Obituary of Mrs. Josephine Keithley.

"So live, that when thy summons comes to join The innumerable caravan which moves to that mysterious realm, where each shall take His chamber in the silent halls of death, Thou go not like the quarry slave at night, Scourged to his dungeon, but sustained and soothed By an unfaltering trust, approach thy grave Like one who wraps the drapery of his couch About him, and lies down to pleasant dreams."

Like one who wraps the drapery of his couch About him, and lies down to pleasant dreams."

Mrs. Josephine Keithley was born in Bowling Green, Missouri. Here she grew into womanhood. Early in life she became a member of the Cyrene Baptist church, devoting much of her time to its work.

Later she was united in marriage to John Keithley. Each devoted to the other, they lived happily till 1915, when death claimed the husband. No longer able to endure the gloom and loneliness which Mr. Keithley's passing had cast upon the home, the later years of her life were spent in travel.

After an illness of several weeks, she died at the home of her sister, Mrs. L. C. Metzger of Gresham. Private services were held Monday by the relatives at the Metzger chapel, after which the remains were sent to Bowling Green, Missouri, there to be buried beside her husband in the beautiful cemetery of Antioch.

This amount has been saved during the past 13 months to the buyers of Nash clothes in Multnomah county through the sales of the representative, P. F. Black, Gresham 1801. Phone for an appointment.—Adv.

A SON'S TRIBUTE TO HIS MOTHER

some day," she would say, "one of my boys may be this way." Likened to these very deeds were the words of the lowly Master, who said, "Inasmuch as ye did it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye did it unto me."

She visited the sick, the fatherless and the motherless. She fed the hungry and clothed the naked and helped the poor. Her back was bent by toil and care, volunteered for others. She mothered the motherless, and mother indeed is her name.

If God be in the sky and sea and live in light and ride the storm; Then God is God, although he be enshrined within a woman's form, and claim glad reverence from me.

So as I worship Him in Christ, and in the Forms of Earth and Air, I worship Him imparadised enthroned, within her bosom fair, whom vanity hath not enticed—My Mother.

This tribute of a love profound as ever moved the heart of man to him to whom my life was bound, to her in whom my life began, to them whose love my life hath crowned—my father and my mother.

I see them through my eye of faith, arm in arm, strolling down the lanes of Eternal Pastures, smiling down on us today that smile I've seen them smile so many times when all is well. "Pa is calling me," she said, and then she slipped away, I do not doubt that this was true.
