KELSO

The ninetieth birthday anniversary of T. G. Jonsrud was celebrated on Friday evening, March 20, at the home of Albert Jonsrud, about 25 children, grand children and great grand children being present. Mr. Jonsrud is the oldest citizen of Kelso in which community he has resided for about 49 years. For 30 years he served as justice of the peace until he was about 75 years old. For a man of his years, his health is fairly good, he walks erect and his mind and memory are still keen. In an interesting talk to those assembled he told, mostly in a humorous vein, of the hardships the early settlers had to endure. To get flour they walked a distance of seven miles and carried it back. He humorously remarked that the soil was excellent when they were able to get to it, so completely was the land covered with big logs and stumps. Since his beloved wife died last fall, he prefers to live alone in a cottage next door to his grandson. He follows world events with interest, never failing to read his daily paper.

The Woman's club will meet on Thursday afternoon March 26 at the home of Mrs. Dolan.

ROCKWOOD

F. H. Dye, who purchased the schoolhouse in the former Terry district, is remodeling it entirely. There will be six living rooms on the west and the east side of the building will be made into a store. The building will probably be ready for occupancy about the first of June, and Mr. Dye expects to put in a stock of groceries with the idea of later installing a gas filling station and converting the grounds into an auto camping park.

TROUTDALE

Business at the C. C. Bush garage has grown until the services of three mechanics are required to take care of the work. Carl Ziebeck, a general mechanic from Crookston, Minnesota, is the latest addition to the garage force of workers. R. C. Campbell is an experienced battery and generator man and Richard Walbert, recently from Garibaldi, Oregon, is a mechanic and service man.

Miss M. F. Diecher, who has spent the winter here with her sisters, Mrs. Emilie C. Shaw and Mrs. Laura Helmboldt, left Saturday for Los Angeles where she will visit for two months then go to Ohio where she will spend some time before returning to her home in Florida.

D. W. Mickley has purchased two lots on Dora street, of Mrs. Alice Rix. Troutdale is to have a 20th Century store in the near future. The Frank Murphy building across the street from the C. C. Bush garage has been leased for that purpose. It is said there is also a new meat market coming in soon.

....a responsibility

In every community the services of an undertaker are called for . . . sooner or later. An emergency exists which must be met in a definite way. Who shall be called on to assist?

Our personal experience and years of training have fitted us to meet this responsibility. Our integrity is established. The confidence and esteem of a large number of people is a tribute of which we are justly proud. Our privilege is your satisfaction.

ROY B. COX

A Distinctive Funeral Service

Now available to Gresham, its vicinity and all towns of the neighborhood and bound to prove helpful sooner or later as time goes on are the facilities and equipment of our firm.

Occasionally in the past and some times quite frequently we have been asked to serve in this part of the County. We responded to the call and need to the very best of our ability. The appreciation of those we served meant much to us as we strived only to serve as we ourselves would be served.

Recently, however, we are better equipped and prepared to assist in this territory. The addition of fast automotive equipment to our facilities really brings our service as close as the telephone on your wall. Night or day we are prepared to serve and will be found ready wherever called.

We realize too that the will to assist is one thing; really assisting is another. Real service must be given, else why talked about. Ours is a service of helpfulness. It will satisfy because we would have it that way.
