TROUTDALE RESIDENT DIES AT ST. HELENS

Word was received at Troutdale Monday evening of the death of Isaac Hatfield, who died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. May Anderson, at St. Helens Monday afternoon. Mr. Hatfield's wife, Nellie Hatfield, who was formerly postmaster at Troutdale, died about three years ago, and his son, Porter, passed away a few months ago. Since the death of his son, Mr. Hatfield had lived alone. He left Troutdale a week or so ago, apparently in good health, for a visit with his daughter at St. Helens, and the news of his death was a great surprise to his friends.

He is survived by two daughters, May and Stella, the latter formerly being a teacher in the Terry district. The funeral will be held at the Troutdale community church Wednesday afternoon at 1:30, the Rev. E. M. D. Holtensted in charge of the services. Interment will be in Douglass cemetery.

SANDY BLUFF

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Carrell of Powell Valley spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Ault, also Mrs. Ault's mother, Mrs. Byron.

Some of the Cottrell people are home from Hood River while some have a week or ten days of work there yet.

The Willing Workers of Cottrell church will hold their bazaar on December 12. The program committee has most fortunately secured the Miller & Tracey male quartet, also a lady who will give some readings and they will have charge of the entire program.

A surprise was given on Mr. and Mrs. Voight, the new renters on the Heddin place, on Thursday night, sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Baumbach, when about 30 neighbors came in to welcome them to their neighborhood. A very nice time was had and a splendid lunch served.

Albert Ault is home for awhile, the surveyors having finished the work for this winter.

December 1 is the date set for election of officers for Parent-Teacher association and all members are requested to be present.

PLEASANT HOME

The Ladies Aid of the Methodist Episcopal church will hold a bazaar and chicken dinner at the church Saturday evening, November 29, the sale beginning at 4:30 and the supper at 5:30. A splendid program will be given during the evening consisting of readings and musical numbers of a high order. O. V. Badley, the Miller & Tracey quartet and Miss Vera Beckett are expected out from Portland and others who will assist are Mrs. E. E. Welling, C. E. Rusher and Miss Gertrude Alexander, of Gresham.

BORING

The Rebekah lodge at Boring will have a window display of fancy work Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday in W. A. Morand's drug store. The articles will be sold at a bazaar conducted by the Rebekahs on Saturday, November 29, at the Odd Fellow's hall.

ROCKWOOD

A Thanksgiving party will be given by the Epworth League of the Methodist Episcopal church at the church on Thursday evening at 7:30, at the conclusion of which they will transact the regular business of the month.

The Triple Chimes company will give a concert and program at the Grange hall on Saturday evening, November 29, beginning at 8 o'clock. All are cordially invited to hear these excellent entertainers.

Aged Man Injured By Bicycle.

The Rev. J. H. Wood, the aged retired Methodist minister residing on Second street, is confined to his home by injuries he sustained Saturday evening at dusk when he was thrown to the pavement by a boy on a bicycle in front of the 20th Century store. He was in the act of stepping off from the curb when the boy approached from the north. Both were engaged in watching the automobile traffic which was particularly heavy at that time and neither the man nor boy saw each other until too late. He fell on his right side and as a result his eye is blackened, the right shoulder badly bruised and he is somewhat nervous over the severe shaking up. He was picked up by George Duncan but insisted on going to his home without further assistance.

"HOLLYWOOD" SHOWN WEDNESDAY, THURSDAY

"Hollywood," the Paramount super-production, which comes here on Wednesday and Thursday evenings this week, tells a fascinating story of a screen-struck country girl who ventured to Hollywood to "crash" into the movies.

It never occurred to the ambitious heroine that an unknown, inexperienced girl might find the alluring doors of Fame so strongly fortified that they could not be battered down by mere force.

As a matter of fact, very few of the 80 screen celebrities comprising the brilliant cast of this picture reached the heights of screen success with a simple leap and a bound. In most cases they were compelled to go through a maze of preliminary struggle and training before they eventually "got in."

