SPRINGDALE MAN WEDS MISS MARGARET JONAS

In the presence of 40 guests who assembled at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Jonas at Fairview Tuesday afternoon, June 1, the Rev. E. R. D. Hollensted, pastor of the Smith Memorial Presbyterian church, spoke the solemn words which united for life a popular young couple of the vicinity, Burton H. Chamberlain, of Springdale, and Miss Margaret Jonas, of Fairview. The bride presented a charming picture in a dress of white crepe de chine. Her veil of white embroidered net was caught with orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of sweet peas and Ophelia roses. Miss Emily Jonas attended her sister as bridesmaid and wore shell pink satin trimmed with gold lace and carried a bouquet of sweet peas of pastel shades. The bridegroom was attended by Arthur Chamberlain as best man.

The Jonas residence was handsomely decorated in white lilies and blue delphiniums. The bride entered the room on the arm of her father to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march played by Mrs. A. L. Stone. Two tiny flower girls dressed in pink preceded the bride and the ceremony was performed beneath a beautiful white bell of sweet peas and roses. Preceding the ceremony Mrs. L. A. Harlow, of Troutdale, sang "O Promise Me." Many fine gifts were received by the bridal couple, including china and silverware, also the bride made appropriate gifts to her bridesmaid and the little flower girls. A luncheon was served at the conclusion of the ceremony and Mr. and Mrs. Chamberlain soon departed on a short wedding trip, after which they will reside at Springdale in a new home which the groom recently erected on his farm acreage at that place. The bride was a former stenographer in the county clerk's office in Portland and is a girl of winning personality and with many friends.

MEN and MONKEYS

Rudyard Kipling says that but for one fault the monkeys could rule the forest. Had they the power of continuous effort and cooperation they could make the jungle a monkey paradise.

Many men have the same weakness. They cannot organize themselves and exert continuous effort along a chosen line. As a result they are often lost in a financial jungle.

The man who organizes his affairs—sets aside a definite amount for savings, and sticks—can become master of his own destiny.

"A man without a purpose is like a ship without a rudder."—Caryle.
