All Woodmen and friends of Multnomah Camp, Woodmen of the World, will be interested in the announcement of a Woodman Jubilee week, November 1 to 6, the main feature of which will be the "Pageant of the Woods."

This will be held in the new Woodman hall, the home of Multnomah Camp No. 77, at East Sixth and Alder streets.

James W. Evans, author and general director of the "Pageant of the Woods", is now in active charge and rehearsals are under way. Mr. Evans is completing his cast, and reports that some very fine talent has been secured in Portland for this show.

The "Pageant of the Woods" is being produced by Multnomah Camp 77, Woodmen of the World, and will be put on in their new building. The entire building will be turned over to a Woodman Jubilee week. There will be many other attractions, such as minstrel shows, slide shows, booths, etc. The "Pageant of the Woods" will be the main attraction. It has been written by Mr. Evans especially for this occasion and is typical of Woodcraft, with the different members of the cast representing different characters of the forest. This will make the entertainment very attractive to the members, their friends, and non-members as well, because of the illustrated principles of the society.