The picture is highly entertaining, is one of the really great productions and many lessons may be learned from the situations it presents.

Sulfur Improves Crops.

Sulfur applied to field plots has caused visible results in two weeks. Investigators have agreed until recent years that soils are most often deficient in potassium, nitrogen, and phosphorus. A new method of analysis proved that many crops, particularly those of the legume and cabbage families, contain as much sulfur as phosphorus.

The red hill regions of western Oregon yield 25 to 50 per cent increase of clover or grains when sulfured, experiments show. Tests of arid and semi-arid soils in Oregon proved that here are at least 100,000 acres of alfalfa that can be increased one ton or more an acre each year with sulfur. Sulfur may be used on red hill soil at one-third the cost of the sulfur obtained in gypsum, the use of which is common in western Oregon. A combination of sulfur, rock phosphate, manure, and lime has given maximum results in some recent field experiments.

Sulfur is of value in controlling many plant diseases and parasites. Potato scab is decreased by sulfur. The red spider pest, the eel worm, and numerous other pests are controlled with sulfur. Applied in stables, sulfur may prevent the spread of some diseases in manure.

Farm Reminders.

Oregon celery, if being blanched at this time of year, should not be allowed to stand between the boards long after it is fit for use, says the experiment station. After the chlorophyll of the stalk has been changed to a yellow or white, depending on the variety of color, the quality, brittleness and flavor begins to be lost. Three weeks is usually the length of time required to blanch the stalks although this may be shorter or longer depending on the weather.

Barnyard manure, particularly manure, heats up rapidly with a loss of the valuable plant food element nitrogen, in the form of ammonia. This loss can be prevented, says the O. A. C. experiment station, almost entirely by scattering a handful of land plaster or superphosphate in the gutter behind each animal, each day. Superphosphate in addition to preventing the loss of ammonia will re-enforce the manure with phosphorus in which it is low. Many of our soils are in need of available phosphorus.

The queen bee mates with the drone or male bee on the wing. Her matings are not under the control of the beekeeper except as he makes it possible to have a supply of good drones and limits the supply of poor ones, says the O. A. C. extension service. The queen bee apparently mates but once in her life time.

The success of any tile drainage system depends upon the outlets. During the summer months many of the outlets have become clogged by the growth of vegetation and by caving in of the sides of the outlet ditch. As the fall work slackens, the farmer should examine these outlets and clean them so they can work to their maximum capacity.

Agricultural Fact Finding Commission

President Coolidge last week announced the appointment of the following eight men to serve as a commission to investigate agricultural conditions and to report a program for agricultural relief:

Former Governor Robert D. Carey, of Wyoming.

O. E. Bradfute, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, of Chicago.

Charles S. Barrett, chairman of the National Board of Farm Organization, Union City, Ga.

Louis J. Taber, master of the National Grange, Columbus, Ohio.

Ralph P. Merritt, president of the Sun-Maid Raisin Growers, Fresno, California.

R. W. Thatcher, director of the New York Experiment stations, Geneva, New York.

W. C. Coffey, dean of the College of Agriculture and director of the experiment station of the University of Minnesota.

Fred H. Bixby, president of the American National Live Stock association, Long Beach, Cal.

The Commission held its first meetings in Washington on Monday, November 17.

When California raised 4,000 carloads citrus fruit we talked over-production. Last year we used 95,000 carloads.

In all forms 17,000,000 homes now use electric current for light, power and heat, and in 1923 we made and sold 2,002,000 vacuum cleaners, electric fans and washing machines.

Conveniences furnished the home owner by manufactured gas and rapid street railway and interurban transportation exceed all other nations.

The American 6 per cent of all the people use more raw materials and put them through more complex and various processes than all the remaining 94 per cent savage and civilized put together according to August 30 Chicago Liberty.
