Will it Pay to Paint your buildings

You may have asked yourself this question. When you stop to weigh the subject you no doubt decide that IT WOULD PAY BIG. Buildings left to the wear of the elements soon deteriorate and decay.

A well painted building is surely an asset. An unpainted building soon becomes a liability. Public Service ready-mixed house paint is a thoroughly dependable paint of proven durability.

The careful and precisely balanced formulae represent the most thorough experiments and weather tests. It is composed of white lead, zinc oxide and pure linseed oil. We do not believe a more durable paint can be made at any cost. Let us show you how little it will cost you to paint your buildings.

The Witch of Endor

King Saul once got in a tight place and called upon the Witch of Endor to reveal the future.

Today men sometimes consult fortune-tellers or other fakirs. But we don't need a Witch or a Gypsy to tell our future. Every man can tell his own fortune.

If we can save something regularly out of our present earnings—the future will be bright; if we can not—we are doomed.

A savings account has saved many a man from disaster—and has never yet injured any one.
