

GRESHAM CITIZENS
PAY LAST TRIBUTE TO BUSINESS MAN

Floyd L. Mack, a prominent Gresham business man, who has been in a serious condition on account of heart trouble, passed away at his home on Saturday, March 6, almost exactly eight weeks after his acute attack. He had been treated for a time at Good Samaritan hospital but was brought home and every effort made to alleviate the trouble but to no avail. He had been a great sufferer during his entire illness and required the aid of experienced nurses as well as his wife's constant attention.

Mr. Mack was born July 17, 1880, in Parishville, New York. He enlisted in the marine corps when in his teens, and served five years in all parts of the world. During the World War he served in the medical corps and saw service over seas for more than two years. On January 4, 1916, he married Pearl Jones, who survives him. Following his discharge from the service he returned to Gresham and went into business as an electrician. At the time of his death he was assistant chief of the Gresham Volunteer Fire department, manager of the Gresham band and a musician in it.

Besides his widow, he is survived by two sons by a former marriage, Lawrence Ripley and Charles Robert Mack, and by a little daughter, Helen Louise. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Mack, and a sister, Mrs. John Reddy, live at Whitehall, New York. He was raised in the Methodist belief and a few years ago joined the Episcopalian church.

The funeral, which was one of the most impressive and largest ever held in Gresham, was at the Methodist Episcopal church, where Dr. C. W. Huett, the pastor, conducted the services assisted by Dr. A. Thompson. The flag-draped casket and the attendance of uniformed members of the Oregon national guard, as well as other organized bodies lent a martial air to the occasion and emphasized the fact of the long military service of the deceased and the activities in which he took part.

Touching and beautiful was the procession from Gates Funeral home to the church. Color bearer and guards led, followed by the band, playing a funeral march. Mr. Mack's casket, resting on a black pillow, was carried by Elwood Duncan. The instrument was later placed on a pedestal inside the altar of the church. The band was followed by the fire department and the department by the firing squad of national guard boys. Next came the hearse, with pall bearers acting as guards of honor on either side, three from the American Legion post and three from the fire department. The auxiliary to the Legion marched behind the hearse and Legion boys and friends followed. The pall bearers were A. W. Metzger, K. C. Roberts, J. L. Stafford, A. F. Hammar, George Brandt and Frank Hamlin.

A quartet consisting of Guy D. Jones, Miss Martha Hagberg, Mrs. H. L. St. Clair and Jackson Jones sang "O Love That Will Not Let Thee Go," "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" and "Abide With Me." Miss Amy Cooper presided at the piano.

The bell on the fire hall was tolled during the concluding exercises at the church.

In beautiful Mt. Scott cemetery the band again played a funeral march, and after the burial ritual and the concluding prayer three volleys were fired and taps were sounded.

By the action of the Commercial club, business houses were closed for two hours during the funeral.

The flag which draped the casket was furnished by the American Legion auxiliary and was afterwards given to Mrs. Mack.

A wealth of flowers, beautiful floral pieces and potted plants, covered the last resting place of Mr. Mack, mute evidence of respect for the dead and sympathy for the living.

Among those who came from a distance to attend the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Ettel Jones of Bremerton, brother and sister-in-law of Mrs. Mack, and the two sons of Mr. Mack from Gladstone, who have been attending O.A.C.

Don't forget the advertisers when you need anything in their line.

WANTED

More people to read and use the Want Ads. Notice the careful classification and look for what you want or advertise for it.

GOOD CROWD GREET'S
COOKING SCHOOL EXPERT

The first class of the Gresham Outlook cooking school in the basement auditorium of the Methodist church convened yesterday afternoon. It was apparent from the start that a keen interest was being taken by the Gresham ladies in home economics work. A great many of those present attended Mrs. Bartlett's lectures last year and were ready with a number of questions.

This year Mrs. Bartlett will present an entirely different program and a different subject will be considered each day. A copy of Cooking School Program and recipes was presented to each lady in attendance. Mrs. Bartlett discussed the Swedish tea ring, pastry for pie crust, cry-baby rolls, butter-scotch filling and meringue.

Mrs. Bartlett says that pies are now considered the great American dessert. If you have soggy pies, it is either in the handling of your pastry or in the baking. The pastry should be cold in the handling to prevent melting of the fat. It should then be put into a hot oven. The only way to know that your oven is the right temperature is to have a temperature control. This, according to Mrs. Bartlett, is the safety valve of your stove and should always assure you of the exact temperature you desire.

Two angel cakes were given away following the lecture. They went to Mrs. A. Lauderback and Mrs. E. Lundquist. The topic to be considered Thursday, March 11, will be cakes. Mrs. Bartlett will discuss marble, chocolate, angel, gold and princess cakes; also hot water sponge, favorite chocolate and golden frosting. Mrs. Bartlett says that she will show how to make a chocolate angel cake with a chocolate frosting that sticks to the cake and not to the fingers.

