of an assistant was busy beautifying the booth of the Portland public library and especially that part of it that pertains to the traveling book wagon which is directly under her supervision. An educational exhibit is also staged upstairs under the immediate direction of Mrs. C. C. Hamlin, one of the teachers in the Rockwood school. This is purely a Rockwood exhibit and one that does credit to the energetic teacher at its head.

Considerable attention is centered in the rest room near the head of the stairs in the main pavilion which has been fitted up by the Multnomah County Public Health association. Miss Mary P. Billmeyer, county health nurse and Mrs. P. R. Whiteside, executive secretary have prepared an interesting exhibit on milk, its products and values, and women from the various county groups will assist from time to time. Cots and chairs have been provided to add to the comfort of the ladies who will wish to make this room their headquarters and incidentally learn considerable that will be of advantage to them, especially the mothers of children. The value of milk as a food will be elaborated upon and much that is instructive as well as statistical will be gleaned upon a visit to this booth.

The big military demonstration by the Oregon National Guard will be the big event of tonight immediately following the rodeo which will consist of running races, Indian races, relays, etc. Wednesday will be Oregon manufacturer's day with band concerts filling most of the forenoon and at 2 p. m. a parade of livestock, Indians, cowboys and cowgirls. Immediately following this will be one of the biggest events of the fair, crowning the Fair queen, Miss Virginia Ringler by Governor Pierce, assisted by Mayor Baker of Portland. Thursday will be Portland day and on Friday the ex-service men will be present, also this will be grange day, pioneer's day and women's day, together with the usual events of each day including rodeo and wild west events, fireworks, band concerts, horse races and the attractions of the concessionaires.

Gresham Pioneer Dies in Alaska.

Word has been received by relatives here of the death on July 26 in Juneau, Alaska, of Henry Shattuck, aged about 50, following a stroke of paralysis. Mr. Shattuck's home was in Seattle but he had gone to Alaska to look after business interests. He belonged to a pioneer family here and was born on the old Shattuck farm, now owned by J. G. Chiodo. He is survived by his widow, a son and daughter of Seattle, his mother, Mrs. Mary Shattuck, and the following brothers and sisters: Lewis of Vancouver, Washington; Allen of Juneau, Alaska; Dudley of Portland; Bates of Maupin, Oregon; Mrs. Ed. Sleret of Vancouver, Washington and Mrs. Mary Masters of Portland. Mrs. Mary Shattuck was at her summer home at Welch when the news came of the death of her son. Funeral services and burial will be at Seattle.

FUNERAL SERVICES HELD FOR MRS. HENRY MORGAN

A goodly number of friends and relatives attended the funeral of Mrs. Henry Morgan which was held in Portland Saturday afternoon at the parlors of Miller & Tracey. The chapel was well filled with sympathizing friends, while members of both the

Is a Lion afraid of a cock?

Medieval wisecracs used to wag their heads and tell tales like this in the village marketplace.

An amusing superstition, of course, but is it any more absurd than the belief that there is something mysteriously "better" about eastern motor oils just because they cost more and come from eastern crudes? Professional drivers and economy-run experts out after records don't share this superstition—why should you pay tribute?

Zerolene—the choice of Western Motorists

Zerolene lubricates more cars in the Pacific Coast states than any other oil made—a better oil if it does cost less. Zerolene increases the gasoline mileage, reduces the carbon removal and maintenance costs and lengthens the life of any car in which it is used.

Zerolene checked fifteen times for quality

As a matter of fact the best crude so far discovered for the manufacture of motor lubricants is obtained on the Pacific Coast. And the most highly developed refining process is the high-vacuum process, the patents on which are held by this Company. And 15 positive checks on Zerolene at the refinery make quality control absolute.

Why pay tribute to superstition when you want the best oil you can get? Insist on Zerolene—ask for it by name.

Get the Facts!

A series of independent and impartial reports showing the experience of large users with Zerolene has been collected in our booklet, "Why Pay Tribute to a Superstition?" Ask any Standard Oil Company representative or Zerolene dealer for a copy.

Shelley and Morgan families were seated in the room adjoining the main audience room. The services were in charge of Fred Gill, who had known the deceased since she was a little girl of six years. He read several portions of scripture and spoke most feelingly of the beautiful life of the departed one. The floral pieces were marvels of beauty, one in particular, that of the Auto Freight Terminal, being worthy of special mention. The county coroner was asked to assist in determining the cause of the death of Mrs. Morgan and his verdict was that a hemorrhage on the brain was the real cause of the act of irresponsibility. She would have been 35 years of age the coming September and besides her husband and three children, she is survived by a father, William Shelley of Canada, four brothers, William of Gresham, Fred of Hillsboro, Walter and George of Corbett and five sisters, Mrs. Maggie Chamberlain of Corbett, Mrs. Rose Rhymer of Sasatchewan, Mrs. Susan Mershon of Springdale, and Mrs. Anna Hunt and Mrs. Emma Smith of Portland. The pallbearers were Charles Fudicker, Dan Burgess, William Sester, Edwin Gill, George Canzler and Edward Klinski. The remains were laid to rest in Rose City cemetery.

A few words will tell the whole story in the Want Column.

FAIRVIEW

The Rev. George R. Cromley of Salem will preach at the Smith Memorial church Sunday in the absence of the regular pastor, the Rev. E. R. D. Hollensted, who with his wife is spending a two-weeks' vacation at Rhododendron at the Don Minor cottage on the Zig Zag river. Mr. Cromley was formerly pastor of this church and his many friends will be glad to meet him and hear him again. Sunday school will be at the usual hour of 10 o'clock. The Rev. Mr. Hollensted will be back to supply his pulpit on Sunday, August 9.

War Veteran Dies in Hospital.

Van Woodard, a world war veteran, who died at the United States Veteran hospital in Portland on Thursday, July 23, was buried from the Zion church at Estacada on Saturday, July 25, at 2:30 p. m. Interment was in the Zion church cemetery, the American Legion having charge of the ceremony under the direction of Joseph E. Gates. Mr. Woodard lived in the vicinity of Estacada for many years. He is survived by a mother, Mrs. Dora Hearst, and many other relatives.
