A Spider That Made History

Robert Bruce longed to free Scotland from English rule. He fought six hard battles—six times he was defeated and forced to flee for safety. After the sixth battle, while he lay hidden in a shed, he watched a spider spin its web. Six times it failed but at the seventh trial it succeeded.

Robert Bruce took heart from the spider—tried once more and he too succeeded!

A man may be down, but he is never out until he quits. Those who have failed repeatedly to build up a savings account should take heart from the frequent attempts of the spider—and try again. Start your account in this Bank, Now.
