VOTE

The general, state and city election will occur in a little more than three weeks. The most important message to every American citizen from now until election is this:

BE INFORMED ON CANDIDATES AND ISSUES — AND VOTE!

HERE IS THE RECORD.

What has the republican administration accomplished in the way of economy?

Briefly, these things: Reduction of the public debt by more than $3,000,000,000, saving in interest alone more than $135,000,000 a year.

Reduction of the cost of running the Federal government of more than $2,000,000,000 a year.

Reduction of the number of employees on the federal payroll by close to 100,000.

The establishment and operation of a budget system in handling the fiscal affairs of the federal government, resulting in economies hitherto thought impossible.

Ending of the naval construction races of the great powers, which laid terrific tax burdens on the whole world, through the Conference for the Limitation of Armaments.

A record any party could be proud of, and particularly proud when it is remembered that conditions almost chaotic were inherited from the preceding administration.

FACT VS. THEORY.

Upon one thing, at least, all three candidates for the presidency agree. They desire world peace—like every one else in the world.

One candidate thinks we can achieve it by entering into a league of nations, a plan already repudiated at an election which the league's chief sponsor accepted at the time as a "solemn referendum."

The second candidate asks for peace, demands revision of the Versailles treaty, to which the United States is not a party, and insists on prompt payment of our foreign debts in one breath. La Follette proves that even a radical theorist need not be consistent in his theories, and that a pacifist may at times be militant.

The third candidate points to a record of actual performance. On August 11, 1921, President Harding invited the governments of Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan to participate in a conference on the limitation of armament. As a result of this conference, actual treaties were signed relating to:

- 1. The limitation of naval armament; 2. The use of submarines and poison gases; 3. Insular possessions and insular dominions in the region of the Pacific ocean (the Four Power treaty); 4. Principles and policies in matters concerning China; 5. Chinese customs tariffs.

For the first time in history great naval powers voluntarily limited their great weapons of offense and made, as the secretary of the navy said, "a naval war of aggression an impossibility." It was the first tangible move toward universal peace.

The republican party has taken the first real step toward world peace.

McCann-Kroner Debate Tonight.

Impetus was given the national campaign in Oregon in the past week by the announcement of a debate between Judge Wallace McCann and Ernst Kroner, the latter state campaign manager for LaFollette-Wheeler. The debate has been announced for the Portland municipal auditorium this evening, October 10. It will probably be broadcast by station KGW. Interest in the LaFollette and the republican camps has grown from the time the debate was first proposed and indications point to a packed house. Following three days after the visit of Senator Burton K. Wheeler, vice presidential candidate on the LaFollette ticket, the debate will mark the opening of intensive work that will continue until election day.

The debate is the culmination of an attack alleged to McCann against Kroner for having solicited votes for LaFollette in a circular sent out in the German language McCann held, according to newspaper reports from Eugene, that such solicitation was improper. Kroner says his appeal was made to voters of German descent to vote their interests as American citizens and he has in his possession German language appeals sent out by the national republican committee soliciting votes for Coolidge and Dawes on promises of what they will do for Germany.

D. C. Lewis for State Representative. D. C. Lewis is a candidate for reelection to the office of state representative. He has always given the people a square deal. It has often been remarked of him: "He is the only representative that part of the county outside the city has. He is fair and just.—Adv.

OREGON BENEFITS BY MANY NEW FAMILIES

More than 500 families has settled in Oregon during September, according to a survey conducted in 35 major districts of the state by the Oregon State Chamber of Commerce. This great influx of settlers over a 30-day period has benefitted practically every section of the state, according to the survey, the new families per community ranging from six in the Baker section to 70 reported at Myrtle Point, in Coos county.

Albany, Ashland, Bandon, Corvallis, Cottage Grove, Eugene, Gresham, Myrtle Point, Salem and Springfield each reported 20 or more new families in the past 30 days.

Bank deposits in the same 35 communities show an average increase of 7.33 per cent for September of this year over the same month last year.

