

Back to the Home Nest

One hundred and ten million Americans thrilled with joy and pride this week as six U. S. army airmen winged their way back toward the home nest at San Monica, Calif., to complete man's first flight around the world. Photos show the three round the world army planes flying with escort over New York City, and close up of the three pilots. (Left to right) Lt. Nelson, Lt. Smith, Commander, and Lt. Wade.

FAIRVIEW

Mr. and Mrs. George P. Lumsden, who were married the latter part of last June, were very happily surprised on Friday evening by about 25 friends dropping in on them for the evening, most of whom were associates of Mrs. Lumsden, who is a teacher in the Rose City Park school. Mr. Lumsden is connected with the Fairview Grain & Warehouse company at Fairview. The time was passed in music and dancing, followed by refreshments. A most beautiful silver coffee urn was presented to the couple in a few appropriate words, as a token of the esteem in which Mrs. Lumsden is held by her fellow teachers.

The county Pomona grange will meet with the Fairview grange in an all-day session on Wednesday, September 17, at which 200 or more are expected to be present. The meeting will be held in the Fairview city hall, and after 2:30 in the afternoon the public is invited to be present and take part in the discussion of any questions that may be of general interest. After 9 o'clock in the evening the doors will also be thrown open to the public, at which time a musical and literary program will be rendered.

Fairview grange will serve dinner at noon and luncheon to all members attending.

FAIRVIEW FARMER IS HELD UP IN FIELD

Charles A. Weiss, an employe on the William Tegart ranch, one and a half miles west of Fairview on the Sandy road, was held up by three unmasked men shortly after noon Thursday and robbed of $100. Weiss was sorting tomatoes in a field when the trio approached him and asked for food. Following a moment's conversation they assaulted him, after he was overpowered the robbers tied him securely with rope and wire. Then they searched his clothing, took the money and escaped.

Weiss finally managed to get on his feet and then Charles Fitzgerald, a neighbor, came to his aid. The robbery was reported to Tegart, the employer, and the latter informed the police. Tegart said he saw a small car being driven away from the farm just before Weiss told him of the robbery. Weiss operated a stall at the city market and had just come from Portland with his day's receipts. He had intended to bank the $100 at Troutdale as soon as he finished with his tomato sorting.

PLEASANT HOME

Miss Anna Lennartz left for Salem on Sunday where she registered in Willamette University Monday. This is her second year and she will major in history and English. She is preparing herself for the position of a high school teacher. Her mother, Mrs. M. Lennartz, is a director in the Orient school district.

Work on the new school building in the Orient district is progressing rapidly and everything points to the completion of the structure by the first of the month. The walls are plastered and woodwork casings will soon be in place. The floors are to be of fir with hard edge grain finish.

VICTORY

School has opened in the Victory district with a good attendance and interest. Mrs. Louise Nelson, who resides in Orient, is the teacher and this is her second year. On Friday evening, September 19, the Parent-Teacher association will hold the first meeting of the year at the schoolhouse. Mrs. A. O. Stafford is president of the P.-T. A. and is in hopes a large number will be present.

The Victory Circle of the Evangelical Ladies Aid will meet with Mrs. H. G. Mullenhoff, of Pleasant Home, on Wednesday, Sept. 17, at 2 o'clock. The date of the meeting has been placed a day earlier so as not to conflict with the auction sale of Mrs. Maggie Rosin.

In the early election betting in Wall Street, President Coolidge is quoted as a 3 to 1 favorite. Some of the betting commissioners are of the opinion that from $10,000,000 to $15,000,000 will be wagered this year. It is a curious fact that betting on horse racing is prohibited but pools on base ball or elections, or on hogs and produce, are matters of common publicity for which the mails are freely used.

Florence Honey Writes

very poor specimens of men. Many are tubercular. "I had my first experience in sleeping on a Chinese boat. Ten of us were in one small room. Two slept on the floor in the doorway, one on the table, one on a cot. The others were on the narrow seats and under the table on bundles of our bedding. There was no undressing. We shifted from the table top to underneath, then onto the floor, taking turns."

