Mrs. J. A. Stephens of Portland, formerly of Pleasant Home, has returned from South Dakota where she went to take her brother, J. W. Murray, to the Battle Mountain sanitarium for disabled veterans for treatment.

Mrs. Mary Olson of Seattle is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Mary Shumway.

BORING

At the Boring M. E. church there will be no preaching Sunday, August 3 nor Sunday, August 10.

VARIED INTERESTS HOLD CROWDS AT THE FAIR

It is now a matter of history that the 1924 Multnomah County fair got ready on time and had practically all exhibits in place on the opening day. There were a few last minute folks, but they were greatly in the minority. With a vigorous swing the gates opened to more than 7000 paid admissions Tuesday and the fair was on. As is usual with all such events, the livestock barns draw great crowds. Pure bred stock, much of it the exhibit of club boys and girls, is receiving much favorable comment. The pigeons, chickens and rabbits come in for their share of praise.

The auto dealers and implement men are on hand to explain the merits of their respective lines. Apiary, horticulture, floriculture, domestic art,—in fact it's all here even to the "eats."

The sham battle Tuesday evening was witnessed by fully 5000 people. The grand stand and bleachers were filled to capacity and hundreds overflowed and occupied every possible point of vantage within view of the race track. Herbert Hayes of Portland, a member of the howitzer company of the 162d infantry was severely burned about the face and hands when a one-pounder exploded prematurely.

Following the "battle," the participants were furnished with a substantial lunch by the ladies of the Baptist guild at the expense of the fair board.

Queen Patricia Crowned.

Every point of vantage in and around the grand stand was filled with eager spectators on Wednesday afternoon to catch a glimpse of Queen Patricia L. in real life known as Miss Patricia Smith, last year acclaimed Portland's most beautiful girl. Her attendants, the Misses Marjorie Scott, Irene Schlegel, Frances Hare, Maybelle Harris and Lois Winstock were clothed with their vestments of royalty and escorted to places of honor. Patricia Temple, five years old, was the queen's train bearer. Governor Pierce laid aside the cares of state and placed the crown upon the queen's brow thus giving her undisputed sway over her willing subjects until the close of the fair. Following the coronation ceremony the queen and her attendants occupied special boxes where they witnessed the parade and Indian races. Mayor Baker accompanied by City Commissioners Barbur, Mann and Bigelow, arrived later and occupied seats of honor in the royal box.

Colorful in bright purples, reds and greens, the Indian parades are spectacular. Feathered and painted, they seem to greatly enjoy the interest they create.

The women appear to resent any attempt on the part of the bystanders to kodak them, but Chief Gilbert Minthorn posed as best he could on his restless pony and asked that a picture be sent him at his home address, Cayuse, Oregon.

Domestic Science and Art Work Beautiful.

Dear to the feminine heart is the beautiful domestic science and art display in charge of Mrs. Annie Hevel. While greatly hampered for lack of space, the exhibit is splendidly arranged. One of the largest individual collections is that of Mrs. M. D. Kern who, though handicapped by recent illness, has sent in rugs, embroideries, laces, dried and preserved fruits, over 100 varieties of canned goods, etc.

Here are beaded bags from inner tubes, buffet sets, flet work, rugs, quilts, hand embroidered dresses. A number of excellent pieces have been loaned for exhibition purposes only. These include a silk muffler 125 years old, a hand-woven and colored bedspread over 100 years old, a square of tapestry loaned by Mrs. Blom which had been brought from Jerusalem; Mrs. Arthur Hager has contributed a fine display of real cluny laces.

The elderly ladies especially are deserving of mention in the exhibit of fancy articles. One has placed "The devil's fingernails", a quilt consisting of about 8000 inch-square blocks. Altogether the exhibit is a most creditable one.

Conclusive.

A Mormon once argued polygamy with Mark Twain. The Mormon insisted that polygamy was moral, and he defied Twain to cite any passage of Scripture that forbade the practice.

"Well," said the humorist. "How about that passage that tells us no man can serve two masters?"—The Argonaut.

Thought She Was Crazy.

She—"That dance made me dizzy. Let's sit down."

He—"All right; I know a nice dark corner out on the porch."

She—"Thanks just the same—but I'm not quite as dizzy as that."—Royal Gaboon.

FAMILY BANKING

This bank offers more than a banking service to the business man.

It is frequently referred to as "the family bank." The head of the family can carry his checking account here, and can transact his other banking business.

His wife and children also can have their individual accounts. While household valuables can be kept in our safety deposit vaults.

We welcome this "family" idea. It centralizes your family banking, and gives us an opportunity to render a complete banking service to all.

Rushing the EXTRAS to the newsies—

Probably the only type of automotive equipment that is driven harder than a fire engine is the truck or auto that delivers the papers to the newsies and newsstands.

It's worth noting that Zerolene "stands up" in this sort of service as well as in all others. The Business Manager of the "Spokesman-Review," of Spokane, Wash., writes as follows:

"For more than ten years we have continued to use Zerolene oils and greases in our sixteen cars and trucks and three motorcycles. These carry our papers every day in the year over all sorts of roads in all kinds of weather, and may be classed as very hard service."

Why pay tribute to the superstition that "eastern" oil is "better" just because it costs more? Zerolene, made by our patented high-vacuum process from selected Western Naphthenic Base Crude, deposits less carbon, increases the gasoline mileage of your car, and lengthens its working life.

Insist on Zerolene—a better oil—even if it does cost less.
