

EARLIER MAILING OF OUTLOOK COMMENDED

Many expressions of approval have been heard concerning the earlier mailing hours of the Gresham Outlook, which has had the effect of getting the paper to its readers in many cases a day earlier, and with greater regularity. If there is delay in the delivery of the paper at any point this office would appreciate having it reported. Papers reaching the Portland postoffice in the early afternoons of Tuesdays and Fridays should be delivered to near-by localities the following day. The following letter from Joseph S. Brooks of Wasco, well known to many in this vicinity, expresses his appreciation of the change.

"I take this opportunity to express my hearty approval of your recent change in mailing hours for the Outlook. Before that it came in rather a haphazard way and I never knew when to expect it. Now my paper comes regularly on the day following publication, Saturdays and Wednesdays, and I always look for it at that time and am not disappointed."

Under the present plan the papers reach the Portland postoffice in time to be handled by the day force for distribution to the various routes out of that office the following morning, and to be placed on the morning trains out of the city.

The change does not make any difference in the delivery of papers to patrons on the routes from Gresham and Boring and points in northern Clackamas county, though those getting the Outlook directly from the postoffice are enabled to read them several hours earlier than heretofore, and the distribution comes at a more convenient time of day.

Mrs. Ella M. Potter, daughter of Mrs. S. I. Leland, is slowly recovering from a severe attack of pneumonia at her home on the Base Line road. Her daughter, Miss Rose Potter, who is teaching in the Cottrell school, is spending the week ends with her mother.

The four and a half acre tract on the west side of Main street almost directly across from the high school is being surveyed and platted into lots by the owner, J. N. Clamahan, who is superintending the surveying and grading of the lots, of which there will be about thirty, 50x100 feet in size. This will be known as the Minnie Powell addition to Gresham and was originally a part of the Dr. J. P. Powell donation land claim. When the tract is subdivided and the lots measured properly, they will be placed on the market for sale. K. C. Roberts had charge of the surveying of the tract.

Mrs. C. G. Sutherland has returned to her home in Seattle after spending two weeks with her mother, Mrs. E. M. Coons, of the Terry district.

Glen Davidson purchased on Wednesday through the Hessel Implement company of this place what is known as the "big six" Willys-Knight sedan. This is a machine somewhat larger than the new model 70 and but very few have been sold as yet in this vicinity.

W. L. Gorsage is laid up at his home with a form of inflammatory rheumatism which has afflicted both ankles. He expects to be back at his work in the postoffice soon.

H. J. Pulfer and family are moving today to Portland where they recently secured a grocery store at 37th and Division streets in exchange for their Gresham residence, now the property of C. I. Raker. Mr. Pulfer and Cecil will have charge of the store, assisted by two salesmen. Miss Letitia Pulfer is planning to board at the residence of Mrs. Fred Southard and continue her work in the Davidson store.

Mrs. Fietta Hibbert has returned from a four-day visit with her daughter, Mrs. W. A. Williams, at McMinnville.

Mrs. C. E. Rusher entertained a Portland friend, Mrs. William Horton, and the latter's daughter, Mrs. Claude Clutter, of Fresno, California, Wednesday.

C. N. Taylor and family have returned to their farm near Linnemann after spending the winter in Portland.

Prof. John La Due arrived today at the home of his brother-in-law, D. M. Cathey, from Los Angeles, California, where he has been teaching during the winter in the Junior College. He is on his way to his home in Greenville, Illinois, where he has been for many years a professor in Greenville College. He will spend a few days here and in Portland visiting with relatives and friends.

Because my calf became his cow;
I left my Dad, 'twas wrong of course,
Because my colt became his horse;
I left my Dad, to sow and reap,
Because my lamb became his sheep;
I dropped my hoe, and stuck my fork,
Because my pig became his pork;
The garden truck I made to grow,
Was his to sell and mine to hoe."

Why Another one did't

"With Dad and me it's half and half,
The cow I own was once his calf;
No town for mine—I will not bolt,
Because my horse was once his colt;
I'm going to stick right where I am,
Because my sheep was once his lamb;
I'll stay with Dad he gets my vote
Because my hog was once his shoat.
It's fifty-fifty with Dad and me,
A profit-sharing company."

Two Cars Lose Wheels.

Ted Karlen, who lives south of Hogan station, while rounding the corner at a stiff speed yesterday morning coming from Third street into Main on his way to high school, threw the right front wheel of his Buick touring car and sped across the street just in front of the Alexander residence. The most of the damage consisted of a broken spindle, a bent fender and running board.

Another wheel-throwing stunt occurred Tuesday noon in front of the Outlook office when Galen Fancher was proceeding southward in a Chevrolet coupe on his way home. In this case it was the left rear wheel, and the drop of the machine caused the axle to break.

Farm Fire Fighting.

Next in importance to buildings on a farm, is their protection from fire. The old-time farmer was repeatedly victimized by fire, for he did not foresee its occurrence, much less guard against it. Alert and keeping pace with the times—by use of the telephone, radio, and regular reading of newspapers and magazines—the present-day farmer is informed of the simple precautions necessary and the most efficient apparatus available, for the prevention and combating of fire.

The fire protection equipment on the farm should be selected on the basis of its reliability, capacity and ease of operation. Naturally, it should always be kept in places where most liable to be needed; and farm hands, of both sexes, ought to be instructed in its use. Intelligence and preparedness on the part of the farmer can reduce farm fire loss.

Certified planting of certified seed potatoes pays in Oregon, says G. R. Hyslop, agronomist at the experiment station, because they usually make a larger yield. Although the merits of certified seed are pronounced, many growers hesitate to use it because they fear that they will not be able to produce certified stock. The total supply of certified seed in the United States is small.
