

COOKING SCHOOL TO AID HOUSEKEEPERS

All is set for the opening on Monday afternoon, March 8, 2:30, in the social rooms of the Methodist Episcopal church, of the Outlook's free cooking school. This will be the first of four demonstrations to be given by Rose Bartlett, economics expert of the Portland Gas & Coke company.

Mrs. Bartlett will discuss the following ideas: Swedish tea rings, pastry for pie crust, cry-baby rolls, butter-scotch filling, merangue and apricot soufflé.

Mrs. Bartlett says, "If you cannot make good pie crust now is the time to learn. There is a reason for soggy pie crust and it will be easily demonstrated how to overcome it. I will also dwell on how to use the left over pastry."

Attractive recipe books that outline the lessons for the four demonstrations will be presented to those in attendance. While it is estimated that there will be sufficient seating capacity for all ladies in attendance it will be remembered from the crowds that came last year that those coming early and occupying the front seats will enjoy a little better advantage than those obliged to sit in the rear of the room.

Mrs. Bartlett is well experienced in home service lectures, has a voice well suited for class work, and will be easily understood from any point in the room.

Two angel food cakes will be given as door prizes on the first day.

The demonstrations will close promptly at 4 o'clock so that any other appointments may be kept.

When interviewed on the subject of food Mrs. Bartlett said:

"Food is of no value to the body unless it is well digested and assimilated and the digestion and assimilation of foods depend upon the flow of the digestive juices in the mouth and stomach. We might call these juices the digestive juices.

"It is easy to cook for the man who has performed heavy labor out of doors all day as he will be hungry enough to eat anything. He craves food and plenty of it. It isn't necessary to appeal to the appetite juices of the man who calls 'when do we eat.' To the man who follows the plow it is a matter of good wholesome food and plenty of it.

"The man who has spent a fatiguing day in the office, a weary day of wrestling with mental problems, also requires good wholesome food but he lacks the appetite, so we must dress up his food so it will be pleasing to the eye. To serve a food simply because it is good for your family is not enough. In fact, this might destroy the appetite for it. We create anticipation, and anticipation creates appetite."

"A sprig of parsley, a lettuce leaf, a dash of paprika, sliced hard boiled eggs, crisp diced bacon, a little whipped cream or a candied cherry often do more towards the relishing of the food than the food itself. Not that these things have any great food value but that they are pleasing to the eye and the eye telegraphs to the stomach. 'It looks good' and we have started the appetite juices.

"It is needless to add that the table itself has a big part in the appeal to the appetite—a clean cloth, polished silver and sparkling glassware and china all attractively arranged.

"Your reward for the extra time and thought spent in the planning of your meals is a healthy contented family that 'licks the platter clean' and proclaims you the best cook ever."

Nehalem Pastor in High School.

The Outlook is in receipt of the first issue of The Seagull, issued by the student body of the Nehalem high school, which contains the following news item of interest to many Outlook readers:

"Rev. Erwin Ranton, pastor of the local M. E. church, is a student in the junior class of Nehalem high school. Although he has attended Los Angeles Bible Institute, Salem high school, Willamette University and Kimball School of Theology, graduating from the latter, Mr. Ranton still can find courses in N. H. S. which would be of value to him in his work."

MRS. ROSE BARTLETT

who will give four lectures and interesting demonstrations beginning Monday, March 8, in M. E. Church.

KELLY EXTENSION PLANS PROGRESSING

The plans for the extension of Kelly avenue, petitions for which were received and acted on a few weeks ago by the city council, were given another boost at the meeting of the council last Wednesday night, when the engineer's report on the extension was accepted and an ordinance covering the case was ordered drafted. This ordinance is expected to come up for a first reading at an early meeting of the council.

The proposed street would extend 218 feet from the north line of Zenith addition and would make possible improvements which are not now available. Petitioners for the street extension are the Independent Land company, E. H. Kelly, J. N. Mewhirter, B. S. Clark, F. A. Lundquist, M. B. Splawn, George H. Hardy, W. S. Everett, S. E. Palmquist, S. F. Pitts and R. H. Todd.

