DAWES HAS PLAN TO AID FARMERS

Portland, Or.—(Special).—Common sense will solve the problems of the American farmer, just as it has opened the way for rehabilitation of Europe, according to Charles G. Dawes, republican vice-presidential candidate, in a recent speech.

General Dawes would apply the remedy of common-sense in much the same way it was administered in the European situation. He urged a commission, non-political, competent and strictly non-partisan in its makeup.

He said the situation in agriculture is now comparable to the dilemma in which European industry found itself and with which the reparations commission had to grapple, after five years of futile bickering and with Europe on the brink of chaos.

John W. Davis, head of the democratic ticket, has sniffed at the Dawes agricultural scheme and referred slightly to "moth balls" in connection with it. But this was as nothing compared to what critics said of an expert commission to untangle European affairs.

One prominent man said the plan was like prescribing a pill to cure an earthquake. But General Dawes was equal to that sneer and said he had always held the opinion that common sense is a universal remedy, whether given in the form of a pill or taken as a steady diet.

The commission the President is about to appoint, it was admitted, would meet with many difficult situations and in order to get results worth while, it would have to be divorced absolutely from politics, it was said. General Dawes held it an economic problem and not a political question at all.

He pointed out the disparity in earning capacity of agricultural and industrial portions of the population and touched specifically upon the situation not only of the beef, wheat, fruit and cotton growers but of the whole body of farmers throughout the nation.

"The idea of an economic, non-partisan and impartial commission, which the president has announced he will appoint to suggest a plan for legislative and other relief," he said, "is to have the subject impartially and competently considered from all standpoints."

"There is at present no consensus of either economic, agricultural or political opinion behind any specific remedy. It has not been possible to secure, for any proposed plan of relief, endorsement of all the leading agricultural organizations."

"The commission plan is the only one, as I see it, by which this great agricultural problem of the nation can receive a common-sense consideration, free from political poison."

"The experts' plan in Europe was accepted because settled public opinion demanded its acceptance and any government which had opposed its acceptance would have been overthrown by public opinion."

"There come crises so great in national affairs that by common consent there is a turning away from political quack doctors. It seems to me that such a crisis is confronted in the agricultural situation."

LAFOLLETTE FAILS U. S. IN SUGAR CRISIS

Portland, Or.—(Special).—Senator La Follette now is saying a good deal about the public being defrauded through the tariff on sugar. But as a member of the senate when the sugar tariff was up for adoption, he had not a single word to say about rates on sugar. As a matter of fact there were five roll calls on the sugar tariff in the senate and La Follette did not vote on a single one of them.

Why did La Follette wait until a presidential campaign was on before denouncing the sugar tariff? Why did he not only denounce it but vote against it when he had the chance? Was it by any chance because Spreckles, the sugar baron of California, is his staunch supporter in this campaign that he would not vote against his interests?

La Follette's failure then to do battle for what he now claims was right may well give his supporters pause in pinning their faith to La Follette for any other economic relief.
