At the lecture hour of the Gresham Grange Saturday afternoon Mrs. Vera Tucker gave a most interesting and instructive talk on dahlias, their culture, gathering and handling of the bulbs, demonstrating the latter in a practical manner. Mrs. J. E. Gates at the piano and Miss Sarah Metzger with the violin, rendered a pleasing duet.

John Gantenbein, who lives on Wal-lula Heights, had the misfortune Saturday night to have his chicken coop raided, the thief or thieves making way with three valuable full blooded Buff Orpingtons and a white Leghorn. Evidently they wished them for eating purposes, as the four heads were found the next morning nearby. The family heard a noise after the lights were extinguished, but as they had lived here for years and their chickens had never been molested, they thought nothing of the matter until the next morning.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Lauder-back, of Orient, on Sunday, November 15, at the Timmerman hospital on Fifth street, Gresham, a 9-pound daughter.