Retail sales—a composite report from three leading merchants in each of 35 communities—show an increase of 6.70 per cent over September of last year.

The buying power of the farmer shows an increase over September of last year of 10 to 25 per cent communities, is stationary in six and has decreased in one.

Data gathered through the business survey conducted each month by the state chamber is used by statistical organizations such as Babson's, the Industrial Digest and other agencies as an up-to-date resume of business conditions in Oregon.

Why Millions Leave Farms.

Seven hundred thousand workmen, in 23 leading manufacturing industries, are receiving wages today which are equivalent in purchasing power to $1.27, as compared with $1 in 1914. This statement is made by the U. S. National Industrial Conference Board.

On the other hand this authority states, that notwithstanding the recent advance made in prices of some farm products, the farmer's dollar will buy 85 cents' worth as compared with ten years ago. In other words the dollar of the organized trades workman is worth $1.27 and that of the unorganized farmer 85 cents—a difference of 42 cents. This statement explains why millions are leaving the farms and finding work in the industrial centers.

The high priced dollar is stripping the farms. A series of stories of successful Oregon farmers is now being compiled by the Land Settlement department of the Portland chamber of commerce which are to be used in lectures and in connection with pictures this winter by the Northern Pacific Railway company in their great middle-west advertising campaign. The object of these letters are to induce settlers to come to Oregon and the stories are actual experiences of farmers who have come here to locate in the various sections of the state.

Cooperation Growing Fast.

Cooperation is rapidly growing throughout the country, and as the farmers are profiting by experience, there are very few financial failures and each succeeding organization is becoming more successful. Strength of production control and handling the product all the way through are the features of the successful ones.

Better Hours.

The young hopeful of the family was just entering the age of late nights and notions. One morning after the late hours the night before, the youth announced: "Paw, I've a notion to raise chickens."

Paw drew his eyebrows together and gruffly commented: "Better try ows. Their hours would suit you better.—Indianapolis News.

Oregon Mines Are Exploited.

Through the efforts of the Department of Mines and Mining of the Sacramento chamber of commerce, comprehensive mineral exhibits from British Columbia, Oregon and Nevada were added features at the national exposition of mines and mine equipment held at Sacramento recently in connection with the 27th annual convention of the American Mining congress. The Colorado school of mines also had an interesting oil shale exhibit, making both oil and gasoline from oil shale through a complete working laboratory equipment.

Attention of delegates was focused on the great mineral possibilities in Oregon by the splendid exhibit made by the Southwestern Oregon Mining Bureau of Grants Pass with P. S. Woodin, president, and H. L. Gage, geologist, in charge. That part of Oregon adjacent to Grants Pass and south of it to the California-Oregon boundary is a highly mineralized zone, containing in commercial quantities chrome, manganese, magnesite, hematite, tungsten, pyrites, lime, magnetite, jade, talc, coal, jasper, marble, silica, oil shale, copper, cinnebar, silver and gold.

The exhibit was marked by some high grade gold quartz ores. At the present time there is considerable activity in the Gold Hill section, and if the proposed smelter is erected, many miles with rebellious ores will resume operation. Samples of the large bodies of medium grade copper smelting ore found near the state line were also shown. There has been no deep mining in this part of Oregon.

Farmers Mutual Fire Relief Assn. Forges Ahead.

The yearly report filed with the Insurance Department by the Farmers Mutual Fire Relief Assn. shows $50,058,000, written during 1923 and 2210 new members gained. Losses paid, $22,437,000; insurance in force, $18,283,000. The Assn. also has a substantial cash balance. The low rate of 30c on all property insured by the Association will not be changed, which enables farmers to get adequate insurance on easy payments.

President Snashall reports the Assn. at the present rate of growth will shortly be the largest farmers Assn. west of the Rocky mountains.

Anyone wishing to insure will call on Mr. H. W. Snashall, Fair Grounds, Gresham, phone Farmers 2101.—Adv.
