a quartet composed of Guy D. Jones, Miss Martha Hagberg, Mrs. E. W. Aylsworth and Leslie Walrad. Mrs. Clyde Ruegg was the pianist. The pall bearers were all schoolmates of the deceased girl, Maurice Botkin, Burton Walrad, Wilson Eastman, Bayard Miller, Joe Peak and Albert Camp. A group of young men from the O. W. R. & N. office acted as honorary pall bearers. Interment was in the Damascus cemetery beside the body of her mother, who died when Benema was a little child.

GREAT MILITARY EXHIBITION TO BE ON OPENING NIGHT

The military spectacle which will be given on the infield of the race track Tuesday night will be the biggest display of its kind ever seen in this district, according to announcement made by Lieutenant Colonel Eugene C. Libby, who has charge of the affair. It will occupy the entire infield and no persons, except those taking part, will be allowed inside the outer gates to the race track. About 300 men of the Oregon National guard will take part. The imaginary battle will occur about 9 o'clock to give the advantage of darkness for the use of shells and rockets.

Star shells, an artillery barrage, an infantry attack on a line held by machine guns, use of smoke candles, etc., with all the accompaniments of modern warfare, will feature the demonstration.

Plans for the demonstration contemplate having the infantry advance on the line held by machine guns in exactly the same manner as it would in actual warfare. It will be supported by fire from machine guns, one pounders and field guns. The medical corps will be on hand to take care of the "wounded" and everything will be realistic.

A feature of the attack will be the use of smoke candles. These candles, which are the latest development of the chemical warfare division, are used for producing a smoke screen for preventing movements of troops being discerned by the enemy. The smoke, however, is harmless and consequently, it was announced, that spectators need have no fear on that score.

The Oregon guard troops are fresh from their encampment at Camp Lewis, where they had some training in just this type of demonstration. Many of the officers and non-commissioned officers of the guard also saw active service overseas, so that they are especially conversant with such an attack under actual war conditions.

It is proposed to make the spectacle one of the outstanding features of the entire county fair program, it was declared, and with that in view the guard officers and men will spare no pains in putting it over.

The guard recently staged a similar attack on a smaller scale at the Multnomah armory in conjunction with other military demonstrations, and the affair proved so popular that it was impossible to accommodate all who desired to view it.

BYER'S SHOWS WILL CONTAIN THRILLERS

Beautiful Cremolines Will Compete with Sorrells in Chariot Races.

Educated Horses and High Diving Dog will Perform.

A seasoned showman and horseman is William Byers of Salem who is not unfamiliar with this part of Oregon. Mr. Byers is peculiar as a show man in that he is too modest to brag about what he has. He would rather the people would say, "That's better than I expected," than be disappointed over anything advertised big. His motto is, "Does more than he says."

Hence the Outlook reporter found Mr. Byers on Thursday just after moving his show horses, people and outfit to the fair grounds a bit reticent about telling beforehand all he expected to do and how the crowds would be thrilled by his exhibitions of trained horses, etc.

But the Outlook is certain Mr. Byers' shows will be among the big things that will please everyone.

He has seven head of beautiful Oregon cremolines which will run in the chariot races. Four of these hold the world's record for chariot racing of one-half mile in 51 seconds.

One of his racing teams will be four sorrells which tied the previous world's record in 1923.

He has the famous running horse, Rainbow, and the famous "dancing fool," Mamma.

There will be standing Roman races, three teams, and feature jumping horses. One horse will jump through a hoop of fire and horses will jump over various obstacles including a man.

There will be lady riders. One of the interesting stunts will be the high dive by the educated dog, Don. All of Byers' attractions will be seen on the race track. Make your telephone earn you more by connecting it with a want ad.

ATHLETIC SPORTS FOR BOYS, GIRLS FIRST DAY OF FAIR

Grade school children are to be admitted free to the grounds during the fair this year. There will be no half price. Young people out of grade school will pay admissions the same as adults.

There will probably be more things than ever to attract, amuse and instruct children with an entire absence of objectionable features.

Especially on opening day the children will be given right of way. That will be children's day. It may not be possible to hold exercises in the forenoon.