Work is progressing rapidly and satisfactorily on the water reservoir and necessary pipe lines. In surveying for the pipe line ditch along West Second street, it was found that a number of electric light and telephone poles are in the street and will need to be moved two or three feet. A careful survey of the situation will be made by the city engineer and referred to the electric and telephone companies.

Another street light was ordered installed on West Powell street, which will be placed about opposite the play shed of the grade school. The commission allowed J. H. Metzger for collection of the water accounts was increased from 2 to 3 per cent.

WHITE TEMPLE QUARTET TO SING IN GRESHAM

Next Sunday evening the male quartet of the First Baptist church of Portland will render several selections in the musical program which will be presented in the local Baptist church next Sunday evening. Mrs. K. J. Hagberg and Miss Marth Hagberg together with other local talent will render other selections and a most pleasing service will be held at the regular hour, beginning at 7:30. The Rev. W. C. Driver of chapel car fame will be present to deliver an address.

The Bible school will meet at the regular hour in the morning followed by the morning church service conducted by the pastor. The theme of the morning sermon will be "The People Called Baptists—What They Teach." The Intermediate society will meet at 5:30 p. m. and the B. Y. P. U. at 6:30.

The members of the church and congregation are especially invited to the fellowship service to be held next Wednesday evening in the basement of the church. Basket dinner will be served at 7 o'clock after which the prayer meeting will be held and matters of business attended to.

TROUTDALE ASSN. ELECTS OFFICERS

At a well attended meeting of the Co-operative Lettuce and Cauliflower association held on Monday at the Pleasant View schoolhouse east of Troutdale, George Chamberlain, A. Duncklee, P. F. Soule, W. Hurt and F. Fehrenbacher were elected directors of the association. Mr. Chamberlain acted as chairman and H. E. Bloyd secretary of the meeting.

Mr. Prince of Gwin, White & Prince, incorporated, of Seattle, sales manager for the local association, was present and gave a satisfactory explanation of the failure to dispose of several car loads of cabbage which left Troutdale during the month of January, which involved a big loss to the growers. Mr. Prince explained that white cabbage was shipped instead of green. The mild winter was bad for the cabbage in stores, and green cabbage was cut from the fields in many sections to supply the demand, which worked a hardship on the growers who had stored their stock during the winter. No blame was laid to anybody connected with the management of selling the cabbage, it was simply a case of bad luck.

As the final reports on the cabbage situation have not been received, no settlement was made, but it is expected in a short time.

It was voted to raise the membership fee from one dollar to $25 a year after March 1. The matter of fixing a schedule was left to the directors. It was moved by C. Seidl that pictures be taken of the cauliflower fields during the summer months when the product is at its best, for the purpose of sending to distant markets for the advertising, as the cauliflower raised in eastern Multnomah is of a superior quality. The association voted that each grower have his number on all products shipped by car load lots.

Appreciation was expressed of the assistance given the association during the year by H. E. Bloyd, cashier of the Troutdale State bank, and a motion was carried to pay him for his services.

Following the stockholders' meeting a meeting of directors was held, when organization was effected, the following officers being chosen: Geo. Chamberlain, president; W. Hurt, vice president; H. E. Bloyd, sec.-treas. The motion was effected, the following officers being chosen: George Chamberlain, president; W. Hurt, vice president; H. E. Bloyd, secretary-treasurer. The board of directors renewed the contract with Gwin, White & Prince through the latter, who was present.

Mr. Prince was accompanied by Masaru Matsumoto, manager of the oriental division, foreign department, of the Seattle National bank.

Mrs. C. Merrill Given Surprise.

Mrs. C. Merrill was happily surprised at her home Wednesday evening on the occasion of her 71st birthday. A number of gifts were received and refreshments were served. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Merrill and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Merrill and son, Mrs. A. J. Nye and daughter, Mrs. Clyde Ketchum and daughter and Dr. and Mrs. Carl Rinehart, all from Portland. Gresham guests were Miss Birdine Merrill, Mr. and Mrs. George Leslie, Mrs. Annie Hevel, A. W. Easton, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Stanley and children, Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Prichard and Mrs. C. Merrill.

WORK IS RESUMED ON BROWN BUILDING

A large crew of men yesterday resumed work on the foundation for the new building for A. J. W. Brown, which was halted a few weeks ago by excessive rains and high water. Excavations for the concrete footings soon filled up and it was impossible to proceed until the water receded. A stable foundation has been secured by digging below the creek bed, and the concrete for the footings is being poured today.

