Thanksgiving

The Pilgrim Fathers were forced to carry a blunderbuss wherever they went. They knew the value of PROTECTION. After a year of hardships they set a day and called it Thanksgiving, the first Thanksgiving. Every year thereafter they celebrated the day and in this manner the habit has come down to us.

Today, three hundred years later, people also know the value of PROTECTION. It is not necessary to carry a blunderbuss, but it is NECESSARY to bank your money, valuable papers and jewelry. The Utopia which is absolutely free from danger of theft is yet to be found, and until it is it will be necessary to place valuables in theft proof places. We solicit your business.