It is estimated that the seating capacity of the auditorium will be taxed for this class and those coming early and enjoying the front seats will be in a better position to observe the demonstration and hear the lecture. Two cakes will be given away again at the next meeting.

SANDY'S SCALP
STRUNG TO A POLE

(By Melcher Duncan).

Last Friday night the Gresham high school team went to Sandy and returned with Sandy's scalp upon a big long pole. (The pole means Dave Lane, who starred in the struggle).

Sandy's floor was very small and the ceiling was far too low, thus handicapping the Gresham boys who are used to a big floor with a high ceiling. The only redeeming feature about the gym was the floor, which, for a wonder, was not slippery.

When the game started, our boys couldn't get going right. They couldn't pass and couldn't hit the basket. At the end of the half they were behind, 12 to 4.

When the second half started, our boys woke up and would have cinched the game in the third quarter, but Squires, who was put in for Howell, was ruled off the floor for unnecessary roughness, along with one of Sandy's men. This seemed to slow our boys down, and from there to the end the game represented a teeter-totter, first Sandy ahead, then Gresham.

With about one minute to go, Rusher made a long shot which hit the ceiling and fell into the basket. That shot won the game for Gresham and cost Mr. Cannon a good sum of money, because he promised the boys a real banquet if they won.

The Gresham Midgets won from the Oregon City Midgets by a score of 35 to 13. The Gresham boys showed a snappy game and outplayed the visitors in spite of the difference in size. The Oregon City Midgets average about ten pounds more than the Gresham boys. This makes 11 games straight for the Gresham Midgets.

Important Business Deal Closed.

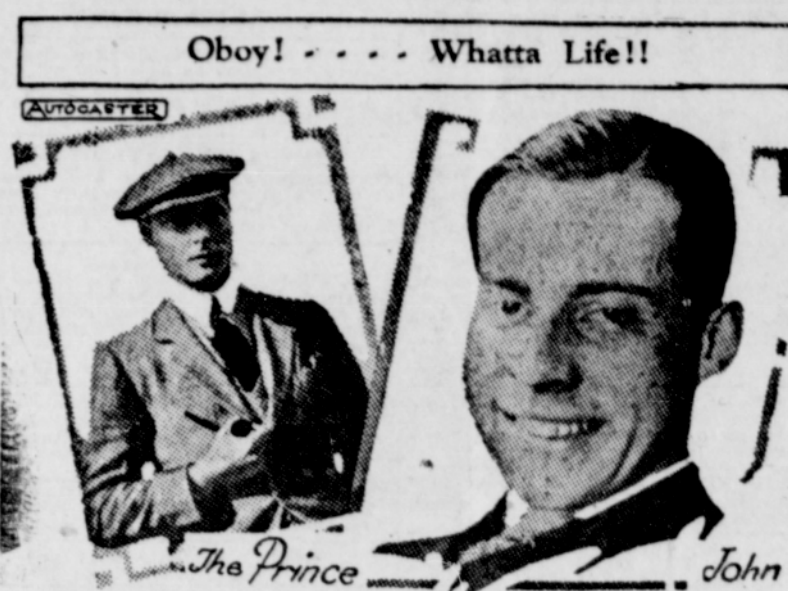

An important business deal was brought to a close recently when H. J. Pulfer made an exchange of his residence property in Kirkland addition to C. I. Raker for a grocery store at 37th and Division streets in Portland. Mr. Raker has owned the grocery stock since last December, but as it is impossible for him to personally conduct the business, he thought best to dispose of it. He expects to keep the residence which he has taken as a business investment. Each party will take possession of his property about the first of April.

Garden Service.

Pruning, landscaping, lawns, spading. Old fashioned gardens a specialty. Complete line of fruit and ornamental trees and shrubs for sale. W. W. Stowe, phone 321.—Adv.

Window Cleaning

For expert window cleaning see S. Tajima, or leave orders with John Brown, Gresham, phone 2501.

The Prince of Wales, credited with being England's best advertising bet in his tumbling act from galloping steeple-chase horses, has a real national rival—now that John Coolidge, son of the President, has taken up boxing at Amherst college. Right now 'John' is nursing a rather "ouchy" nose and the Prince is carrying his left arm in a sling—the former having lost a three round battle in a boxing tourney and the latter from a bad spill—his thirteenth fall in a race.

GRESHAMITES SUBJECT OF LOCKLEY SKETCH

The following interesting contribution is from the pen of the well-known Journal correspondent, Fred Lockley, appearing in his widely read column of impressions and observations:

"John F. Roberts has lived in or about Gresham for 73 years. When I visited him a day or two ago at his home in Gresham he said:

"I was born in Illinois on Lincoln's birthday, February 12, 1847, and came across the plains with my parents in 1852. My father, Stephen Roberts, was born in Indiana. My mother's maiden name was Mary Tripp. Mother and father were married when they were 20. They had 10 children. Father was a miller and was captain of the wagon train when we crossed the plains. My sister Jennie was born on the Plateau and was six months old when we reached Oregon.

