

GRESHAM YOUNG COUPLE TAKE MARRIAGE VOWS

A quiet wedding took place at the Methodist Episcopal parsonage last Saturday evening, when Dr. Chas. W. Huett spoke the words which united Miss Beatrice Jackson and Fred Chalker in holy matrimony. The ceremony was witnessed by Miss Mabel Jackson, the bride's sister, Miss Valetta Macaw, Mrs. Huett, and Clinton Chalker, the groom's brother. The wedding was a complete surprise to the many friends of the young couple.

The bride, who is a graduate of the union high school, has been for more than three years the efficient book-keeper and office assistant for the Outlook Publishing company, where she has won the confidence of her employes by her careful and conscientious attention to business, and where she has made innumerable friends by her courtesy in business dealings. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence E. Jackson, and came with them from Omaha, Nebraska, a few years ago.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wells Chalker, who have made their home in Gresham for a number of years. He is in the employ of T. R. Howitt in his meat packing plant in Portland, where he has made a reputation for himself for his steady habits and industry.

Mr. and Mrs. Chalker have taken up housekeeping in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wells Chalker on Second street, where they will live during the absence of the latter in California. In the spring they expect to make their home in or near Portland.

Mrs. Chalker will continue her work at the Outlook office for a few weeks, when she will be succeeded by her sister, Miss Mabel Jackson.

BOUGHT FOR FIFTY CENTS BIRD WINS BLUE RIBBONS

Syd. Wood, manager of the Portland Automobile Club house, has received a check for first prize on a White Leghorn cockerel which he recently entered in the poultry show at Ashland. A short time ago a like prize was won by the same bird at the Tacoma show. The next exhibition will be in the Spokane show.

Wood does not claim to be a judge of poultry for show purposes, but he noticed in a bunch of chickens which he bought from the Gresham Produce company for chicken dinners at the clubhouse, an especially fine cockerel. Others commented on it and one man wanted to buy it. Just as an experiment he sent the bird to the shows with the above result. It is possible that he may get a fancy price for the chicken which he paid four bits for.

Eastern Star Officers Elected.

At the last stated communication of the Gresham order of the Eastern Star, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Amy Altman, worthy matron; C. G. Schneider, worthy patron; Anna Lundquist, assistant matron; Clara Pulfer, secretary; Carrie Cameron, treasurer; Josephine Haley, conductress; Gladys Hoyt, assistant conductress.

The appointive officers for the year are as follows: Mary McManus, chaplain; Emma Walrad, marshal; Mabel Clow, organist; Celia Everett, Adah; Mabel Ott, Ruth; Edith Tegert, Esther; Letitia Pulfer, Martha; Lulu Horning, Electa; Clara Johnson, warden; B. F. Dahlhammar, sentinel. The installation of these officers will take place on December 30, at 8 p. m., in the Masonic hall, to which the public is invited. Erma Shultz is the installing matron, Minnie Eastman the installing marshal, Anna Brown the organist and Carrie Powell the chaplain.

PLAN TO PLAT RESIDENCE TRACT

Many present and prospective residents have their eyes open for choice building locations in the attractive surroundings of Gresham. Lately several tracts have been platted and put on the market and some are finding locations that suit them. There is prospect that in the near future Gresham will have its well settled suburbs and the city will spread out in every direction. The city is bound to expand from within and from without.

H. S. Harvey, who has been a resident of Gresham for over 30 years, owns one of the most beautiful farms of 25 acres located on the western border of the city. This he plans to plat early next year into small tracts and put on the market for high-class residence purposes. It is planned to combine with this several smaller tracts, probably aggregating 40 to 50 acres all told.

Mr. Harvey bought originally 40 acres of John Roberts. Ten acres were sold to Dr. Frank Peak and five acres to A. Brunner on which each has built a fine residence.

Mr. Harvey is a man of original ideas. This is shown in the name he proposes to give his new sub-division. Of course, most of the common names were taken, so Mr. Harvey chose one that would at least set people to thinking. It represents a characteristic of the location and a resolve which Mr. Harvey hopes will take hold of the homeseeker. It is this—"I-go-see." And when you stand upon the broad, cleared, slightly acres you will see and be impressed.

The tract lies within the city limits and fronts west on the extension of the Andrews road, also known as the Pullen road, which has recently been officially named Birdsdales avenue. Mr. Harvey, however, objects to this name for that portion of the road between the Section Line and Powell Valley roads, and he hopes to name it "Mt. Igoose way." It is a good road now but will be improved by grading and graveling, probably in the spring.

