

CITY TICKET IS LIKELY COMPLETE

PROBABLE CITY TICKET.

For Mayor—Chas. Cleveland.
For Recorder—C. G. Schneider.
For Treasurer—John Metzger.
For Marshal—Emmet Kelly, Chas. Runyon, Harry Johnson, C. P. Lant.
For Councilmen—J. A. Bushong, B. W. Thorne, A. W. Botkin, Russell Akin, Hans Larsen.

Although the time for filing petition of nomination has not expired it is believed the city ticket will appear on the ballot on November 4 practically as given above.

The most outstanding happening in local politics since the citizens caucus on October 2 was the withdrawal yesterday of H. L. St. Clair from the mayoralty race, leaving an open field for Chas. Cleveland.

Recorder Schneider has stated that nomination by petition may be received up to October 25, or ten days before election, in time to go upon the ballot.

Apparently the office around which will center the closest contest is that of marshal for which there are up to the present four candidates. Two of them, Emmet Kelly and Chas. Runyan, were nominated at the caucus and are two of four candidates nominated at that time who have qualified. Harry Johnson and C. P. Lant are nominated by petition. It has been stated that Gregg Cox will not be a candidate for re-election.

SUIT OVER LINE FENCE GOES FOR DEFENDANT

The suit of Lauderback Bros., vs. W. C. Calvin which was tried in justice court before John Brown yesterday, was decided in favor of the defendant. Suit was brought by the Lauderbacks to force the payment of half the expense of building 15 rods of the line fence, which they claimed should be borne by Calvin. The defense claimed that several years ago there was an agreement that each should build half of a 90-rod fence, and each agreed to build half of the line. Both sides to the controversy admitted this and Calvin contended that he had actually carried out his part of the agreement and that the 15 rods under litigation was the entire responsibility of the Lauderbacks. The court held that Calvin's position was right and decided in his favor. Notice was given of appeal of the case. W. J. Cooper represented the Lauderback interests and C. G. Schneider those of Calvin.

MORE PAVING BEING LAID ON POWELL ST.

Another strip of asphalt is being poured in Gresham today, the work being done by the Cascade Construction company. The hot stuff is being spread on Powell street, just west of Main, with 150 feet frontage of Raker & Son and 50 feet of Latourell & Son. The strip is between 11 and 12 feet in width and is joining with the county paving in the middle of the street. The talk was current this morning among the business men that John Rometch, of Portland, who owns the property occupied by E. E. Welling's restaurant and confectionery, had failed to approve the paving of the 20 feet in front of his building. Much indignation is being expressed by his failure to sign up for his share of the paving, as it will greatly mar the appearance of the street if such a small space is left unpaved.

Free Methodist Church Services.

The Free Methodist Sunday school will convene at 10 o'clock Sunday, followed by preaching at 11 o'clock by the Rev. D. M. Cathey. The attendance and interest in the Sunday school are increasing. Mrs. P. F. Black will be the leader of the young people's services at 6:30, speaking from the subject, "Christians, what they should be." Song and praise service will begin at 7:30 and preaching at 8 o'clock.

Zion Evangelical Church.

The announcement of the Zion Evangelical church services is as follows: Sunday school 10 o'clock; divine worship in the English language at 11 and in the German language at 11:50; sermon topic, "Caesar and God." This sermon will be of special interest to voters in the coming election. There will be an anthem by the choir, "All Nations Shall Worship Thee." The educational council of the Sunday school will meet at the parsonage for its monthly session on Monday evening, at 7:30.

Methodist Episcopal Church.

The Sunday school will convene Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. There are classes for all ages with competent teachers and a warm welcome awaits strangers and those who have no regular church here. The pastor, Dr. C. W. Huett, will speak at 11 o'clock, taking as a theme "The True Cosmopolitan." There will be special music by the choir and a cordial invitation is extended to the public.

At 6:30 o'clock in the evening the Epworth League meets for its devotional service. The League numbers 65 members and is a bunch of live wires and young people will get both pleasure and profit by attending this service.

At 7:30 the pastor will again preach, taking as a subject "Stopping Short of Success." The evening service is growing in numbers and interest and the one who misses it loses something worth while.

On Monday evening the official board will meet at the church. There are several important matters to discuss and it is imperative that there be a full attendance.

Thursday evening at 7:30 will be held the regular mid-week prayer meeting to which all who love the Lord and are trying to serve Him are most cordially welcomed.

