HONOR TO THE LIVING AND THE DEAD.

Armistice day is somewhat unlike Memorial or Decoration day in that it honors a devotion and service on the part of our soldiery whether living or dead. We honor those who died, we honor those who live.

The day itself celebrates the signing of peace and as all the world was involved in the war, all the world may well join in observing this day as a reminder of the end of militarism and the beginning of an area of international understanding and world peace.

As an evidence that something has happened note how quickly the strained situation between Bulgaria and Greece was relieved by the League of Nations and both agreed to submit to peaceful adjustments of their differences.

Another bright ray of hope shines over Europe, eminating from Locarno, where the Security pact was recently signed. Five great nations, including Germany, agree to outlaw war between them. It is said to be the greatest step towards establishing peace since the nations signed the Armistice seven years ago.

Any conditions of peace in Europe must certainly depend on friendly relations between France and Germany. with the new agreement embodying such relations and entry of Germany into the League of Nations, the highway to permanent peace seems to have been opened for the advance of all nations.

With the consumation of this ideal how truly we can feel that "these dead" have "not died in vain," and how thankful we as a nation should be that so many of those who tasted the "bitter cup of war" have been spared to bring into life's activities new ideals of peace.

Let us rejoice at the "dawn of peace" as we did seven years ago. Let us remember the sacrifice paid. Let us honor the living heroes.

THE FINAL REVIEW

Not long ago the M. A. Ross Post G. A. R. of Gresham was mustered out on account of the depletion of the ranks to one or two effective members. Now it is announced that the General Gibson Post of Independence has been mustered out for the same reason.

There are few of the veterans of the Civil War still surviving who are younger than 78 or 80 years and most of them are past 80.

The Grand Army of the Republic was formed in Illinois in 1866, the year following the close of the war. It meant to the Union veterans what the American Legion means to the World War veterans of the United States. It has bound and held them together by many ties of common memory and interest and the association has been the source of many advantages to the veterans.

It is a melancholy thought that the defenders of the Union will soon have passed from our sight; that the few who are left in any community are mostly feeble in body and have ceased their activities. May the memory of their loyalty and bravery ever remain fresh and clear.

Congratulations, "Mutt and Jeff," and all joy to the new Mrs. Bud Fisher.

Don't envy the fellow with a "pull." A little more push will put you ahead of him.

If mistakes are as valuable to us as some folks insist, then we are better off than we think we are.

Old King Tut again gets a place on the front page. A few more of his many coffins have been opened.

"Thrift" tells us it is not the amount of money one saves that counts so much as the amount of character necessary to produce the saving.

It's a pity we cannot learn to act on our first impulse when the desire to say or do something good strikes us. It would help both the doer and receiver more than the same word or act after delay and uncertainty have intervened.

ANOTHER GREAT EXPOSITION.

Our own Pacific International Live Stock Exposition, just closed, will have a replica in the International Live Stock Exposition to be held in Chicago, November 28 to December 5. It may be larger in some respects, being centrally located and having a wide radius of country to draw from.

The publicity items indicate that the exposition will have unexcelled exhibits of live stock from the herds, stables and pens of the world's best breeders. Even the Prince of Wales will enter an exhibit from his western Canadian ranch.

Boys' and girls' club work throughout the country will be featured in connection with the fourth national boys' and girls' club congress, held as a part of the exposition.

Fifty-one leading authorities, including two from Great Britain, have been invited to serve as judges in the livestock classes alone. Thirty-five international and national agricultural organizations have already announced meetings to be held during the exposition. Twenty-five states, from Oregon to Virginia, have accepted an invitation to send samples of newly discovered varieties of crops to be displayed in a feature booth at the International Grain and Hay show, which this year for the first time, is a regular department of the International.

This great exposition seems beyond the reach of most of us who would otherwise be vitally interested but it is worth our while to know about it as it will probably be the greatest exhibition of its kind ever held in this country. It will radiate its influence in increased interest and knowledge to all corners of the land. The subjects it will exploit are the most vital of any that pertain to our progress and wellbeing as a people.

Our own international has a wide influence and is increasingly beneficial to farmers and live stock men throughout the Pacific northwest.

THE MAGIC CARPET.

Once upon a time in the mystic land of Persia, there was found among the treasures of a king, a wonderful carpet. One had only to sit on it, wish to be somewhere, and away the carpet would fly till the wished-for place was reached. For hundreds of years it carried kings and princes upon the most amazing adventures. No one knows what finally became of it, but it may be that its last threads went into the make-up of the first Youth's Companion. For, like the magic carpet, The Companion for 1926 carries you to the land of your heart's desire—up into the Maine woods with the lumbermen; out on the western plains where the warlike Navaho Indians live; far up into the gold regions of Alaska; and away on the Southern Seas in search of treasures and lost islands. All you need for such extraordinary adventures is a young heart and a Youth's Companion. Don't lose time in getting started; subscribe now and receive:

1. The Youth's Companion—52 issues in 1926, and
2. The remaining issues of 1925. All for only $2.
3. Or include McCall's Magazine, the monthly authority on fashions. Both publications, only $2.50.

Certified Seed Good Investment.
Nebraska has a law, practically the same as Oregon's, for certified seed potatoes, but in addition it has an association of seed growers which is under rigid regulations. In recent demonstrations one grower planted certified seed that yielded 257 bushels of U. S. No. 1 to the acre, while the same variety of uncertified seed, as sold in the local markets, produced 191 bushels—a difference of 65 bushels to the acre for the certified seed. After the two field and one bin inspection have been made samples are sent to Louisiana to be grown in the warm climate there, where disease, if any, will quickly develop. If it does develop, then the grower is notified not to longer use the seed, but to get new seed for the next year's planting, otherwise he will be expelled from the association. This rigid certification costs money, but it returns money—it is an investment. Acid phosphate and wood ashes show good returns as phosphates in increased yields.

MISS EDNA GILL IS BRIDE OF SALEM MAN

A pretty home wedding took place Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Gill a mile and a half east of Gresham when their daughter, Miss Edna Gill, became the bride of Keith Brown, of Salem. The nuptial vows were said under an arch of autumn leaves and chrysanthemums, the Rev. J. Stanford Moore, brother-in-law of the bride, officiating. Violin selections were rendered by Miss Virginia Danforth, of Portland, and the wedding strains from Lohengrin were played by Miss Jane Kanzler at the piano and Miss Danforth on the violin. The bride was gowned in bright henna flat crepe trimmed with gold and sand color brocade. She wore a corsage bouquet of Cecil Brunner roses, violets and tiny gold chrysanthemums decorated with maiden hair fern and gold ostrich. At the conclusion of the ceremony luncheon was served, after which the couple left on a honeymoon trip of two or three weeks, the destination of which is unknown to their friends. On their return, they will be at home at Salem where the groom is employed in the offices of the Spaulding Logging company. He graduated from the Salem high school, after which he attended Willamette University. The bride is also a graduate of the Salem high school, although she attended Gresham Union high before going to Salem. She was employed at the state capital for some time.

There were about 40 guests present at the wedding, the majority of them coming from Portland, Salem and Albany. Those who assisted in serving the luncheon were Mrs. Elmer Pringle and Mrs. R. F. Cox, of Portland, Miss Myrtle Rusher and Miss Florence Gill, of Gresham, and Mrs. J. Stanford Moore, of Yamhill.