Careful tests by experts have been made of the soil in which the foundations of the building are to be laid, which have proved entirely satisfactory, according to Mr. Brown's architect, Wm. Laing, who employed Blood & Williams, consulting engineers of Portland, and experts in soils for foundations. Tests taken a year ago by borings showed an excellent stratum of blue clay 17 feet thick, which is said to be ideal soil for the purpose. The footings, which are being poured today, are on this clay.

Another question which has had the careful attention of Mr. Brown is that of the drainage from the higher ground to the north and west of his building, which has been running from numerous septic tanks under Powell street into an open ditch across his property into Johnson creek. It has been decided to construct a reinforced box culvert below the sub-basement to care for this drainage. A number of property owners, whose septic tanks have found an outlet on Mr. Brown's property, have expressed a willingness to share in the expense of the permanent culvert, and it is thought that practically all will bear their share, especially as Mr. Brown will not make any use of the drain himself. The sewerage from the new building will be taken care of by the septic tank already on the property, which has been inspected by state authorities and a permit given for its use.

The building when complete will be 70 feet wide at the west, nearly 50 at the east and 100 feet at the north on Powell street. It will have one story above the street level, a basement and sub-basement, each of which will be entirely open to daylight on the south exposure, where the maximum amount of glass has been provided for. Reinforced concrete will be used in the foundation and walls up to the floor of the basement, making an exceeding stable base for the superstructure. The upper story will contain five roomy stores, one of which will be occupied by the Gresham Meat Market.

A broad reinforced bridge will span Johnson creek on the level of the sub-basement floor, access to which will be had over streets past the pickle factory.

Mt. Hood Loop Road Is to Be Widened.

The statement has been published that the forestry service has appropriated $25,000 for the improvement of portions of the Mt. Hood Loop highway for a few miles this side of Government Camp. The road will be widened at various curves and made safer for travel. It is stated that the work will begin at once and will be completed before the heavy traffic of early summer begins.

Chicken Dinner.

A delicious chicken dinner will be served at the Methodist Episcopal church on Friday evening, March 5, 5:30 to 7:30 under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. for the benefit of the Children's Farm Home. Plate, 50c.—Adv.

THREE BENEFIT DANCES SCHEDULED FOR MARCH

Dance lovers in Gresham and vicinity will have three opportunities during March to enjoy their favorite pastime, and at the same time help worthy objects which will be benefited by their patronage. In the order of their occurrence the dances will be the Areme club's benefit dance on the evening of March 12, the Gresham Band boys' masquerade dance on St. Patrick's Day, March 17, and the Gresham Fire department's dance on March 26.

The Areme club dance will be given for the benefit of the children's dormitory in connection with the Masonic home at Forest Grove. The Eastern Star chapters of the state have undertaken to furnish the new dormitory for the children, and must have their donations in before Easter. The dance is to raise funds for that purpose. There will be cards for those who wish to play.

The masquerade to be given by the Gresham Band on March 17 is arousing considerable interest, and a number of Gresham individuals and business houses have donated prizes for the occasion. An effort is being made to raise sufficient funds by this means to meet the necessary expenses in connection with the band and to have a reserve for emergencies. The band is an institution of which Gresham citizens are justly proud and a loyal support is anticipated.

The Firemen's dance on March 26, though last in order, is by no means least in importance. The firemen are giving their services voluntarily for fire protection day and night, and while the main equipment is furnished by the city, there are many calls for funds which cannot be included in the city budget. It is for these outside calls that the benefit dance is planned. Gratifying support has already been received in the sale of tickets in Gresham and the surrounding territory, and a successful dance is expected.

All these dances will be in the Masonic hall. The events and the dates are as follows:

- Areme club dance, Friday evening, March 12.
- Gresham band masquerade dance, Wednesday evening, March 17.
- Firemen dance, Friday evening, March 26.

Methodist Episcopal Church.

Bible school will begin at 10 a. m. promptly. The school is well graded, with classes for all ages, competent instructors and a warm welcome. The contest between the reds and the blues goes on each Sunday with first one side and then the other in the lead. It will take the last day to decide the victors.

