BENEFIT CELEBRATION AT PACIFIC BEACH

A benefit celebration will be given August 30, 31 and September 1, Labor day, at Pacific City beach by the Pacific Coast Rescue & Protective society, the proceeds to go to a fund for the building and equipping of the new Portland Commons, a community center where destitute men, women and children are helped on the way back to a life of usefulness. The rescue and protective society is composed of the Albertina Kerr Nursery home, the Louise home, the Pacific Protective league, the Oregon Prisoners' Aid society and the Portland Commons.

The razing of the Burnside bridge has made necessary the finding of new quarters for the commons as the organization's site for the last 20 years is to be invaded.

It is proposed to provide an entertainment that will not only be of interest to those attending, but will also have a few thrills. Ezra Meeker, of Oregon Trail fame, will fly from Seattle to Pacific City by airplane for the three-day event. His famous oxen also will be shipped to Pacific City. Senator Hiram Johnson of California has been asked to speak on Labor day and if it is impossible for him to be present, it is proposed to get Senators Borah or Walsh of Montana.

General White, commander of the Oregon National Guard, has expressed his willingness to cooperate to make the celebration a success and will ask the guard to stage a sham battle on one of the three days. On the opening evening a mammoth fireworks exhibition has been arranged. Large set pieces in many colors of the American flag, Uncle Sam, President Coolidge, Oregon state seal, General Dawes, John W. Davis, Governor Bryan, Senator La Follette, Senator Wheeler, Governor Pierce, Mayor Baker, Milton A. Miller, democratic nominee for United States senator; United States Senator McNary, Maurice E. Crumpacker, republican nominee for congress from this district, and Congressman Watkins will be shown.

Casting prizes for fishermen will be given for an exhibition on the Nestucca river, which flows into the Pacific ocean at this point. Log rolling, canoe tilting exhibitions will be seen and prizes of every kind will be given for almost every competitive sport imaginable.

MRS. ANNA HAYDEN DIES IN PORTLAND HOSPITAL

Mrs. Anna Hayden, wife of James Hayden of Portland, died last Sunday in Good Samaritan hospital in Portland, after a brief illness from blood poisoning. Her husband was taken to the hospital a short time ago and is still a patient there. While caring for him she received a hurt on her finger in which infection started, which caused her death. Mrs. Hayden is survived by her aged husband, three daughters, Mrs. A. C. Ball of Pleasant Valley; Mrs. Ida Cummings of Camas, Washington; Mrs. N. Peterson of Portland, and one brother, Alfred Johnson of Hood River. Mrs. I. T. Wood and George Hayden of Gresham are step children.

Funeral services were held in Portland on Wednesday.

FAIRVIEW

"Some Lessons from the Great Drought," will be the theme of a sermon Sunday morning at 11 o'clock at the Smith Memorial Presbyterian church by the pastor, Rev. E. R. D. Hollensted. Waldemar Hollensted, his son, will sing a solo. Sunday school will be at the usual hour, 10 o'clock.

A Wonderful Shot.

They were telling how well they could shoot, and Tom Dawson recalled a duck hunt in which he had brought down five birds with one shot.

"Talk about shootin'," began Old Man Tilford; "I saw Jim Ferris do a mighty neat piece of work one day last week. His wife was puttin' out the washin' and she was complainin' about the pesky sparrows makin' dirt marks on the damp clothes with their feet."

"They're thick as bees 'round here, says she. 'There's seven of 'em sittin' on the clothes-line this blessed minute."

"I'll fix 'em, says Jim, takin' down his shotgun, which he alius keeps loaded with fine birdshot. He tiptoed to the door, took aim, and—"

"Killed every one of them sparrows!" broke in Dawson.

"You're wrong," corrected Tilford, calmly; "he never teched 'em, but when his wife took in the washin', she found she had three pair of openwork stockin's and a fine peek-a-boo shirt-waist."—W. B. Kerr.

POPULAR YOUNG PEOPLE HAVE CHURCH WEDDING

Miss Edna Wittekind, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. A. Wittekind, recently of Cincinnati, Ohio, became the bride of William Carlstedt on Wednesday evening, August 20, at an elaborate wedding at the Swedish Mission church at Powell Valley. The service was read by the Rev. O. J. Wilner in the presence of about 200 guests. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Ethel Wittekind, and the groom by his cousin, Oral Anderson. The bride's gown was of white crepe de chine. She wore a full length veil and carried a shower bouquet.

