

Huge Check to 'Check' Suffering.
 What is believed to be the largest check ever written in the history of banking is being carried to the Near East by Tom Swayze of Tacoma, when he sailed from New York on July 7 as American Golden Rule Ambassador to the Near East. The check is nearly four feet long, is for $100, and will enable Swayze to go into one of the refugee camps of the Near East and take a child into an orphanage where its care will be guaranteed for a year.
 In addition to the check, Swayze carries with him similar commissions from many organizations including authority from his Alma Mater, the college of Puget Sound, Tacoma, and also from Willamette University, Salem, to endow some worthwhile young man or woman with a scholarship in an American university in the Near East. By others he has been commissioned to take children from refugee camps and place them in orphanages and to guarantee their support.

"I shall be glad to bring the photographs and stories of children for anyone who will guarantee the children's support for a year or more if he will communicate with me through the Near East Relief offices in Seattle or Portland," writes Swayze.
 Swayze wins the distinction of being Golden Rule Ambassador to the Near East through being chosen by the people of Tacoma, the Golden Rule city of America, as their representative. Cleveland H. Dodge, the New York philanthropist offers each year to send to the Near East a representative of that city which makes the best observance of international Golden Rule Sunday.
 Swayze saw service in the World War in the 110th Engineers, is the district secretary of the Gyro clubs of Oregon, Washington, and British Columbia, and former president of the Epworth League Tacoma district.

NEWSPAPERS ARE PUBLIC SERVANTS.
 Classing the daily newspapers and the public service corporations as "brothers under the skin," because both are public utilities serving the American people with an essential and permanent daily service, W. P. Strandborg, of Portland, Oregon, says:
 "Of the two it would be unfair to say which is the most indispensable. The newspapers have a daily circulation of 25,000,000, while the major utilities, light, power, gas and telephone, have contact relations with about 35,000,000 customers.
 "One thing is sure. It would be a monumental catastrophe if either public utilities or the daily newspaper should discontinue service for a single day. Both have become a vital part in the progress of modern civilization and society."
 Last year, it is estimated, public utilities spent approximately $25,000,000 for advertising, of which 63 per cent was used in the daily newspapers.

ROOMS WANTED.
 Already rooms, furnished rooms, rooms and board, are being sought by concessionaires, horsemen and helpers at the fair.
 Next week, and the week following the demand will be greater.
 Who has accommodations to offer?
 W. J. Todd, the barber, offers rooms to a few transients but says he is at present filled up. He naturally receives lots of enquiries and offers to refer such to those who have accommodations if they will let him know. Phone 261.
 Many enquiries come to the Outlook office also. The Outlook will be glad to cooperate in this matter if it can be of service.
 A response to these suggestions will help to locate many in Gresham during the fair time who would otherwise have to go to Portland.
