

GRESHAM SCHOOL HONORS LINCOLN

An interesting Lincoln program was given in the auditorium of the Gresham grade school by the pupils on last Thursday afternoon, each room furnishing a number for the program. Recitations, patriotic songs, flag salute and the American's creed were given by the children, also a biography of Lincoln.

Plans are under way for a Washington's birthday program to be given by the school at 9 o'clock on February 23, after which school will be dismissed for the day. Parents and patrons of the school are invited to attend.

The eighth grade enjoyed a costume party in the school auditorium last Friday evening, when a merry evening was spent.

Seven new pupils entered the school last week, five in the family of R. C. Frace, who came here recently from Sandy, and two in the family of F. A. Lundquist from Montavilla. This gives an enrollment this year to date of 386, with prospects that it will reach 400 by the end of the year. The enrollment of the grade school five years ago was 197.

A well attended and interesting meeting of the Parent-Teacher circle was held at the school auditorium Monday afternoon, when addresses were given by County Club Agent W. D. Kinder on the advantages of club work, and by Mrs. Dunn, principal of the Russellville school, on the subject of hot lunches. Mrs. E. W. Aylsworth sang a solo and numbers were given by the pupils in commemoration of Lincoln and Washington.

The regular shows given under the auspices of the P.-T. A. are held on the first and third Friday evenings of each month. The program next Friday evening will include "His Last Race," a seven-reel feature, and two comedy reels.

BAD SMASHUP CAUSED BY ILLEGAL PARKING

While coming out from Portland Sunday evening Maurice Botkin accidentally crashed into a machine which had been left parked on the pavement without tail light in front of Reed's road house near Rockwood, sustaining considerable damage to the new Chevrolet he was driving on the occasion.

Botkin was coming at a reasonable speed when he bumped into the rear of the parked machine. Fortunately he was not injured, but his car was damaged to the extent of $100 or more. The rod and fenders were pretty well demolished, but the engine was not thought to be hurt. The gas tank of the parked machine was somewhat damaged by the force of the collision. It is said to be the property of a man named Jones, in Portland.

Mr. Botkin went to the city Tuesday in an effort to get reparation from the party who deliberately violated two traffic ordinances leading to the smashup. However he was unable to secure adjustment in regard to the affair, and he states he will probably be forced to employ an attorney and take the matter to the courts before things will be arranged satisfactorily.

Dahlia Grower Issues Catalogue.
A dainty little catalogue listing scores of the aristocrats of the dahlia family has been issued from the Outlook press by Mrs. Vera Tucker, owner of beautiful Tuckerhill Dahlia Farm. The catalogue is illustrated with a view of Mrs. Tucker's blue ribbon dahlias at the 1924 Oregon state fair. Lovers of these beautiful flowers will do well to secure this catalogue.

GRESHAM LOCALS

The Outlook is in receipt of a letter from Mrs. Violet Thornton of Detroit, Michigan, daughter of Mrs. P. A. Gould of Gresham, in which she praises her new home and the surrounding country. She tells of hearing Portland and Los Angeles over the radio recently and says she does not now seem so far away from home.

W. F. Mason and family have moved to Westport, Oregon, to reside where Mr. Mason is employed in the logging industry. Ivan Mason is also employed there and Mrs. Clara Owre, a daughter, makes that place her home.

Mrs. Mary Shoemaker had the misfortune to slip and fall on the kitchen floor at her home Thursday evening about 7 o'clock, with the result that the femur, the large bone just below the hip, was fractured. She was removed to Good Samaritan hospital Friday afternoon in the ambulance and an X-ray picture taken of the injury. The limb was placed in a cast and she is reported to be doing as well as can be expected.

The Rev. and Mrs. B. Y. Yates, of Portland, who formerly were in charge of the Free Methodist pastorate in Gresham, visited friends here Sunday and renewed old acquaintances. The former occupied the pulpit of the church in the evening. Shortly after leaving Gresham, the pastor and his wife adopted a baby who is now a winsome boy of two years old.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Miller, of Portland, visited with F. A. Miller and wife near the Twelve-Mile corner, on Sunday.

Traffic officers were engaged Saturday in painting "Go Slow" signs at the two approaches of the high and grade schools. It is reported that the wholesale manner of speeding past school buildings has been called to the attention of the officials with the result that proper notices have been posted and that flagrant violation of the ordinance will end in arrest.

The freshmen of the high school treated the sophomores to a valentine party Saturday evening at the gymnasium, which was tastefully decorated in red and white crepe paper. Principal Cannon, Miss Augusta Hahn, the freshman class adviser and Miss Helen Ancorn were present as guests of the students. A valentine special ice cream, heart-shaped cookies and punch were served and games appropriate for the occasion were played throughout the evening.

Mrs. J. P. McMurry and daughter, Mrs. E. P. Eubanks and her daughter, Mildred of Wamic, Oregon, are here for an indefinite stay visiting at the homes of Harry, Clyde and Almon McMurry, who are the sons of the former.

