

GRESHAM LOCALS

Mrs. J. E. Mackey and son, Gale, are here from Cathlamet, Washington, spending a week with her sister, Mrs. George Duncan.

Dr. H. H. Ott is improving the appearance of his vacant lot on Main street by a fill in of several truckloads of dirt. This will be used to level up the edge of the lot bringing it up to the grade of the pavement.

A most pleasant affair of Tuesday was a surprise luncheon and stork shower given in honor of Mrs. J. S. Heyne at the home of her mother, Mrs. A. F. Hoover. A color scheme of green and yellow was carried out throughout both in the decorations of the house and the three-course luncheon. Mrs. Heyne received a number of beautiful and appropriate gifts and a social afternoon was enjoyed. Those present were Mrs. Clyda Blanc, Mrs.

Margaret Hyworth and Mrs. Henry Pass, all of Portland; Mrs. Hazel Beers, Mrs. Lucy Donley, Mrs. Elsie Milleson, Mrs. Lulu Osburn, Mrs. Minnie Weigant, Mrs. Mildred Fancher, Mrs. Katie Pullen, Mrs. J. S. Heyne and Mrs. A. F. Hoover.

The Rev. J. Stanford Moore was a welcome caller at the Outlook office yesterday. He with his wife and daughter, Marilyn, drove from Yamhill Wednesday and spent the night with Mrs. Moore's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Gill.

Will Beers is lying at his home suffering from another dropsical attack attended by disturbance of the heart functions. He is unable to lie down and breathes with great difficulty.

Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Emery went to Hillsboro Saturday on business matters. They are talking of exchanging their Gresham property for a ranch home in a suburban locality when the right opportunity presents itself.

Dr. and Mrs. Geo. Inglis, Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth Raker and little son left Thursday by automobile for a trip to California. The trip was undertaken in the hope of benefitting the health of Mrs. Raker, as well as to offer a needed change for her father, Dr. Inglis. Their stay is indefinite and depends on the results obtained. Dr. Inglis drove a new Ford coupe, and the Rakers the sport car which was Mrs. Raker's Christmas gift. They are taking the journey by easy stages and word received from them indicates that the trip is already beneficial.

SURMOUNTING DIFFICULTIES

Struggle, hardship, privation, discouragement and frequent failure—such as few of us experience—marked the youth of Matthias Baldwin, founder of the famous Baldwin Locomotive Works.

His mother was left a widow with five small children, and Matthias was apprenticed out for five years.

He carefully saved every dollar possible to aid his mother and "get ahead."

The Baldwin works, the whistle of whose engines is heard around the world, are a monument to his industry, perseverance and thrift.

He got ahead, and so can we, if we follow his example.
