Entered as second-class matter March 3, 1911, at the Postoffice at Gresham, Oregon, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

It is said that many persons, visitors perhaps mainly, are mailing picture post cards of ancient issue without attaching the requisite postage which under the new law is 2 cents. It's easy to forget and do as has been the custom, stick on a one-cent stamp and drop into the mail. The Portland postoffice is said to have hundreds of them held for postage.

A motorcycle rider, Seth Davidson of Portland, succeeded recently in reaching a point on the snowfields away above camp Blossom on the south slope of Mt. Hood. He says he reached an elevation of over 9,000 feet, much higher and farther than was attained by a motorcycle ten years ago.

Now that the light is being turned on the headlight law, or anti-dimming measure, it looks as if a smart trick was played the state legislature by those who had something to sell and for the express purpose of making those who own autos or motor vehicles "cough up" money. Well, this is along the line of present day methods—everything has to be inspected, and there are to be inspectors and inspecting stations where cars are to be quizzed, at 75c per car, and which will run from $10 to $30 per car. The governor said if the people elected him he would reduce taxation, and this is how the people get it in the neck.—Tillamook Headlight.

NEWSPAPERS AND CRIMES.

Much of the harm that comes from printing crime stories or, at least much of the criticism leveled against it, would be reduced if the papers would give equal attention to reporting convictions for crime, says a writer in the Publishers' Auxiliary.

The point is well taken, but not many country papers can be justly accused of overdoing crime stories. In fact, there is too often a tendency to suppress, at least minimize, the report of an alleged crime in a local town paper and those who want to read "all about it" often criticize the country paper for being weak-kneed, and afraid of losing subscriptions or business.

But it must be remembered that the newspapers of our smaller towns and cities exist primarily to build up and magnify the better phases of community life and treat the opposite merely incidentally. Back of the big city dailies is a big selling organization that encourages the display of sensational matter that will sell thousands more papers.

In all towns is a small class of people who think the country paper is too tame. They are accustomed to feed on the highly seasoned dish served up by the city press. They charge the editor with being afraid to say that so and so was found drunk, or was arrested for bootlegging, or is doing this or that contrary to law, or that some young person has gone astray. Undoubtedly the great majority of readers, the home folks, want their local paper to be fair, truthful, impartial, clean, informative and educational, and a reflector of the better elements of society.

GHOSTLY REMINDERS.

Governor Vic Donahey of Ohio has directed the highway commission of his state to arrange for the erection of conspicuous white crosses at the scene of every fatal accident. It is said 14 such crosses will mark a particularly dangerous crossing in Butler county.

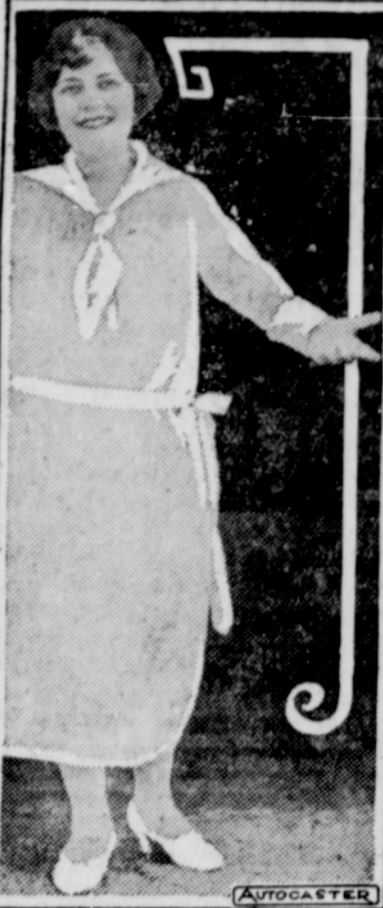

If drivers would hold the Cross of Christ before their eyes and write the Golden Rule across their windshields there would be lots fewer accidents from automobile driving on our crowded highways.

But it takes a stern reminder to impress some people.

"The Gospel"

Beessie M. Randell, 22, of Ft. Worth, Tex., grew tired of "the pace" and was converted. At Santa Anna, Calif., she organized and built a church—and took to the pulpit. So great was her success that now she is on world tour as an evangelist.

RAINS BRING RELIEF.

The copious rains of the past week, covering practically all sections of the coast states, have extinguished the forest fires and eliminated most of the danger for the present season. This is gratifying and is a great relief to everyone.

The dry season started earlier than usual this year with the result that much damage has been caused by fires.

Washington has had more than 500 fires, according to The Forest Patrolman, of the Western Forestry and Conservation association. This was before August began. Seventy-five of these were ascribed to lightning and 21 to incendiarism. Cigars and cigarettes are said to have caused 80. None reached disastrous size before being extinguished but much damage was done to property.

There were many fires in various locations in Oregon causing considerable expense for fighting but, aside from heavy loss of reproduction on cutover lands, the damage was not heavy.

There are reports of many arrests of careless campers and tourists who apparently did not realize the strictness of the new laws relating to the subjects, and the time is not yet when anyone can afford to be careless.

Our Visible Foes.

(By John Joseph Gaines, M. D.)

A happy state of mind is that in which we believe that we haven't an enemy in the world. There may be good reason for not distributing such serenity. But there are, in fact, millions of deadly foes about us, invisible, unrecognized, until it is forever too late in many instances to check their depredations.

The invisible foe is ever a menace to life. We may combat the known enemy—or, if he is too big for us, we may beat a safe retreat; but the thug in the dark alley, reasons that dead men tell no tales. It is the concealed weapon that does the harm. The deadly submarine is an invisible foe, terrible in action, and yet the microscopic germ kills more!

It is my purpose in this series of articles, to discuss "our invisible foes" from the standpoint of one who has been for 33 years an active clinician, and who is still so, engaged in the honorable effort to keep men and women fit, believing that life may be prolonged, and the world be made better thereby.

It would be an eminently wise measure if our public school boards would add the subject of bacteriology to the course of study, providing at least a working knowledge of the subject, which would enable the student to defend himself against many of the active foes of comfort and health which continually beset him.

INSURANCE FOR FARMERS.

The Farmers Mutual Fire Relief Assn., of Portland, is upon its 21st year, and is the largest Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance Assn. west of the Rocky mountains. The yearly reported filed with the Insurance Commissioner shows a total membership of more than 13,000, with $20,500,000 in force, an increase of $2,500,000 over that of 1923. The fire losses for 1924 aggregated $55,000, all of which have been adjusted and promptly paid. No lower rate on farm insurance can be obtained from any other company in Oregon. If you believe in co-operative movement among the farmers and need insurance, call on President H. W. Snashall, at the Fair Grounds, Gresham. Phone 2101.—Adv.
