RODEO FEATURES WILL BE BEST EVER PRESENTED AT GRESHAM

Dorothy Morrell Champion Lady Bucking Horse Rider and Movie Star.

Manville and Robbins

Dorothy Morrell

Two of the Rodeo Stars in Action

Let 'er go! Whoop! The Texas Mack rodeo outfit, with 25 bucking horses, 15 wild horses and 20 head of wild steers, and 20 to 25 cowboys and cowgirls, promises to be the best wild west show ever presented to the grandstand and bleachers at the Multnomah county fair opening today.

Among those associated under the above name are "Skeeter Bill" Robbins, Dorothy Morrell (Mrs. Robbins), Morris Manville and Johnnie Drayer. Assisting them are the following well known cowboys: Shamko Red, Curly Jones, George Nelson, Elmer Towell, Jim Dove, Tex Covey, The Parker Sisters, and many others.

some new tricks in rope spinning never before seen here. One will be the throwing of a 100-foot rope from horseback, roping horses and riders in various ways.

Dorothy Morrell is the wife of Mr. Robbins and she is a champion bucking horse rider. It is unusual for a lady to do the bucking act but she will show some thrills in riding real buckers.

Mrs. Manville is also a rider of distinction and will do her stuff. The Parker Sisters of Calgary, Canada, are experienced cowgirls. Among their wild horses is a beautiful black, named Julius Meier. No one has ever ridden him though many have tried and will try again.

A very unusual feature will be the bulldozing of a wild steer with an auto instead of a horse by Skeeter Bill Robbins, assisted by Johnnie Drayer.

Meet Your Favorite Horse

All who admire beautiful, trained, intelligent horses (and who does not) will be given the opportunity at this fair to gratify their pleasure in this line.

When one begins an acquaintance with his fellows the first thing he wants to know is the name. So with liking horses. Know the horse by name.

In order to help our readers get acquainted with the horses which will show their attainments of speed, jumping or acting, at the fair, the Outlook gives the full list, name, established record where known, and owner.

FAIR NOTES

The new building which houses the boys' and girls' club work is sharing honors with the domestic science and art department. Here the beautiful pieces of handwork are shown to advantage as the new setting is one of newness and cleanliness. This exhibit is under the direction of Mrs. Annie Easton and Mrs. B. L. Walrad.

The judging of pet stock will begin tomorrow at 10 a. m. Mrs. Alice Lehman is the efficient superintendent of the rabbit division. The beautiful white bunnies with pink eyes are rapidly becoming adjusted to their new surroundings which will be their home for the coming week and when interviewed early this morning were contented munching grass and raw carrots. This department is being conducted under the auspices of the Oregon branch of the American Rabbit & Cavy Breeders' association. Members of this association will hold their annual picnic at the home of Harry G. Smith at Oak Grove tomorrow evening. This affair will be held in honor of the rabbit judge J. S. Hickford, who arrived this morning from Victoria, B. C.

"Dad" Denoyer, the ice cream sandwich man, is back at his old stand in the main pavilion. He presents a familiar figure to all fair goers, both at the Multnomah county fair and the state fair at Salem.

Educated Horses on Night Program

J. A. Banks and R. L. Baze, of Tappanish, Wash., will have a large part on the night fair program with their string of educated horses. In their string are two pair of Roman riders and two trios of chariot racers which will be presented in competition. Also three trick horses and three runners.

The trick horses are well trained and will delight all who are interested in seeing horses perform. There will be plenty of excitement in the Roman riding and the chariot races.

One of the features will be the riding of six-year-old "Bunch" Banks and her brother Otis, 14, on Dan, a trick horse.

Mr. Banks says Dan is one of his finest trick horses and is very capable and reliable. He likes children and will do most anything they want him to do.

Following this fair Messrs. Banks and Baze will show at Ellensburg, Yakima, Pendleton and other fairs and rodeos.

The art department, which will occupy the same quarters as last year in the north end of the agricultural building, is rapidly getting its exhibits into place under the capable direction of Mrs. Edith Tozier Wethered of Portland, assisted by Miss Hilda Yanker, herself an artist of considerable ability and a student in the department of architecture at the University of Oregon. Mrs. Wethered, who has overseen the art salon on former occasions, is the first woman who ever served on the county fair board and the only woman who ever served on the state fair board. Among the prominent hangings on the wall is a life size painting of ex-Governor Walter Pierce, done in oils by Capt. E. W. Moore. This is attracting much favorable comment.

Sergeant J. Markowitz of the marine corps recruiting station, Portland, will be on the fair grounds to give any information concerning the marine corps. Only a limited number can be accepted for enlistment but he would like to meet any desiring to enlist, or word can be left with the postmaster. The Portland office address is 122 Film Exchange building, 12th and Gilsan street.

The harness races, scheduled for the afternoons will be faster than in former years, due to the elimination of the sharp curve from the track. Several eastern horses are on hand and the best of the western trotters and pacers have gathered to meet them. More than 100 horses will compete in the various races. Stakes aggregating $6100 are being offered.

Attention is once more called to the fact that registration in the baby clinic may be made any day during the week at the booth exhibiting prizes at the north end of the old pavilion.

