LEGISLATION OR EDUCATION.

T. H. Russell, head of the Clean Language League of America, is quoted as saying, in effect, that, "If we can't stop loose language by education we'll do it by legislation."

It is to be hoped that Mr. Russell was misquoted. It would be much better if he had said, "We can't stop loose language by legislation but we can do it by education."

Abolishing of profanity by statute would be utterly impossible. No one will deny that there is too much dirty language, but the language reformers will never legislate it off the tongues. However, a movement to tell the people about the viciousness of it, more than likely would have a good effect.

TWO BILLIONS FOR "RAINY DAY"

Who says we're "extravagant Americans."

That idea, that myth, was exploded the other day when the United States treasury revealed that despite this age of automobiles, radios, flappers and cake-eaters, Mr. and Mrs. Average Citizen saved two billions of dollars more in 1925 than they did in 1924.

Savings bank accounts increased that much!

This tremendous jump in savings—money in the bank—despite the wave of fake promotion, the follies and follies of femininity, the come-on method of salesmanship and supposed tendency of living beyond income.

It proves two points: That America is in rather prosperous condition and that the teaching of thrift, inaugurated years ago and intensified during and since the war, is beginning to get real results.

When the savings accounts of Americans increase two billions in one year, we can't believe there's much ground for calling us "extravagant."

THE U. OF O.

It is to be regretted and deplored that the new president of the University, Dr. Arnold B. Hall, from whom we had been led to expect so much, made the serious break or blunder, attributed to him in a speech at Iowa City, Iowa, that local opinion should supplant the 18th amendment.

Neither does his explanation palliate; but only makes the error more glaring. If local opinion is to be one of our high ideals, let's give those of the southern states, slavery; give Utah polygamy; give Wisconsin and Pennsylvania the saloons, as well as other states, who might probably muster a majority of votes for it; and any community of socialist or Bolsheviks, their form of government. Local opinion has been thoroughly tried and it is most strange that a man of the doctor's stamp does not know that it was proven a failure. We had dry states and wet states and state borders led to much more difficulty and crime than our borders since prohibition became national. The doctor's error will make his work in Oregon very much more difficult for him, and of less value to the student and the taxpayer.—The Benton Independent.

Dangers of the Common Drinking Cup.

Now that the warm months are upon us and bodily and solar heat produce within us an exceptional craving for water and other drinks, it is well to recall the fact that there may be danger in satisfying this healthy thirst unless care is exercised in doing so.

It is probably no exaggeration to say that every day there are in the United States on an average of a million persons who suffer or are recovered from a communicable disease of some kind. Among the most prevalent and the most damaging of these ailments are the so-called respiratory diseases. Practically all contagious diseases are conveyed by the secretions of the nose and mouth and, consequently by the common drinking cup.

Included in these groups are tuberculosis, pneumonia, influenza, diphtheria, scarlet fever, measles, whooping-cough, cerebro-spinal meningitis, poliomyelitis, smallpox, chickenpox, mumps, German measles, septic sore throat, and, last but not least, the common cold. Some of these diseases may be conveyed in some other way, but certainly all of them may be conveyed by the secretions which escape from the body through the nose and mouth. They may be spread to articles that are carried to the mouth such as glasses, cups, spoons, towels, handkerchiefs, and pencils when such articles are used in common with other persons. If one drinks from a glass that reaches him unsterilized from previous use by persons whose mouth or lips contain the germs of any of these diseases, he exposes himself to the danger of contracting them. This danger has long been recognized by the sanitarians of the country and it was mainly from their insistence that the first effort was made to combat the continual danger from this source of infection.

The Oregon State Board of Health was the earliest of the state boards to adopt rules and regulations against the common cup and the common towel, and similar measures have since been placed on the statute books of 45 other states.

Insofar as legislative action can protect, with the exception of two states, the public is safe against common drinking cups. However, and this is the most difficult factor public health authorities have had to face, the people of the communities for whom these safeguards have been devised, at all times fail to support the laws by failing to comply with them individually, and by failing to insist on their enforcement.

SPECIAL PROGRAM PRESENTS MANY ACTS

Donald Confrey and Eleanor Winders.

A special dance and 7-act vaudeville performance have been announced for Wednesday evening, July 14, at the Rhododendron dance hall, which is being operated by Donald Confrey and Jack Dowsett, Gresham boys. The affair is for the aid of the forest ranger and his wife who recently lost all their personal belongings in a fire which destroyed the building used as a ranger cabin at Rhododendron. Valuable decorations and papers pertaining to overseas service, souvenirs, antiques, furniture, Oriental rugs and clothing were among the things which were lost in the fire.

The use of the hall for the program is being donated by Confrey and Dowsett, and the music by Kinder's five-piece orchestra. Popular entertainers and artists from Portland are offering their services for the occasion. These include Blanch Wiley in comedy song, who has become a favorite with radio fans; Lockrich and Angel in Apache dance and Rollin Call in songs and Eleanor Winders in bowery song and dance. By popular demand Donald Confrey and Eleanor Winders will dance the Argentine tango.

responsibility in this matter; a responsibility to himself and to his fellows. It is the duty of everyone who drinks to find out whether the receptacle from which he drinks is safe, and if not, to demand one that is. Sanitary conditions of any nature should be immediately reported to the local health authorities.

COOS BAY CITIES WILL ENTERTAIN LEGION

With all of the attractions of the Pacific coast beaches at their disposal as well as the hospitality for which the Coos Bay district is noted, delegates to the state Legion convention, August 5, 6 and 7, on Coos Bay have a busy program outlined for them, according to announcement of the convention commission recently received.

This commission, made up of representatives of North Bend and Marshfield Legion posts has raised a fund of $5000 for entertainment purposes, and delegates and their families will be guests of the posts as far as entertainment is concerned.

Drum corps contests, bathing beauty contests, free sea-food dinner, trips to U. S. navy destroyers in Coos Bay harbor, trips to the beaches and many other free attractions have been arranged by the commission.

It is expected that fully 2500 persons will be in attendance at this convention, which is unique for the reason that it is the first time that two cities have combined to entertain the American Legion, Legion auxiliary and 40 and 8 of Oregon.

Special rates on railroad and bus lines are assured for the event and some Columbia river posts have discussed chartering a vessel to travel on and live on while in port. A housing committee is already at work and with the completion of a new 100-room concrete hotel, no difficulties are expected to be encountered in handling the delegates. Special automobile camps reserved for veterans are planned.

J. V. Cogswell, who is in charge of the sale of the five-year tickets for the Multnomah county fair, reports gratifying success in Portland. Many inquiries for the tickets come from Gresham and vicinity and Mr. Cogswell wishes it to be known that they may be obtained from the county club agent, W. D. Kinder, and from various business houses in Gresham.

Where much cooking is done on a gas stove it would be wise to buy a sheet iron 12 inches by 10 inches and use it over the small burner. It is possible to keep three or even four large saucapans boiling at once by resting them upon the corners of the iron after bringing them to a boil.
