IT WORKED WELL.

Whether the result was entirely gratifying to all, or not, and whether the method pursued met with general approval, one thing is certain, the convention plan for nominating a republican successor to the late Maurice Crumpacker worked and it worked well.

As in any political affair, in which personal and partisan interests play a large part, there will be some who will express disappointment. But the method was wise and proper and the results should be satisfactory. In fact, the results are highly commendatory. Better that republicans should agree on one good nominee than scatter their votes over a field of six or eight or ten self-nominated candidates, each with his small coterie of friends and supporters. Now all can support the choice of the majority, nominated by delegates who are the elected and accredited representatives of their party, and feel reasonable assurance of republican success.

All the aspirants who presented themselves to the convention agreed to abide by the decision and support the one chosen.

There was noticeable good order and peace and harmony. There is no good reason why it should not be legal and proper to pursue such means to secure the best candidates for other offices.

THE THREE-A'S YOUR FRIEND.

One of the best friends the motorist has or can have is the American Automobile association, called for brevity the Three A's. Its branch in this state is the Oregon State Motor association, of which Joe Dunne is president and Geo. O. Brandenburg is secretary.

The head offices of the state association are in Portland and representatives are in every principal city in the state. The cost of membership is very nominal, only amounting to a dollar a month or less, but the value to the motorist of what the association has done and is doing amounts to hundreds of dollars if it can be computed in money values.

It has various departments, such as maps, road information, road signs, the assistance and protection of motorists and curbing of unlawful or annoying practices, etc., etc. It assists the state in its highway program.

The A.A.A., being a national organization, affords the same benefits to its members in any and all states.

With the little oval A.A.A. tag on the front of one's car and a membership card in one's pocket one can travel throughout the state or nation with a greater feeling of security. It is a badge of introduction and an evidence of interest and participation in the best things in motoring. Few are the motor trips that can be taken on which the A.A.A. badge will not save the motorist more than its cost.

The state motor association has offered $50 to the person giving information leading to the apprehension and conviction of hit-and-run, reckless and careless drivers. This reward has led to several convictions and is only one of its many services to the motoring public.

This recommendation is entirely gratuitous and arises from the writer's personal knowledge and experience of what the Oregon association is doing and what affiliation with it is worth.

This early rain is excellent for some purposes and means a fine, fruitful fall, but—just suppose this had been fair week.

A man should hear a little music, read a little poetry, and see a fine picture every day of his life, in order that worldly cares may not obliterate the sense of the beautiful which God has implanted in the human soul.—Goethe.

OREGON TELEPHONE CO.

A call has been issued for a commercial club meeting tonight which all business men and women are invited to attend. It will be held at the Oscarette. Light refreshments will be served at 8 and the business start immediately. These meetings are important as it gives an opportunity to consider and pass upon some matters of general importance to the business interests of the city which cannot well be decided or undertaken by each one acting individually. There is need in Gresham for united understanding and action and the commercial club affords this opportunity.

MORE BEDS NEEDED FOR T-B SUFFERERS

That public safety and the health of Oregon people requires the immediate provision of more hospital beds for tuberculosis patients is the official opinion of the board of directors of the Oregon Tuberculosis association, as expressed at a meeting of that body Thursday afternoon in Portland. The meeting, presided over by Leslie Butler, of Hood River, vice president of the association, took official action to authorize the president and secretary to lay before the Oregon State board of control the facts regarding the urgent need of proceeding with the construction of the eastern Oregon tuberculosis hospital which was authorized by a majority vote of 82,000 at the November election last year.

The waiting list for admission to the state tuberculosis hospital at Salem is almost twice as great as it was a year ago, according to Dr. G. C. Bellinger, superintendent of the hospital. At this time last year there were 42 patients waiting for admission to the state tuberculosis hospital, while on July 26th of this year there were 71 tuberculosis patients waiting their turn to be admitted. Of this number 31 are residents of Multnomah county. Other members of the board attending the board meeting were Dr. Marr Bisillon, Dr. F. D. Stricker, Dr. E. A. Pierce, Mr. T. J. Gary, Miss Mary Campbell, R. N.; Rev. W. G. Elliot, Mrs. S. M. Blumauer, Mrs. Mary Caulfield and Mrs. P. R. Whiteside.

OREGON HOLDS RECORD FOR SAVING BABIES

That Oregon still holds the distinction of being the safest state in which to be born is proven by the 1926 summary report of the U. S. Public Health Service, received recently at the office of the Oregon Tuberculosis association in Portland.

This report shows that Oregon saves 948 babies out of each 1000 living births. This is a higher ratio than is attained by any other state in the birth registration area. The nearest competitor is Washington, where 944 out of each 1000 are saved. Minnesota comes third with a ratio of 933 per 1000. The poorest showing is made by Arizona where only 880 babies are saved through the first year of life.

Portland has the highest ratio of baby saving of 11 cities over 100,000. This city saves 961 babies of each 1000 born alive. This is an improvement of seven lives per 1000 over the year 1925. Eleven small cities of the United States had rates more favorable than Portland's rate. The highest rate of saving shown by Benton Harbor, Michigan, where 973 out of each 1000 babies survived the first year. Of the other ten small cities with favorable rates, four were in California.

Keep Dirt from Milk.

While some of the dirt in milk comes from the air, the hands and clothing of the milker, and unclean strainers, pails, cans, and other utensils, the greater part drops from the body of the cows during milking. Straining removes the coarse particles of dirt but eliminates neither the fine dirt nor bacteria. The process improves the appearance of the milk but may give a false impression of the real cleanliness of the milk if the results are used as the sole guide.

Clean cloth and wire strainers, because of their coarse meshes, are unsatisfactory for straining milk. Absorbent cotton and filter cloth, which can be bought from drug stores or dairy supply houses at comparatively moderate cost, remove most of the sediment from milk.

Since the body of the cow is the chief source of dirt in milk she should be groomed frequently. In addition the flanks, udder, and adjacent belly should be cleaned with a moist cloth just before milking. These parts if kept clipped are much easier to clean.

The use of a hooded or small-top milking pail also aids materially in preventing dirt from falling into the milk.

Cream for whipping should be 24 hours old, and should be very cold. The bowl and beater should be chilled in order to have successful results. Add sugar and flavor when the desired whip is reached.