A most interesting descriptive letter was written by Miss Honey under date of July 7, telling of a trip to the sacred mountain of Tai Shan, said to be the oldest "sacred," pilgrims having made this visit for thousands of years, Confucianists, Buddhists and Taoists alike. The annual pilgrimage is made from February to May and often from 4,000 to 10,000 people make the ascent in a single day, many of them entirely on their knees. The Miss Spaulding who is mentioned in the letter is the representative of the International W. C. T. U. in China. The letter is in part as follows:

"The climb is 15 miles and it takes six hours. Miss Spaulding and I left the hotel at 6:30 and reached the top at 12:30. It was a perfectly wonderful trip. The road is paved the entire way with huge slabs of stone and in places is from 12 to 15 feet wide. There are 6,300 stone steps. For more than half the way the road follows a mountain stream and there were many cypress trees and towards the top pines.

"Such a climb, almost straight up now and then! The chair used is peculiar to Tai Shan and is found in no other part of China. It has two sets of shafts with a basket made of rope in the center, and over the whole is a canopy of blue linen for a sun shade. Three men are used for each chair, one being to relieve the others. They wear only trousers and carry a small turkish towel to wipe the perspiration. They wear a broad rawhide strap around their necks. This is fastened to the ends of the shafts. When they carry you directly in front of them it is just like a trot and jerks you terribly, but they soon take a few running steps and slip the strap in so doing to one shoulder, thus walking sideways, and that is like a canter, very comfortable. Then a few more running steps and they shift to the other shoulder. They continue this all the 15 steep miles, excepting as they climb the long stretches and just as naturally they take a slow, steady gait. There is an old local law that inflicts severe penalties on a coolie who slips or allows a chair to drop in making the trip. For once I was glad I did not weigh more than I do, which is enough on such an expedition. We stopped at a couple of temples along the way and then at the top there is a small stone village and many more temples. We were right up in the clouds and could not get the view which they say is one of the finest in China.

"Coming down the country looked like a miniature map and I believe I had my first airplane experience, as we seemed to hang out over space. Such sure-footed coolies, and they just run down! At first I did not dare look but it did not take long to learn they understand their business, and then I was not frightened. We left the summit at 1:30 and were down by 3:30. We paid $3 each for the chair.

"We later went out to the "Buddhist Hell," about a 20-minute ride from the hotel. Such a crowd of Chinese flock around you when you walk that it is almost necessary to ride. This hell consists of 75 Buddhist gods, horrible, immense wooden creatures, sitting on their thrones, and in front of each are about ten life-sized clay figures depicting all the horrors of future punishment, for example, one crushed under a god's foot, another tied by the hair to a post, another being ground between huge, stone rollers such as are used in grinding meal in this country."

MILLER - BEEHLER WEDDING SOLEMNIZED On Thursday evening at 8 o'clock a pretty home wedding was solemnized in the presence of about 50 guests, most of whom were from Portland, when Miss Beatrice Beehler became the bride of Theodore Miller at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Beehler, 1 1/2 miles north of Boring, the Rev. James Smith of Portland, officiating by the reading of the ring ceremony. The bride, who was gowned in white satin crepe and carried rosebuds and sweet peas, was attended by her sister, Miss Beulah Beehler, and the groom's best man was his brother, Emanuel Miller. Miss Velma Hillyard played the wedding march. The rooms were beautifully decorated in marigold and asters. A reception was held after the ceremony, at which dainty refreshments were served. The presents were numerous and costly. The bride was formerly a student at the High School of Commerce in Portland and Mr. Miller is a salesman with the Honeyman Hardware company. After a wedding trip which will include several Oregon beaches and the Pendleton Round-Up, Mr. and Mrs. Miller will reside in Portland.
