

GRESHAM OUTLOOK

Published every Tuesday and Friday at Gresham, Oregon, by the Outlook Publishing Co., H. L. St. Clair, Editor and Manager.

One year, $1.50, six months, 85c, three months, 50c, single copies, 10c. Combination rates with all the Portland Dailies.

ADVERTISING Rates reasonable. Our representative will call.

Entered as second-class matter March 3, 1911, at the Postoffice at Gresham, Oregon, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Only one more day in which to visit the state fair at Salem.

A man named Buzzard, 74 years old, was recently arrested in Pennsylvania for chicken stealing. He has spent half of his life behind the bars for the same offense. How could he help it with such a name.

A meteorologist in Mexico attributes the recent storms to atmospheric disturbances caused by the radio. Perhaps the same condition has something to do with the unrest of mind and uncertainty of conduct of people in this day.

Wm. G. McAdoo recently addressed the annual convention of the W. C. T. U. at Los Angeles and strongly defended prohibition. "There is but one choice," said he, "liberty under law and supremacy of the constitution now and forever."

Portland, according to reports, has received more genuine praise than usual for its indications of stability, attractiveness and charm of location and climate, from the bankers who have tarried to visit in the Rose City during the past few days while en route to their convention in Los Angeles. The women of the Women's Advertising club presented each visitor of the bankers' special trains with an Oregon field-grown rose. The impression was favorable and will be lasting.

The telephone "centrals," we are advised, will hereafter observe the practice of responding to a "number" with the expression "thank you." It may seem a little unnecessary since you are asking the service of them. At any rate it is an assurance that they will respond to your request cheerfully, and it is probably as appropriate as anything else they could say, for instance, "sure," "all right," "I've got you," "yours truly," etc. But the Outlook begs to suggest that it would be highly fitting and encouraging if the one calling would always say "please."

The editor of the Pacific Christian Advocate after speaking of the splendid publicity given the recent Oregon annual conference remarks that some of the headings were calculated to give a wrong impression. He says: "There was no excitement caused by the withdrawal of Rev. Guy Fitch Phelps, although he had tried to make some; nor by the withdrawal of F. M. Jasper. One of these men left Methodism because he felt it was too modern and the other because he believed it was not modern enough. The net impression left is that the church travels in the middle of the road and will continue to appeal to about 90 per cent of the public."

Without question this is a day of confusion and anxiety, for a time of peace. What with watching the course of momentous trials, one especially in which "a woman's name is at stake," noting the ever increasing death list from auto accidents, and trying to absorb something of truth from the clashing arguments of the various candidates, one cannot but feel weary and distracted when he tries to devote his mind to sober contemplation. If one neglects for a day the reading of the daily papers, those great purveyors of information, colored though it may sometimes be, he feels the loss. If he neglects them for a few days he has missed so much he can hardly expect to catch up in his knowledge of the course of events. And as to writing intelligently on the themes of the day that is well nigh impossible unless one has time to read, think, analyze and exercise discriminating thought and sound judgment.

ARE YOUR DREAM CASTLES IN DECAY?

There is a picturesqueness and stimulating philosophy in the following from the Outlook's correspondent who writes the newsy Arboleda items. She says:

"There is something strangely pathetic about a tumbled-down fence or broken steps, with a time-worn house in the background. They remind one of the shattered hopes of someone's past dreams and ambitions. It takes one back years and the imagination runs along many paths. Dreams are usually planned with enthusiasm, but sometimes that enthusiasm wanes and our castles slowly crumble and fall. Do your dream-castles resemble broken-down steps and lowered fences? Or do you keep that spark of enthusiasm aglow? The realization of our castles and dreams is entirely up to that power that lies within."

Notice to the Public. My wife, Hattie R. Otto, having left me, I will not hereafter be responsible for any debts which she may contract. A. B. Otto, Gresham, Rt. 1, Box 15.

Voters, Attention

On November 2 will be held a general election. All voters should be registered in order to avoid the swearing in of votes which, while possible, is rather inconvenient. The registration books will close tomorrow, Saturday night. J. Ross Brown is the registering officer in Gresham and can register any citizen who is eligible to vote. See him today or Saturday, if not already a registered voter. His office will be open Saturday evening from 7:30 to 9 o'clock.

Oregonian-Outlook Bargains Offered.

The annual bargain rate of the Oregonian will be in effect during October, when the terms will be $5 for the Daily and $7 for the Daily and Sunday Oregonian. In combination with the Outlook the rates will be $6 and $7.80 respectively.—Adv.

A sympathetic editorial writer means the fact that Jack Dempsey got nearly a million dollars for defending the world's heavyweight title against Tunney while Milton got only $70 for writing "Paradise Lost." But Arthur Brisbane points out that Milton probably would rather have written "Paradise Lost" for $70 than have tried to defeat any Tunney of his day for a million, and by the same reasoning from probabilities Lincoln would rather have written his Gettysburg speech for nothing than have attempted to fight either Dempsey or Tunney, if he had had the chance. Some things to some men are far more important than money or immediate fame.

The United States dominates the world of moving pictures. The fact is resented by some European nations because those pictures are wonderful educators and silent but efficient salesmen. The danger is seen in the spread of American ideas and customs. It is said that six of the Indian princes that share with Great Britain the taxation of their subjects have offered five million dollars to help displace American films. As Mr. Mellon said when someone offered him $70,000,000 cash for his oil interests, "That isn't enough." You can't displace moving pictures with money. It isn't a matter of dollars and cents. It might sound boastful if we were to say just what we think it is.

SOVIET IN CHINA.

Through the courtesy of Miss Edna Shoemaker, a missionary in China, the Outlook has had the opportunity to examine a copy of The China Press, published at Shanghai.

The date of the paper was August 15. It is printed in English for the English population and is probably the largest and best English paper in China. It is quite a modern looking sheet, too, with a pink sport section, automobile ads, etc.

The paper tells editorially of the unmistakable efforts of Soviet Russia to gain a foothold in China, taking advantage of the unsettled condition of the republic.

After speaking at length of the trouble accruing to Great Britain as a result of the latter's efforts to recognize the Soviet government the editorial pertinently says:

"The leopard cannot change his spots. No more can the Soviet government of Russia resist its natural and inherited impulse to engineer revolutionary movements abroad despite solemn promises undertaken to refrain from such action. Promises, however, have an empty connotation for the Soviet, just like the sanctity of international obligations which to the true Bolshevik are mere inconsequential trifles. One need not expect the Soviet to fulfil its promises to China any more than it has done in the case of Britain. The Soviet mode of operating seems to be to win first the confidence of the nation on which it has set its eyes, and after that to strike hard with all the resources at its disposal for the glory of Bolshevism, which, we suppose, is going to usher in a new heaven and a new earth."

"Conversion" will again be the topic of the sermon at the Free Methodist church Sunday morning at 11 o'clock when the second half of the subject will be discussed. The pastor, the Rev. L. A. Skuzie, extends an invitation to those who are dissatisfied, discouraged or in the dark to attend, as he feels they will find something helpful.

August G. Anderson Passes Away.

August Gustav Anderson, aged 73 years, a former resident of Powell Valley, died Tuesday, September 28, at the Oregon state hospital at Salem where he had been confined for the past three years. He was a native of Sweden. Two sons, Ed and Axel, survive, also two sisters, Mrs. Lena Sterling, of Siren, Wisconsin, and Mrs. Augusta Gustafson, of Ironwood, Michigan. The Rev. S. F. Pitts will preach the funeral sermon at the Swedish Mission church Saturday afternoon at 2 p. m. and interment will be made in Gresham cemetery.