Many far-sighted citizens have for some time had their eyes on this beautiful tract, which lies high and sightly, giving a beautiful view over the valleys to the north, south, east and west. From this tract a clear view is had of Mt. Hood, Mt. Adams and St. Helens. The drainage is perfect. Within a half mile are paved highways and electric car lines. It is a short 12 miles to Portland.

Mr. Harvey proposes to have the tract landscaped and laid off on a modern, parklike plan and will set aside a central portion for park purposes, which will be set out to trees, and shrubbery. It is safe to predict that this will make an attractive residence addition to Gresham and will invite the building of beautiful homes in keeping with others now located nearby on the hill, such as the residences of W. F. and Geo. Honey, A. Brunner, Dr. Peak, Dr. Bolcom and James Sterling. Mrs. Beidelman and Earl Boice have recently started residences on adjoining tracts.

Inter-Scholastic Basket Ball Thursday.

The first inter-scholastic game of the season in district 9, comprising Corbett, St. Helens, Astoria, Parkrose, Rainier, Clatskanie, Seaside, Knappa and Gresham, will be played Thursday evening on the floor here at Gresham. Coach Shafer makes no prediction about the winning of the championship, but is working hard with the candidates who are striving for positions on the team. At present the most likely candidates are Ernest Nelson, of last year's team, Rinar Mattson, Stafford and Jack Dowsett, Ray Wadsworth, Reggie Stenerson, Glen Full, Vearl Howell, Paul and Guy Risher and James Bechill.

Keeping up the home-ties

Distance no longer severs home-ties nor limits our contacts with those we hold most dear. Town, county and state boundaries mean nothing in this day of highly developed telephone service.

Have you ever stopped to realize the little effort required to assure those dear to you of your safety and comfort? Your separation is measured in minutes—not miles, when you are within reach of a telephone.

Long distance telephone service is prompt and inexpensive—and it is only a part of the convenience, comforts and economy of having a phone in your home.

The aim of the Multnomah & Clackamas County Mutual Telephone Company is to make its service so dependable and its rates so attractive that it can constantly expand to embrace new area and serve a large number of people.

In this way our service will constantly become more valuable to all Gresham telephone users.

CHRISTMASIDE BRINGS CAUSE FOR THANKFULNESS.

Gresham Methodist Episcopal Church.

Having been invited by the editor of the Outlook to send Christmas greetings to Methodists and other people in Gresham in the holiday edition I am very grateful for the opportunity to do so. The people in Gresham and vicinity are especially favored. This is one of the garden spots of the truly great state of Oregon. It is surpassed by none in the fertility of its soil and the beauty of its climate. While all producers have felt the pinch of the fall in prices since the close of the World War, Gresham and vicinity have felt it less than many other localities, even in Oregon, which is far in advance of practically every other state in the Union. None are hungry or dream of being so in our community. The earth has yielded abundantly. There is enough and to spare and could a remunerative market be secured for the surplus, ten times the present output of field and orchard could easily be produced.

We have been free from war's alarms and dangers. Our people are at peace, with designs upon no other people's territory or wealth. We envy no one, we covet no one's possessions. We are at peace and have charity for all less fortunately circumstanced. For all this we are devoutly thankful to God the Father of us all.

Our schools are splendidly equipped and adequately manned with a well qualified force of teachers. Everywhere we look within the confines of our broad and beautiful state we see abundant opportunity for training and culture. Colleges and universities abound and trade schools are everywhere. Young men and women can find the best of training and equipment for life's battle right at their doors. We are proud of our boys and girls, our young men and maidens. They will compare very favorably with the best to be found anywhere. Our Bible schools and churches are adequate to the task expected of them. No one need go without the knowledge necessary to a truly virtuous and holy life. Every element needed by an informed and patriotic citizenship, to a consecrated and aggressive Christianity is at our hands. Let us thank God and take courage. "He hath not death so with any people." "Blessed is that nation whose God is the Lord."

C. W. HUETT, Pastor.

Jury Decides Ownership of Cows.

A hearing was held in justice court Saturday morning before a constable's jury presided over by Deputy M. M. Squire, involving a judgment held by J. L. Cook, of Troutdale, against Arthur Leland, formerly of Troutdale, and who had also lived in Gresham. The case was decided against Cook and gives the possession of two cows, which formed the basis of the litigation, to Mrs. I. S. Leland, of Gresham, mother of the defendant.

Mr. Leland had two cows which he had turned over to his mother to assist in the support of his daughter for whom the elderly lady is caring. Mr. Cook levied on the two cows to satisfy a claim he held against Leland, but Mrs. Leland made a claim for them which was upheld by the court. Cook had already taken possession of the cows, but he was instructed to return them to Mrs. Leland, which he promised to do.
