Dressmaker Enjoys Large Patronage

Miss M. E. Baldwin, the proprietor of Elizabeth's Frock Shoppe, is pleased with her business which she has built up in her dressmaking establishment since coming to Gresham less than two years ago. She is kept busy all the time with the making of new garments and alterations.
In connection with the dressmaking shop Miss Baldwin assists Miss Eva Halsey with her line of millinery. Miss Halsey maintains a shop in the city and takes orders for millinery at her Gresham branch.
The dressmaking and millinery shop is located in the First State Bank building on First street opposite the telephone office.

Carl Dahl's Shop Is Old Reliable

Carl Dahl is to be found every day except Sunday at his old stand on Powell street repairing the footgear of the Gresham populace and incidentally keeping busy enough to stay out of mischief.
Mr. Dahl opened up his shoe shop in 1919 and since that time has gradually added to the machinery until he now has a modern and complete equipment including patching machine, finisher, stitcher, trimmer and cutter. He serves a wide area and is always reliable and accommodating. He carries a good line of custom made shoes and supplies. Fred Jennings is a capable assistant in the shop.

Christmas Trees Go In Carload Shipments

As Oregon is renowned for her roses, her scenery and her fruit, so is she likely to achieve distinction in another line,—as the land of the Christmas tree. Five carloads of Oregon fir trees were billed out of Gresham yesterday over the Portland Electric Power railway lines, two carloads consigned to Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, another to Dayton, Ohio, and the other two to California, one to Stockton and one to Oakland.
The trees were purchased and shipped by a Tacoma firm which had them cut about nine miles east of Gresham on the Bear Creek logging company land. They were loaded on the cars at Deep Creek on the Estacada line of the P. E. P. company and routed through the Gresham freight office.

About 800 bundles were loaded into each car, the number of trees varying in each bundle, anywhere from five to ten, depending on the size of the tree. This is the first time that shipment has been made of trees out of this locality in carload lots. For years many have moved out in truck loads, but so far have never been made a commercial venture to any extent. The Tacoma men were much pleased with the success and size of the shipment and are contemplating a similar move next year.

CHRISTMAS SEAL SHOWN IN TABLEAU

The 1926 Christmas seal suddenly came alive at Toledo, Oregon, last Saturday evening, according to a letter received Tuesday morning from Miss Corinne Pennington, Christmas seal chairman. When the curtain went up at one of the local motion picture houses, the three carol singers of the Christmas seal stood on the stage, one with a trumpet, one with a sistrum (old fashioned guitar) and the other with a shield emblazoned with the double-barred cross, the international symbol of the fight against tuberculosis. Three Toledo debutantes played these respective roles.

As the curtain rose, the notes of the trumpet sounded through the theater. The notes seemed to come from the instrument at the lips of the Christmas seal trumpeter, but in reality an army bugler who learned his technique in the World War blew the notes from his station behind the curtain. The Christmas seal came alive and sang a snappy little song about Christmas seals. This was followed by other Christmas music and the program closed with "Silent Night, Holy Night" sung by the shield-bearer of the living seal. The performance was repeated at the theater Sunday evening and at the grammar school assembly on Monday.

More Value than the Price Suggests

In the year just drawing to a close the price of Dodge Brothers Motor Cars was materially lowered.

Yet during this period more important improvements were incorporated than in any year in Dodge Brothers history. Advances were made in engineering and body designs. The cars possess a greater degree of smoothness, silence and ease. They are more comfortable, more beautiful. But now, more than ever before, there is far more value than the price suggests.
