

Mrs. Lena McGugin Chosen Queen Mother

An event long to be remembered was the picnic last Sunday in Robert Jonsrud's park on the Bluff road by the Pioneers and Early Settlers' society of Sandy and vicinity. It was estimated that 600 people from far and near were in attendance. The program began at 11:30 a. m. by all singing the national anthem. John H. Revenus, president of the organization, presided. Milton A. Miller of Portland spoke with eloquence on the spirit of the pioneers. Next came the crowning of the "Queen Mother," which honor was accorded Mrs. Lena McGugin, one of the oldest and most beloved of the early settlers of this vicinity. At 1 o'clock the sumptuous picnic dinner was served, cafeteria style, and old-timers who had not met for 40 or 50 years had a glorious time exchanging reminiscences.

At the afternoon session, Geo. H. Himes, curator of the Oregon Historical society, gave an interesting talk which centered around relics which he displayed from pioneer days. Next Judge Harvey Cross, the oldest living teacher in the first log schoolhouse near Sandy entertained the crowd by humorous and pathetic stories of the early days. C. T. Dickinson led in a pioneer song of his own composition, and the Rev. Troy Shelley sang in his own words the story of "Laurel Hill." J. O. Stearns, vice president of the Oregon Historical society also spoke briefly. All agreed it was a most enjoyable occasion and that they wouldn't have missed it for worlds. The next meeting of the society will be held the last Sunday in January of next year.

Lloyd Baker Trip to Detroit

Lloyd Baker, a salesman for the Walter W. Metzger Buick and Chevrolet agencies, has won the coveted honor of a trip to Detroit, Michigan, where he will be shown through the Chevrolet factory and a week spent in taking advanced salesmanship courses with other salesmanship courses with other likewise qualified.

In the national Chevrolet organization each salesman is credited with 20 points for each new car sold, and ten points for each used car sold during the current year. When a salesman receives credits to total the amount of 72 new Chevrolets, he automatically becomes a member of the "72" car club. Mr. Baker had received 1650 total points at the last of June of this year.

A membership in this club entitles one to a bronze pin made in the shape of a wreath with the Chevrolet emblem and the words "72" on it in raised figures. It also entitles the holder to the trip through the factory. The fortunate members travel to Detroit in a special train with the expenses paid by the Chevrolet Motor company. In addition to courses in salesmanship they inspect the factory from one end to the other to better acquaint them with the manufacture of Chevrolet cars and trucks. If this honor is won two consecutive years, the salesman receives a diamond pin of the same design as the bronze pin.

The zone of which the Walter W. Metzger agency is a part, consists of all Chevrolet agencies in Multnomah county and the city of Vancouver, Washington, with a total of approximately 250 salesmen. In this zone there have been but seven salesmen who have won this honor, six of them being from the Fields Motor company of Portland and one from the Metzger agency at Gresham.

This is the second honor Mr. Baker has won during the year. Earlier, during a salesman's contest, he was presented with a 21-jewel Elgin watch.

Berry Harvest Is All Summer Job

It is interesting to notice how the various kinds of berries follow one another in their ripening so closely that there is no breathing spell or vacation opportunity for the grower who elects to grow them all, from early May to October, according to Manager D. E. Towle of the Berry Growers Packing company, but the grower does not complain if the crop is good and the price is fair. Strawberries are the first to ripen, and before this harvest is over that of Logan and raspberries overlap, to be followed by the Lawton and Himalaya and the evergreen blackberries in succession.

This year promises to go on record as a lean one because of the low level of prices and the slow buying attitude on the part of the trade. This is accounted for partly by last year's abundant yields of all kinds of fruit, which accumulated a surplus in nearly all lines, and partly by a state of mind on the part of the buyers that caused them to think that they could buy cheaper later in the season.

This has worked an extreme hardship on the growers and canners, who usually have advance sales to fill which enables them to easily finance their business. In some cases the lack of orders has resulted in short packs of canned fruits. A check in the Pacific northwest last week places this reduction at 45 per cent, or $90,000 cases of the seasonal fruits that have been packed so far this season. This is due to two causes, the slow market referred to, and a short crop of cherries, Logans and red raspberries, which has been supplemented by wholesale shipments from the Puyallup valley. These shipments are estimated at 250,000 crates or 320 cars, or over 2000 tons. The three associations of the Puyallup valley had two objects in view. One was to get cash for the berries while the prices ruled low, and the other to prevent the accumulation of a surplus as last year's experience in carrying a surplus of about 2000 tons had a depressing effect on the market during the year.

The Puyallup growers are entitled to much credit in making the sacrifice and taking low prices to get the berries out of the visible supply and directly into consumption. As a result, there will be a hope that next year there will be no surplus of either canned or barreled red raspberries to meet, a condition which was so depressing this year.

Morning worship at the Haley Baptist church will be in Swedish next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, following Sunday school, which will meet at 10. The Lord's Supper will be observed. FAIR NOTES

The Columbia Brick works has an attractive booth at the county fair in charge of W. M. Kipple of Portland, a member of the sales organization. The specialties of this plant, which is located about a mile south of Gresham at Hogan station, are hollow brick tiling for partitions and exterior walls, 3 to 10 inch drawn tile, rug face brick, mixed builders and common brick. The Columbia people also specialize on a 4x6 and a 4x8x12 tile for exterior building purposes. When laid, these tiles have the appearance of an oversize brick. Harry Kreitzer of Portland is the general manager of the plant and Franz Olbrich of Gresham the factory manager.

C. T. Evans, superintendent of the poultry division, is justly proud of his exhibit in the poultry building. Here are housed both the club exhibits and those of the open class. A novelty is the pair of ferrets which are on exhibition for the first time. They are warranted a sure rat killer. Two splendid cocks are on display by Joe Cordano.