"Father took up 320 acres 2 1/4 miles north of Gresham, near Fairview. A. C. Ruby, the horse man, built his home just where our old log cabin stood. When we settled there A. C. Dunbar was our nearest neighbor. A man named Scott lived at Fairview and not far from his place was the farm of his father-in-law, Doc Crosby. His brother-in-law, Mr. Frizette, also had a place nearby. There was no road to Gresham in those days. When you wanted to go anywhere you started out with your ox team and wagon and a good sharp ax and cut a road through the timber. When father took up his place, it was heavily timbered. There was a 60-acre swale on our place, covered with willow and ash.

"I started to school at Fairview when I was 8. I walked two miles to school. We had a three-months' term each winter. Professor Enos was my first teacher. My most vivid recollection of Professor Enos was that one day not long after I had started to school he cut some good-sized switches and whipped every boy in the school. He told us when we were playing baseball to play it quietly, and not make a noise, but you can't play baseball without making a racket. He said we were howling like Indians, so he started with the biggest boy and went on down the line till he had whipped every one of us.

"When I was 9 I went to work on

GRESHAM GRANGE
TO INITIATE TWO

The Gresham grange will hold its regular all-day session the coming Saturday at the grange hall at which time two candidates will be initiated in the first and second degrees of the order, the ceremony taking place during the forenoon. The lecture hour from 1:30 to 2:30 will be open to the public and will be filled with a varied program of interest. A selection will be given by the Gresham grange choir, also a vocal solo by Miss Gertrude Alexander.

A reading will be given by Mrs. Effie Hodge and she will also give a reading which was original with Mrs. Grace McCormack French of Carlton, on the subject of "Oregon Birds." This was intended to be read by Mrs. Carlton, but she was unable to be present on the occasion. R. W. Gill, a prominent fruit man of Portland, will speak on gardening. This promises to be very instructive and those attending are requested to bring paper and pencil to take notes.

Gresham Beauty Shoppe

everything in the line of cosmetic therapy. Courteous and efficient treatment. Mrs. Lois St. Clair, First State Bank building, phone 1841, Gresham.—Adv.

Add to your income, subtract from your losses, multiply your returns, divide your expenses, by using Want Ads.

Oboy! . . . Whatta Life!!

BUILDING OPERATIONS
MARK GRESHAM LOCALITY

As spring advances numerous building improvements are noted in different localities which add materially to the appearance of the respective premises. J. A. Bushong has added a 9 x 10 sun parlor on the south and east of his residence. This may be used as a conservatory or an extra room when needed.

The Wells brothers are engaged in putting on the rustic and painting the exterior of their house on Earl street. The interior of the little home was done some time ago to make it more comfortable for the mother in her declining years. The place has been rented to a brother-in-law, Fred Richardson, who will move in with his family soon. Scott and George Wells expect to leave soon for Montana where they have property and John Wells will continue work on his ranch east of Gresham.

C. H. Calkins is constructing a 16x22 garage on the rear of his Fifth street property which is large enough to accommodate a truck and touring car. He will have a well-equipped work bench in one side of the building.

J. N. Clannahan is putting his residence in fine shape for the new tenants, W. B. Twitchell and family, who are expecting to move in when completed. He is putting in an additional bathroom, to be located upstairs, also a washroom with laundry trays constructed in the rear of the house downstairs. The entire place has been re-papered tastefully, additional electric fixtures installed, linoleum laid in several rooms and other improvements made.

The small cottage, located in the Clannahan addition, which was built by Kenneth Calkins about two years ago but which was never completed, has been purchased by Jack Hamlin. The place has been enlarged to five rooms, has had a porch added and is being put in fine shape all around for a neat modern cottage. The house is now receiving a coat of paint.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE
GIVEN TO J. A. GILL

A very pleasant surprise party was given J. A. Gill at his home, "Idle Rest," on Saturday evening, Feb. 27, when Portland friends, 17 in number, assembled to celebrate his birthday and share in the festivities which had been arranged by Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Kinder. The master's room in the home had been completed unknown to Mr. Gill, who has been employed by the city of Portland for the past six years and is away the most of the time. A long table, beautifully decorated and loaded with all the good things that go to appease the appetite had been set in this room, which is 22 x 28. All the friends were seated when Miss Walker blindfolded Mr. Gill and led him in and seated him in a large chair at the head of the table. When the bandage was removed his surprise can better be imagined than described. A large birthday cake, baked by Mrs. Kinder, with a candle for each year, was the main attraction of the table.

