HEALTH AND MATTRESSES.
The health authorities of the state call attention to the law relating to renovation and sale of mattresses, which was amended by the last legislature to include over-stuffed furniture. The law is designed to protect the public from infection that might be transmitted by second-hand or unsanitary articles.

How can a purchaser know whether the material is clean on the inside of the mattress? Appearances may point toward cleanliness, yet the practice of unscrupulous dealers and manufacturers who cover used material with fresh ticks and sell the resulting product as new, naturally raises the question.

Old, discarded mattresses frequently form a considerable part of business of junk dealers. They dispose of such material to a mattress renovating plant where covers are removed, the contents reworked and new covers used. In many of these establishments no attempt is made at sterilization of this material which may have been discarded from hospitals or other places where communicable diseases existed. They are then sold to the unsuspecting purchaser as new mattresses.

The law imposes a penalty on any person selling or offering to sell unsterilized remade bedding material. All such articles must be labeled with a tag obtained from the state board of health which certifies that the required health conditions have been fully met.

SPRING FEVER VANISHING.
Scarcely anyone in Oregon, especially in western Oregon, is subject to that miserable "disease" called spring fever. It has been common in the east, at least that's the recollection of our early life spent in Illinois and Minnesota.

Spring "bitters" was prescribed. Or was it sulphur and molasses, or sassafras tea?
Spring fever is among our vanishing ailments. It is said that tired, run-down feeling that came on with the break-up of winter was due principally to the absence of green vegetables and fresh fruits from the winter diet.

Almost universally now in this country these health-building foods are available at reasonable prices the year around and that accounts for the vanishing of spring fever and many other physical and mental ailments.

FAMILY RECREATION.
A writer in the Woman's Home Companion, writing on How to Have Better Times in the Family; suggests that one of the greatest needs is for the family to have some fun together. Often each person has his or her occupations and recreations but nothing in which all can heartily join. This is a suggestion it would be well to pass along and discuss in the family circle.

"God gave us our relatives, but we can choose our friends," quotes this writer, and adds that if her brothers and sisters were not members of the same clan she believes they would be glad to choose each other as friends.

LIP READING CLUB GIVES BANQUET

Miss Lena Wright, a member of the Lip Reading club of Portland, and her mother, Mrs. Annie Wright, attended an interesting banquet given in Portland last Tuesday night, in honor of Miss Martha E. Bruhn, founder and principal of the Muller-Walle School of Lip Reading of Boston.

The visit of Miss Bruhn to Portland was a great incentive to the Lip Reading club, which was formed in March, and which now has more than 40 members. The objects of this club are stated as follows: to assist the deaf and hard of hearing to procure and retain employment; to promote widespread interest in the study of lip reading; to create a center for the hard of hearing where social intercourse and opportunity for mental inspiration and helpfulness may be encouraged and provided; to be an active instrument of helpfulness to the deafened in every way.

Practice in lip reading classes are held under the supervision of the club at the Portland main library every Thursday from 3 to 4:30 and every Monday evening from 8 to 9. This is entirely free.

1. Bananas yield the most human food to the acre for a given amount of labor. Three hundred bunches a year to the acre is counted a good crop. The plant is planted only about once in ten years and the ground rarely cultivated.

2. The bearings for the pinions of the standard American watch are... made of sapphires or rubies, the former a stone not very precious, the latter precious only when of perfect quality. The jewels of cheap watches are made of glass. Some superior English watches have diamond jewels.

3. During the World War it is reported that there were 3000 men convicted of desertion of which 24 were condemned to be shot, but no offender was finally executed.

4. The king of England's personal name is George Windsor. Before the World War the family name was Guelph, but that being a German name the name was changed to Windsor, which is the English residence of the royal family.

5. During the administration of President Polk, 1848, the United States offered Spain $100,000,000 for Cuba but the offer was declined.

6. Loons are said to be the deepest diving birds. They have been found 40 feet under water caught on hooks baited for lake trout.

7. The "Barebones" parliament was an English parliament called by Cromwell, June 1653 to succeed the "Rump" parliament, which he had dissolved. It consisted of 140 "persons fearing God and of approved fidelity and honesty", all nominated by himself and his staff. The name came from a prominent and talkative member by the name of Praisegod Barebones, a leather merchant of London.

8. The widow's mite was the smallest Jewish coin in circulation in Jerusalem, made of copper and worth about one mill of our money. It was coined in the first century before Christ and specimens are still extant.