Morning worship and sermon begins at 11 o'clock. There will be special music by the choir and the topic for the very brief sermon by the pastor will be "Thou He Come" and that will be followed by the sacrament of the Lord's Supper. Members will be received into the church at this service. A Sunday school board meeting and pot luck dinner will follow the morning service.

At 3 o'clock in the afternoon the harmonica class will meet for practice in playing hymns and at 3:30 the Junior Epworth League will meet.

In the evening at 6:15 the Senior Epworth League will meet for devotional service, with Miss Dorothy Cooper as leader. The subject for the meeting will be "Verbs of Christian Living—to Know." Young people will find much of help and inspiration and those of older years will find real edification in these services. Evening worship and sermon begins promptly at 7:30 with a gospel song service led by H. W. Strong. This is one of the most profitable services of the entire week. The pastor will speak, using as a topic for the evening "Two Immutable Things." In a world of change some things are never changed and the evening's discussion will be concerning two of them.

On Tuesday evening at 7:45 the official board will meet in the pastor's study for its monthly meeting. Every member is expected and others are welcome. Meeting for prayer and Bible study on Thursday evening at 7:30. The pastor invites all who love God and wish to serve Him to this meeting. A prayerless church is a church bereft of power. Jesus taught His followers to "watch and pray" and St. Paul said "men ought always to pray, lifting up holy hands without wrath and doubting."

Zion Evangelical Church.

Services at Zion Evangelical church next Sunday will be Sunday school at 10 o'clock, preaching at 11 o'clock by the pastor, the Rev. E. Horstmann, who will take for his subject, "The Example of Jesus," and Senior League in the evening at 7:30.

REMEDY FOUND FOR STRAWBERRY PEST

A new strawberry root weevil remedy that is easily applied, efficient and low in cost has been perfected, according to M. J. Forsell, 2224 Second avenue, Seattle, Washington, and the entomologists of the western Washington experiment station and the main experiment station at Pullman. The remedy consists of a poison bait, which is applied to the plants for the purpose of killing the beetles. It is made up of a secret formula of substances attractive, edible, and destructive to the weevils. The copyrighted name of the material, as given by Mr. Forsell, is "Go West."

This poison bait is the result of four years' work by Mr. Forsell, who is thoroughly qualified for carrying on such work. During the past two years it has been rather thoroughly tested by the Washington State experiment station entomologists and pronounced effective. In one experiment these entomologists placed 100 live beetles on each of three plants, on which a small amount of this poison bait had been applied. The plants were enclosed under Bell jars, and five days later counts were made of the dead beetles. The three plants had 95, 93, and 93 dead beetles respectively. Within a few hours the other 5, 7, and 7 beetles were dead, giving 100 per cent kill. Also, the field in which this test was made was poisoned as a whole, and 5 days later examinations made. Five days later the field was thoroughly examined by three trained entomologists of Washington state, and no live beetles found. Other tests were carried on in other infested fields near Puyallup, and after thorough examination 100 per cent kill was reported in all cases in five or six days' time. These same fields were examined for weevil larva in October, and in all cases found to be free of weevils, establishing the fact that the beetles were all killed before egg laying started in the summer.

The cost of this material is $15 per hundred in car lots. Local retail price will naturally be slightly higher. Additional discounts will be made on car lot orders, according to Mr. Forsell. The bait will be shipped in 100 pound burlap sacks, taken direct from the sack and placed in small containers for convenience, like pails, and distributed by hand into the crown of the plant. No extra machinery of any kind is needed for its application. During the past season the bait was sold through cooperative associations and interested cannerymen in the western Washington district, these organizations feeling it was to their advantage to supply their growers with this effective remedy for the strawberry root weevil.

The amount to use per acre is 100 pounds, applied every other year, applications the first and third years of bearing apparently taking care of the situation. According to Oregon Agricultural College entomologist, the greatest number of weevils appear about the last of May, and the peak of egg laying comes about the middle of June. This probably would necessitate the application of the bait during the latter half of May, having it available for the weevils as they appear, before they start depositing their eggs.

C. L. Long, horticultural specialist for the O. A. C. extension service, highly recommends the remedy and is prepared to furnish full information to strawberry growers through the Monthly News Letter, which may be had on application to him at Corvallis.