A select literary program had been arranged by Mr. Kinder and was carried out after all felt they had done complete justice to an exceptionally fine dinner. The party broke up about 12 o'clock, and a number of the guests told Mr. Gill they hoped to be able to help him celebrate his birthday next year.

The home was beautifully decorated with hot house flowers and daffodils. Many beautiful presents were received by Mr. Gill.

Mrs. Ellen Colburn and James Berry were recent visitors at "Idle Rest."

SUDDEN DEATH TAKES ROCKWOOD CITIZEN

Death came instantaneously yesterday morning, March 8, to a well-known resident of the Rockwood vicinity, William Jelken, aged 45 years, who passed away with but a moment's warning on the premises of the Walker-Quinnberry service station at Rockwood, where he was having some minor repairs to his automobile. Death was the result of a hemorrhage of the lungs. It is understood he had been afflicted with heart trouble for some time past, although his condition was not regarded as serious by his family.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Minnie Jelken, and four children, Mrs. Edith McCormack, a son, Edmonds, and two small girls, Virginia and Eleanor. Funeral services will be conducted Wednesday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, from the Rockwood Methodist church, with interment in Mt. Scott cemetery. J. E. Metzger of the Gresham Funeral parlors has charge of the final arrangements.

Painting and Papering.

See Wm. Earns for painting, tinting and papering. All work guaranteed. Hogan road. R. 1, Box 70-A, Gresham, Oregon.

MRS. DOLLY BRAM OF SPRINGDALE IS BURNED TO DEATH

From Springdale comes a harrowing tale of death by flames which befell Mrs. Dolly Bram, aged 43, who lost her life early Saturday morning when fire destroyed the house on the Bram farm two miles south of Springdale. Three children, aged 6, 8 and 10 years respectively, escaped from the burning building in their night clothes. According to the story, which apparently has had a number of different renderings, the husband, F. E. Bram, built a fire in the stove on the first floor of the building about 5 o'clock Saturday morning and left for the barn, 100 feet away, to do the morning milking.

A few minutes later he saw flames proceeding from the house and with the aid of a neighbor succeeded in extinguishing them, as he thought. The children had gone outside and were safe, but the mother was upstairs where indications were she had gone in the effort to save the children. Her hair was burned off her head and she was dead when the two men reached her.

The body was brought immediately to the Gresham Funeral home of J. E. Gates, by the coroner, and has been here since.

Laying her on a couch downstairs, Bram resumed his milking at the barn while waiting for the appearance of a physician who had been hastily summoned. About 20 minutes later flames were seen for the second time to be ascending from the house and the horrified farmer and nearby neighbors were obliged to stand by and watch the fire devour the house containing the unfortunate woman until nothing but a few ruins were left.

While circumstances pointed to the fact that the mother died in an effort to save her children from death by fire, later developments would indicate that she met death through suicidal intent. It is said that a month ago she had told a neighbor that March 3 would be her last day on earth and that she would take the children with her. Fortunately the woman, who had been suffering with extreme nervousness for the past two years, part of the time out of her head, was foiled in her attempt to include her three children in the sleep of death and they were later cared for at the home of a neighbor.

Mrs. Bram had been assisted in her home by her mother from Seattle, but she had left for her home a few days before. The family had lived for the past seven years on the ranch where Mrs. Bram met her death. Funeral services were held this afternoon at the Corbett community church at 2 o'clock, with interment in Pounder cemetery.

GRESHAM LOCALS

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Cleveland, who left a few days ago for eastern Oregon for a visit with their sons, Charlie and Wendell at Heppner and Stanfield, returned yesterday to attend the funeral of F. L. Mack.

The Gresham circle of the Evangelical Women's union will meet with Mrs. M. Hemrich on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. All ladies cordially invited to attend.

The Woman's Home Missionary society will meet Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. B. L. Walrad, at 2:30. Mrs. C. W. Huett will be the leader of the meeting and the fourth chapter of the study book, "Peasant Pioneers," will be taken up. The hostesses for the occasion will be Mrs. L. L. Kidder, Mrs. W. E. Beagle and Mrs. J. V. Cogswell.

The lusty pealing of charivari bells Thursday evening gave out the first intimation of the marriage of Reuben Peterson and Miss Mary Yandell. It is understood that the ceremony took place about three weeks ago, but bride and groom have been very reticent about giving out any information concerning their adventure. The couple is residing for the present at the home of the bride on South Lawrence avenue. Mr. Peterson is employed by Walrad & Wright as a truckman.

Arrangements are being made by H. W. Strong for a concert at the Methodist Episcopal church next Sunday night, the principle feature of which will be the singing of old favorite songs by the congregation. These will be interspersed with special features, both instrumental and vocal. A full program will be given later.

Continued on page 4

Business is built on advertising; buying is encouraged by advertising; the public is benefited by advertising.