DEAL FOR CANNERY PROPERTY IS THOUGHT TO BE SHAKY

A notice will be found elsewhere in the Outlook signed by Theo. Brugger, president, and James Elkington, secretary, of the Gresham Fruit Growers association, advising stockholders of the association to consult these officers before signing any agreement to dispose of their stock or signing over its voting power to any other person or corporation.

The occasion for this notice, according to Mr. Elkington, is the fact that an effort is being made to induce stockholders to sell their stock below par for cash or to sign over their voting power on the stock along with an agreement to sell it at par on or before May, 1928, when the present lease on the cannery property will expire.

It is proposed to assign and deliver this stock to D. E. Towle, who is manager-treasurer of the Berry Growers Packing company. Some of the stockholders have already signed up this agreement. Others took the matter under advisement.

The reasons stated by the officers of the Fruit Growers association for resenting the action of the manager of the Berry Growers association are several.

In the first place they point to the fact that the directors of the older association, which has been in existence since the cannery was built here, have made an offer to sell the cannery and property to the berry growers company for $8350, subject to the approval of the stockholders. This it seems is a standing offer and there is reason to believe it would readily be approved if the berry growers signified a desire to accept it. This price, with cash on hand added, would pay off the stock at about par, there being about $9500 worth of stock outstanding.

In the second place, and this has probably caused more resentment than any thing else, is the fact that Mr. Towle, who asks that the stock be assigned to him and he given the voting power of the stock, is an interested party in the purchase of the property for the berry growers organization. He agrees to put the stock in escrow pending such time as his organization decides to purchase it.

A third reason for dissatisfaction on the part of the fruit grower association members is the fact that Mr. Towle is going to individual stockholders and seeking to deal with them instead of presenting the proposition to them as a body or to their officers.

It is also pointed out that Mr. Towle's written agreement is noticeably one sided and indefinite as to what the Berry Growers Packing company proposes to do in case their manager and agent secures control of the majority of the association's stock.

The offer of sale of the cannery property, drawn under date of January 31, 1925, and made to the Berry Growers Packing company, subject to approval by the stockholders, is as follows:

Gresham, Ore., Jan. 31, 1925.

"We the undersigned stockholders and directors of Gresham Fruit Growers Association, would accept and recommend the acceptance of a price of eighty-three hundred and fifty dollars ($8350.00) for the cannery property, consisting of Lots 7 to 14, Blk. 1, Mildred addition to Gresham, Oregon, both inclusive, together with the buildings thereon and sidetrack and boiler and connections belonging to the above named corporation, at the following terms: $1000 in cash to be paid on the execution of a contract for deed and the balance in three equal annual payments of $2450, each payable on January 31, 1926, and annually each year thereafter, till fully paid with interest at the rate of six per cent per annum from date of contract till the principal is fully paid."

The Gresham Fruit Growers association was organized in 1914 and built the cannery the same year. Following the fire in 1916 the cannery was rebuilt. It was first leased to W. W. Cotton. Following his death Mrs. Cotton assigned the lease to the A. Rupert company. The company failed and the receiver assigned the lease to the Berry Growers Packing company. The present lease will expire in May, 1928. The amount of annual rental is $500. The lessee agrees to pay the taxes and keep up the property.

The officers of the association state they are not wishing to handicap the present lessee in any respect, or hold up any equitable deal that has the sanction of the stockholders. They say they are only asking a square deal and protecting their interests as they see them. They think the stockholders should be dealt with as an organization and that no stockholder should sign over his stock or voting prerogative without an agreement as to price and conditions on the part of the association. The officers say they are willing to abide by any decision on the part of the association, be it more or less than the present offered price of sale.

INTERESTING SHOW WILL BE GIVEN IN U. H. S. GYM TOMORROW NIGHT

The Pacific Coast Biscuit company will be represented at the high school Wednesday evening at which time it is staging an interesting and entertaining display of its plant and products. Three reels of film will show the process of making biscuits, candy, fancy cakes, etc., and covers the industry from the harvesting of the wheat in eastern Washington, which includes wheat fields, harvesting and milling the wheat, to the various finished products. The biscuit company has nine plants on the Pacific coast. Marion Johnson, a representative of the Portland company, will have charge of the evening's entertainment, which will be free of charge to the public.

Scene at Kentucky's Great Cave Drama

Civilians and militia at work at the mouth of Sand Cave, Ky., in the effort to rescue or recover the body of Floyd Collins, trapped first in a narrow cavern by a sliding boulder for a full week, then sealed in by a cave-in as rescue seemed certain. Insert is a recent picture of Floyd Collins, made during one of this previous explorations. More than 5000 people visited the scene the second Sunday of his imprisonment, finally going into a great hillside meeting, singing and praying for his rescue.

The cavern where he has been imprisoned for 17 days was penetrated yesterday and the dead body of Collins was found. It was estimated death had occurred 24 hours before.

FAMOUS FILM STORY TO BE SHOWN HERE

PATSY RUTH MILLER

who plays the part of Esmeralda in the Hunchback of Notre Dame.

Arrangements have been made by J. C. Allman, manager of the Gresham theater, for the showing of the famous film, "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," which will be offered on the evenings of February 20, 21 and 22. It is expected that the performances will draw record houses.

