

LIVESTOCK CLUBS GROW IN INTEREST IN COUNTY

Livestock work is growing rapidly according to reports from the office of County Club Agent W. D. Kinder. An enthusiastic meeting was held at the Victory schoolhouse on the evening of April 19, when boys and girls interested in dairy and pig club work were present besides a large number of parents. L. J. Allen, livestock leader of the state, gave a splendid talk on calf and pig club work in general, discussing feeds, management and accurate record keeping. Mr. Kinder gave helpful instructions in the filling and filling of the records and reports. The communities of Fairview, Troutdale, Lusted, Orient, Victory and Powell Valley were represented at the gathering and the older ones present showed their interest and willingness to cooperate with the boys and girls in their efforts. Miss Lucy Case, nutrition specialist, will be in the county April 23 to work with the leaders of the growth and health clubs. A growing interest is being shown in this club and a very marked difference in the individuals who are carrying out full instructions in diets, exercise and other points is noticeable. Mrs. B. W. Thorne has just completed her first 100 per cent club in the county for 1926. She has worked hard with her cooking club and has put over a fine piece of work, according to Mr. Kinder. The club consisted of 15 members, Pearl Yandell, Lois Kelly, Laura Todd, Edith Morgan, Katherine Dietl, Jean Elkington, Jean Inglis, Roberta Kidder, Nellie Johnson, Alice Shelley, Marjorie Aylsworth, Emma Doryland, Juanita Adams, Elizabeth Blonn and Charlotte Johnson. The club has raised funds sufficient to send a delegate to summer school at Corvallis, Pearl Yandell having been selected to make the trip.

The weather has been ideal all spring and the farmers all over eastern Multnomah county have an early start with seeding and planting which will be to their advantage if it is a dry summer as is being predicted. The early cauliflower is looking splendid and the growers are anticipating an early harvest.