The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion with gladioli against a background of greenery. A reception was held at the church following the ceremony and refreshments of ice cream and cake were served. Many beautiful gifts were received by the young couple.

After a honeymoon, the destination of which was not revealed to their closest friends, Mr. and Mrs. Carlstedt will reside on the Carlstedt farm in Powell Valley.

To Help Farmers

By C. E. Spence, State Market Agent.

Oregon is an agricultural state, and when the industry is prosperous the whole state thrives. This is true of any agricultural state. And it is equally true that there cannot be permanent prosperity in the cities and towns of an agricultural state when the farmers do not succeed.

The last legislature realized this. It realized that the farmers of Oregon were desperately hard pressed to make both ends meet, and it knew that dairying was about the only branch that paid a profit. And this legislature passed a law prohibiting the use of milk or milk products in the manufacture of butter substitutes. The law does not prohibit the manufacture and sale of oleo in the state, as some newspapers have stated, but it does prohibit the manufacturers of oleo from using milk in their substitutes.

Approximately two million pounds of butter substitutes are sold in Oregon annually. It would add ten thousand dairy cows to the farms if the counterfeit butter was replaced with real butter, and with them would follow the added business to all industries directly and indirectly dependent.

Last year 226,453,905 pounds of margarine were manufactured in this country. These figures are of grave importance to dairying. Many of the states are agitating similar Oregon laws to prohibit oleo being made from dairy products, several have such laws.

The farmers of Oregon simply ask that fraud and counterfeiting of butter be stopped. The legislature has so ordered, but the middlemen, who make good profits on shipping in these millions of pounds of substitutes, have invoked the referendum on the law and are making strenuous efforts to have it defeated at the coming election. Practically all of the oleo sold in Oregon is shipped in from other states.

Producers are fast learning the value of shipping-point inspection and the certificate that goes with it. It is a truth-in-fabric guarantee, under which the producer gets paid for the quality in the container, and the consumer gets an honest pack. Grading and inspection have come to stay. The producer knows how he has been many times hooked on a declining market—the purchaser declining to receive the shipment on the excuse that it was not up to standard. An official certificate at place of shipment puts an effectual stop to this practice.

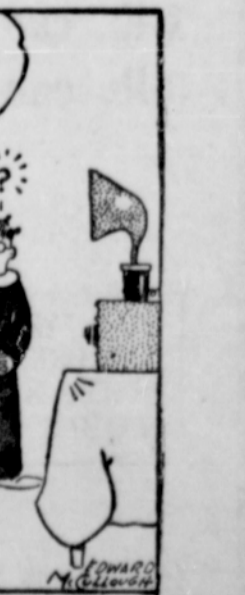

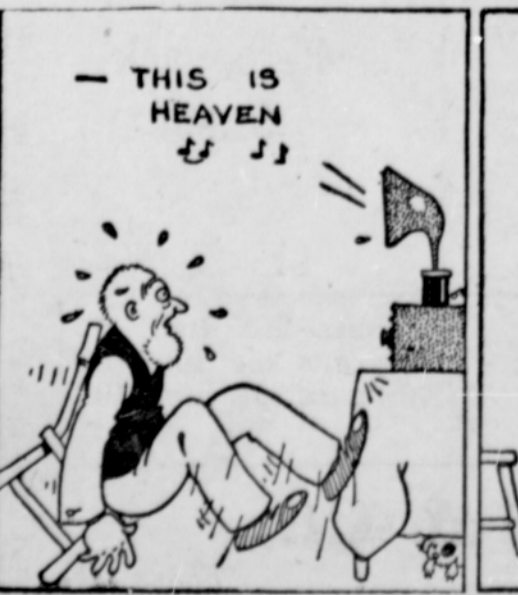

There appears to be much confusion as to how to vote on the referendum of the oleo law. If you want the law to stand and the use of milk in substitute butter be prohibited, vote "yes." You will vote for or against the original law.

The newly-organized prune growers' association will be a power for the growers, if they will stick and work for the organization. This is its first year and it was late getting into the field. Another season it should be made much stronger in membership. When a cooperation controls above 75 per cent of a product it becomes a price factor. When it controls but 25 per cent it becomes a club to beat down the price.

"Small and few in the hill" is the general report of the potato crop in Oregon.