Judging of the agricultural and livestock exhibits will be held all day Tuesday in an effort to have every blue ribbon in place by Wednesday morning.

The six-in-hand team competition, always a popular feature of the county fair, will be held each afternoon. The Damascus Dairy team and the A. C. Ruby team, both former winners, are engaged again and will meet the Burge team from Albany.

The Banks children, "Bunch" aged 6, and her brother Otis, 14, are an exceptionally clever pair. They perform on the back of their pet horse "Dan." They do the standing-up ride together as well as singly while Otis makes a standing-up ride, backward, something that very few cowboys can successfully do.

Coming Events

Saturday, August 13.—O. A. C. picnic at the Oaks. August 15.—Zion Evangelical picnic at Grant's park. Sept. 20 to Oct. 1.—State fair at Salem.

PROMINENT FAIRVIEW CITIZEN PASSES AWAY

Homar C. Campbell, 73, pioneer contractor and community builder, died July 27 at Dr. Robert Coffey's surgical hospital. Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the First Presbyterian church, Portland, and burial in Riverview cemetery. Those attending from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Priest of Berkeley, California, Miss Cella Swiger of Oakland and a niece, Mrs. Mary C. Emery of San Francisco.

Mr. Campbell in years past was one of Portland's foremost contractors, having in 1887 taken active charge of the construction of the Morrison bridge, the first span across the Willamette. He built the first steam suburban line from Portland and had charge of the construction of the first electric line in the city. He was vice president and manager of the city and suburban railway until its merger with the Portland Electric Power company in 1905.

Mr. Campbell was born near New Lexington, Ohio, and was educated at Northwestern Normal college, Ada, Ohio. He came to Portland in 1886 and became associated with Charles F. Swiger in the Pacific Bridge company. He was a member of the Portland school board from 1907 until 1914 always maintaining a strong interest in educational affairs. Mr. Campbell was an active member of the Waverly Country club, prior to his failing health about five years ago. He was also a Mason and a member of the University club. His hobby was the raising of pure bred livestock at his Sun Dial ranch near his country home at Fairview.

Surviving Mr. Campbell are his widow, Mary Fossett Campbell, ex-daughter of women at Oregon Agricultural college, two sisters, Mrs. Ida Priest, Berkeley, Calif., and Mrs. Alice Zimmerman, Fresno, California, and a brother C. D. Campbell, Jamestown, Pennsylvania. Lester Campbell of Fairview is a nephew.

BLACKBERRY HARVEST IS NOW UNDER WAY

Blackberry harvest is now under way in the fields in this vicinity. A meeting was held at the cannery last Saturday by the growers to study the details of how to best handle the berries to get the best results, when the following conclusions were reached and instructions sent to all the growers:

"Pick over ripe berries in cannery crates for barreling. Pick in double-deck shipping crates only berries that are first class and not very ripe. Keep crates with fully ripe berries in separate stacks and mark on both ends of the crate above the hand hole F. R. and your scale number, also put your scale number on all shipping crates. These crates that are marked F. R. for fully ripe will be used in local shipments as they will not carry in the long haul in eastern shipments. This is very important. Also be sure to fill the hallowcks evenly and fill the crates to not less than 15 lbs. of berries. This is also very important and it was also decided to do the picking in the cool of the day, starting at 4:30 a. m. and if possible get the berries all picked by noon and delivered as soon as possible to the cannery. By doing this the berries will be cool and this will help them to keep longer in shipping.

"Be sure to keep the berries in the shade as soon as picked as they turn red if exposed to the sun. Use only four nails in a cover, one in each corner of the cover. Be sure to put the cleats on the outside. Handle very carefully, and if you follow these instructions you will have done your part towards making a success of the shipping, and you will get a better price for your berries.

Telephone Company Plans Improvements

Charles Hall, president of the Oregon Telephone company; Earl W. Gates, general manager; and George Bauman, plant superintendent, all of the general offices at Marshfield, Oregon, were in Gresham Friday inspecting the fine new $20,000 building and making plans for the removal of the local office to the new location. The Oregon Telephone company has outlined a program of extensions and betterments for Gresham and vicinity, says Mr. Hall, which will place the Gresham exchange second to none in the state in point of modern equipment and plant. The building, which is about completed, is designed especially for telephone work. The new central office equipment to be installed will be of the semi-automatic type and will be so planned that it will take care of the development in this territory over a period of years.

The officials believe that this section will experience a healthy, continuous growth, and in order to be in a position to care for this development most economically and to the best advantage, a commercial survey is under way to determine the telephone growth that can be expected over a period of many years. To properly carry out this commercial study, it will be necessary to get the present development in population, the number and size of families and considerable other details that will enable them to make an accurate forecast of future requirements. From information gained in this study the new switchboard and new outside plant will be engineered.

All heavy open wire leads will be replaced by cable construction, and a type of pole construction will be undertaken with a view to eliminating the enormous damage that has been experienced by the Gresham plant annually on account of disastrous sleet storms.

Another improvement that will be made necessary by the change in type of service will be the replacement of all present telephones by the new and more modern instruments.

The engineering and construction work necessary for these changes will require from eight to ten months time, and the ultimate cost will be approximately $100,000.