It is of special interest to the feminine sex—the fact that the winter styles will be based on those prevailing in the Fifteenth century, models of which are now being prepared by the leading modiste of Paris.

In other words, 1500 A. D. replaces 3500 B. C. King Tut gives way to a French king and the radical change was brought about in a most irregular manner. Paris is the creator of all fashions and late last spring Madame Antoinette, the leading creator of styles in the French capitol, made her first trip to America in search of rest and inspiration.

While here, Madame, expressed a desire to see the Pacific and one of the points of interest she particularly wished to visit was Universal City, where "The Hunchback of Notre Dame" was being filmed.

During the making of Victor Hugo's masterpiece Patsy Ruth Miller, who plays Esmeralda in the production, wears 40 different gowns, all of which are actually of the olden French models and at once Madame Antoinette saw the possibilities which these quaint designs offered. At her request, the entire wardrobe of Miss Miller, who was already called "Patsy" by her fellow players, was opened to the noted French modiste.

Every moment not required for her work in "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," Miss Miller gave to Madame Antoinette, who was particularly enthusiastic over the gowns "Patsmeralda" wears in the huge production.

"There, in the highest degree, is the poetic, romantic draping of woman," was Miss Miller's rapturous declaration when she appeared before Madame Antoinette in the gown worn in the grand ball room scene in "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," and the other shared in the film star's enthusiasm.

When later interviewed, Madame Antoinette voiced her delight at what she had seen at Universal City, even going so far as to state that the delicacy of treatment and grace of lines of these costumes of the period of Louis XI would be the basis of next season's styles.

"And to think that my clothes brought this about," Patsy Ruth Miller laughed gleefully when she announced the fact to her fellow players. "It seems too good to be true and shows what a wonderful influence 'The Hunchback of Notre Dame' has already wrought on the entire world. And that even before the production has been completed. What further influences will be developed when it is shown to the public no one can determine until then."

TROUTDALE VEGETABLE GROWERS ORGANIZE

The Troutdale Celery and Cauliflower Cooperative association has been formed. The organization committee of the association, consisting of W. C. Spence, John Burns, R. Wilson, F. Peterson and J. P. Samoni, met in Portland last Friday and adopted a form of contract and by-laws for a vegetable marketing organization.

The marketing departments of O. A. C. and the Portland Chamber of Commerce assisted the growers in forming their association.

TWO ENGAGEMENTS ARE ANNOUNCED

Mrs. Harold Busick entertained charmingly at her home on Wallula Heights Saturday evening in honor of two brides elect, Miss Marion Hagberg and Miss Willa Bushong. The news of the double engagements, that Miss Hagberg to Fred Hoss and of Miss Bushong to Robert Hayes, of Seattle, was told by means of favors composed of bags filled with candy beans. A double folder in the shape of a cat on which were written the names of the engaged couples fell out of the bag and helped to "spill the beans." Tulips and hearts were used effectively in the decoration of the rooms, while a handsome bouquet of tulips formed the centerpiece of the table.

Fred Hoss is one of the partners of the Gresham Garage & Machine shop and Miss Hagberg has been an efficient bookkeeper for the A. W. Metzger Mercantile company for the last four years. Mr. Hayes is a salesman with the Washington Produce & Commission company at Seattle and Miss Bushong has for a year past been employed as saleslady at B. L. Walrad's. The Hoss-Hagberg wedding is to be an affair of April and that of Mr. Hayes and Miss Bushong is to take place in June.

Those who were present were Messdames J. A. Bushong, K. J. Hagberg, A. McManus, B. L. Walrad, C. G. Schneider, Mary Gossett and Harold Busick, and the Misses Willa Bushong, Marion and Martha Hagberg, Mayme and Helen Hoss, Letitia Puffer, Florence Rosin and Florence Beers. A delicious luncheon was served at a late hour.

Slides Hinder Traffic at Bull Run.

More or less serious slides of earth are being experienced in the Bull Run region since the unusually excessive rains of the past few weeks. The Mount Hood train is unable to reach the station due to a slide about a quarter of a mile west of the power plant of the Portland Electric company.

The slide has removed the dirt under the tracks for some distance so that travel over the rails would be hazardous. It has been decided to sluice the dirt still farther from under the tracks and put in a trestle rather than to try to fill in where the ground has been washed away.

It is expected to take about two weeks to complete the sluicing and building of the wooden trestle.

FATHER OF GRESHAM TEACHER PASSES AWAY

W. C. Looker of Michigan City, Indiana, who spent the months of November and December last year in Gresham, visiting with his daughter, Mrs. A. J. Krueger, a teacher of the Gresham grade school, passed away at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Wm. L. White, in Portland Friday night, at the age of 73 years. He is survived by his wife, Memphis L. Looker, the two daughters in the west and two daughters in Indiana, Mrs. J. R. Couden and Mrs. A. W. Coan. The funeral was held in Portland Monday afternoon at the Lerch mortuary. Plans were made for the cremation of the body and the shipment of the ashes to the deceased's late home in Indiana.