WASHINGTON SENATORS WINNERS OF THE WORLD SERIES

The Washington Americans, who by winning the seventh and last game of the World's Series today by a 4 to 3 score, now stand as baseball champions of the world. The series this year played with the New York Nationals was a particularly tough one and went the full seven games, the Americans taking four out of the seven. The Senators brought home the American League pennant for the first time in 50 years and, to cap the climax, annexed the World's Series pennant from the New York Giants, four times winners of the National League bunting and three times world's champions. Johnson, grand old pitching ace, saved the day for the Senators by going into the box in the ninth and holding the Giants scoreless. He also contributed a single in the 12th which put the winning run on third base from whence he scored on McNeely's double.

THE INCOME TAX REPEAL

On November 4 the citizens of Oregon will vote on the repeal of the state income tax law. This law was a Pierce measure and was passed at the last legislature and the referendum was invoked. It was approved by the voters on a small margin one year ago. It was thought to be unconstitutional in whole or in part and has been tested in one notable suit but the supreme court declared the act constitutional and sound.

The Outlook was opposed to this state income tax on the ground that it seemed a duplication of taxes. If, however, as is claimed by its supporters, it has reduced the state property tax over a million and a quarter dollars this year and that it may be unnecessary to levy any state property tax next year, except the millage taxes voted by the people, then we think it may not be so bad after all.

If it is true, as claimed by its sponsors, that it has taken no money from anyone or from any business that has not made a net profit over and above all expenses and exemptions; that it taxes every man according to his ability to pay; that it taps legitimate sources of revenue that cannot be reached by the usual property tax, such as salaries, interest, dividends, commissions, professional fees, etc.; that a large per cent of those who will pay an income tax this year are not on any property tax roll, then we favor retaining the law at least until a longer time has been given to prove out its benefits or injuries.

It is certain property taxes are too high, becoming almost if not quite confiscatory in some instances, and some persons receiving good incomes avoid paying their just proportion of taxes.

Profitable farming is what should be encouraged in this state and if the income tax will lighten the burden of taxes for the farmer, as it is claimed it will do and is doing, the Outlook would hesitate to speak or work against it.

In the voters pamphlet the argument for the repeal is submitted by C. C. Chapman, editor of the Oregon Voter, and the argument against the repeal is signed by Governor Pierce, C. E. Spence, A. Slaughter, O. R. Hartwig, George A. Palminter and Herbert Egbert.

Mr. Chapman's argument is based chiefly on the contention that the state income tax is retarding and will retard the growth of the state. He claims to have documentary evidence of this fact. The evidence was submitted to a committee of the Portland chamber of commerce who failed to be convinced.

A good sample of Mr. Chapman's reasoning is the following:

"Repeal the income tax and thereby encourage outside capital to come in, and thus increase our taxable wealth and reduce our tax burden. Or, keep the income tax and thereby discourage outside capital from coming in, and thus retard the increase of taxable wealth and delay relief from our tax burden."

"Which of the foregoing seems more likely to reduce our taxes? "Only by encouraging outside capital to come in can we expect to gain our share of prosperity and growth. If we impose a handicap on investment and our competing states have no such handicap, where will outside capital go?"

"We want all the prosperity we can get in Oregon, and prosperity follows in the wake of industrial investment. If outside capital pours into Oregon, everyone in Oregon is more prosperous. There is more demand for farm products and more demand for farm products."

"If we continue to set up a bar against outside capital coming in, it will go elsewhere. Oregon will lag behind, the market for farm products will be limited and there will be little or no demand for farm products."

"Repeal the state income tax law—it is a bar to progress and a bar to tax relief."

Mr. Chapman thinks the Oregon state income tax might be all right if other Pacific coast states had a similar law. His principal objection to it is that Oregon, the weakest of the coast states, is singled out and covered with this wet blanket of retardation and made still more backward.

Fifteen states now have an income tax law and several others are said to be contemplating such a law.

Mr. Chapman's argument is answered by the sponsors of the law in these words:

"It is claimed that the income tax drives capital out of the state of Oregon. In other states having an income tax the result has been to encourage the investment of capital, and industrial reports show that results have been the same in Oregon. The assertion that the income tax drives capital out of the state is based upon the mistaken idea that capital is taxed under the income tax law."

"Capital is never taxed under the income tax law. No tax can be levied under the law except on the net profits over and above all expenses and exemptions. "The income tax is, therefore, a protection to industry and an inducement to capital to come to Oregon."

