The large barn belonging to W. F. Strack on his farm on Cedar Creek flat was entirely destroyed by fire on Sunday night, together with much valuable machinery and other contents. Among the articles stored in the barn were a big threshing machine, a small saw mill, a traction engine and a quantity of baled hay. Some insurance was carried in the Grange company. No one was occupying the house on the place at the time and the origin of the fire is a mystery.
