

REGINALD STONE DIES AWAY FROM HOME

Reginald Norman Stone, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew J. Stone, of Rockwood, died while on a vacation at Brighton, Oregon, aged 12 years, 9 months and 25 days. His illness was very short, lasting only a day and a half, when the conditions resulting from pneumonia overcame his heart and he quietly passed away. He was born at Woodland, Washington, and came with his parents to Rockwood when he was about a year old, and they have since made their home in that locality with the exception of a short time spent at The Dalles, Oregon. He is survived by his parents and two brothers, Earl Russell and Archie Leonard. Reginald was a pupil in the Rockwood grade school where he had many friends. The funeral service was conducted in the Rockwood Methodist church by the Rev. J. Stanford Moore and interment was made in Douglas cemetery. Reginald was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church at Rockwood. The old auditorium was not sufficiently large to seat the many friends in attendance and it was necessary to use the new portion now under construction. The neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Stone wish to express their sympathy with them in this sad bereavement.

TALL, SMALL AND FAT, FEATURES AT FAIR

Among the 16 feature attractions of the Levitt-Brown-Huggins shows to be seen at the 19th Multnomah County Fair which opens Tuesday, for six days, is one entitled "Tall, Small and Fat." It's title, peculiarly appropriate, fairly describes the attraction. Hi Johnson, thusly named not because he is high, but because his mother christened him Hiram when he was small and contact with the world in conjunction with his height, which is 8 feet, has contracted it into the appropriately descriptive Hi. Johnson is 18 years of age and still growing, they say. Strangely contrasting with this giant of stature is Major Arthur, a wee man, perfectly formed and all proportions correct, who, while he is 24 years of age, is but 37 inches in height. The Major is well educated and an accomplished musician. He claims the distinction of being the World's Smallest Elk and Eagle belonging to both the B. P. O. E. and the F. O. E. Jolly Trixie completes the other dimension of this strange show. She is 18 years of age and tips the scales at 412 pounds.

BERRY GROWERS ARE URGED TO BUY OF THEIR ASSOCIATION

D. E. Towle, manager of the Berry Growers Packing company, addresses the following letter to the members and friends of the association: "Owing to the short tonnage of berries, this is going to be a poor year to make an economical showing against our overhead and the object of this letter is to draw your attention to the wisdom of getting your fuel supplies and fertilizer through the association. "We have our first car of Superior Rock Springs coal coming and will appreciate your orders at once, as we can make the greatest saving by delivering direct from the car to you. We have ordered the lump size which is more free from dust and better all around than the egg size. This coal is as the name implies superior in many ways. It is semi-hard, it starts quickly, it is mined from a dry mine and is bone dry, insuring a maximum of heat units to the ton. We recommend wetting it thoroughly before using which makes it burn more slowly and by applying the water after the coal has been weighed, you effect a nice saving. We are very anxious to have you try some of this coal as we are sure you will like it and save some money on your fuel bills. "We have secured a limited supply of real heavy old growth yellow fir cordwood that is bone dry, also a supply of ordinary good No. 1 fir, also a limited supply of fuel ties and slabwood at reasonable prices and will appreciate your orders. Please phone 1871, or call Wm. Gilbert at Gilbert station, or E. E. Arnsperger on Buckley avenue north, or Mrs. John Lynch, or Mrs. Alta Gentry, and they will be pleased to book your orders and arrange for prompt delivery of any of the above mentioned fuels. "Thanking you, we are, 418 berry growers who have harvested a short crop."