Fords, Fords, Fords—everywhere, for everybody, for everything—that's the impression one would get from the films shown to a crowded house last night at the Gresham theater.

Another impression an observer would get is that Henry Ford was about as ubiquitous as his cars, trucks and tractors and was literally moving heaven and earth to obtain the materials and develop the resources necessary to the production of his name-sakes and those of his son on the most stupendous scale ever known to man.

Besides the dozens of plants where Fords are assembled and the factories where parts are made Ford has developed iron mines in the north, coal mines in the south, railroads, shipyards, ships, etc., etc. Besides the engines and bodies, his factories manufacture the glass, the tin, the upholstery, the rubber, the paint, the squeaks and the rattles that go into the making of the most popular little car of a thousands uses, the car that gets you there and gets you back—provided you ever want to turn back.

Henry Ford is the richest man in the world but he has done so much for humanity in a material way that no sword hangs by a thread over his head. He is one of the most resourceful men who ever lived. He is a wizard of finance, a genius of organization, a master of production. The processes by which Fords are manufactured at the rate of thousands a day was shown on the screen, and though the show was two hours long there was more about the Ford not shown than shown. That isn't strange, however, as no one yet has discovered all there is to a Ford, probably even Ford himself doesn't know.

The show was given under auspices of Raker & Son, Ford dealers for Gresham and the Pacific Northwest. C. I. Raker, senior member of the firm, appeared in person at the psychological moment and made a brief business talk which was well received.

Udenominational Church Services.

Sunday services at the Udenominational Temple will be as follows: Sunday school at 10 o'clock; preaching services at 2 p. m. by the pastor, the Rev. S. F. Pitts; prayer meeting Tuesday evening; Bible study Friday evening at 7:30. These services are well attended and a cordial invitation is extended to all.

Auto Paint Shop Started.

A new line of business has been opened up in Gresham, that of auto enameling. R. W. Hamilton has leased a shop opposite the Jones lumber yard for his work and is optimistic over the future of this business. He is also greatly pleased over the fact that one ad. in the Outlook brought him a $50 job. He says, "It pays to advertise."

Aged Man Dies at Firwood.

Philip F. Evans, died at Firwood, near Sandy, Tuesday, October 7, at the age of 83 years. He is survived by two sons and a daughter. Funeral services were held at the residence on Thursday, the Rev. S. F. Pitts officiating, with interment in the Sandy cemetery.

Aloysius Gray Dies at Sandy.

Aloysius O. Gray died at Sandy, Oregon, October 6, at the age of 24 years. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Gray, of Sandy. He is also survived by a sister, Mrs. Isabelle Wolf, of Mollala, and five brothers, Raymond, Alex, Cyril, Anselm and Ephraim, all of Sandy. The funeral services were held at St. Michael's Catholic church, on Thursday, at 9 a. m., interment Sandy cemetery.

PROPERTY OWNERS MUST FIX WALKS

Drastic action was taken by the city council at its meeting last Tuesday night with regard to the defective sidewalks which still remain after the efforts of a year ago to have all the walks within the city put in good repair or replaced with new ones. In some sections of the city plank walks will be allowed but there are certain specified streets which must have cement walks. The marshal is preparing a complete list of defective walks and the recorder will send official notification to the owners. If the work is not attended to at the end of 15 days after such notice the council will proceed to have the work done and declare a lien against the property affected. There are said to be a large number who will receive this notice within the next few days.

The council also ordered the marshal to enforce the ordinance prohibiting the maintenance in the city of outside toilets within 200 yards of a residence. There are said to be 35 such toilets illegally maintained and which have been reported objectionable. The owners will be obliged to obey the city ordinance in such cases or pay the penalty, declared the council.

A bill for $2464.53 was presented from the county for the cost of paving the block on Powell street between Main and South Roberts and extending for a part of a block on the latter thoroughfare. This was for the paving between the county's 18-foot strip to the curb on either side. In addition to this bill included two additional items, one of $59.34 for gutters and the other of $44.23 for driveways. These latter amounts were much larger than the members of the council and the individual property owners were led to expect when the work was ordered and the council refused to allow that portion of the bill, leaving the matter to be adjusted between the construction company and the property owners.

The plan has been approved by the council of replacing broken plank cross walks with fine crushed gravel. It is believed this will make a more satisfactory crossing than the planks, which are being constantly broken up by the heavy traffic.

The following bills were allowed and warrants were ordered drawn on the treasury from the various funds:
