

Seniors Select Play; Football Team Wins

Plans are already beginning to take shape for the rendering of the annual high school senior class play, an event in the social calendar which is always looked forward to with interest. This year the class and its play coach, Miss Marjorie Machen, feel that a wise selection has been made when "The Goose Hangs High" by Lewis Beach was chosen.

The play will be given on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, November 22 and 23, in the high school gymnasium, the characterization including a cast of 13. Tickets will be on sale in the Gresham Drug company, the Taber Pharmacy and the Davidson drug store, for a week beginning October 31. Beginning the 7th of November a canvass for ticket sales will be made. Leaving the tickets at the local drug stores, as has been planned, will afford all an opportunity of securing desirable seats.

The cast of the play is not yet complete, as many changes are usually made before rehearsals settle down for the finals. George McAllister has been named as business manager for the play, Goldie Bjur as advertising manager, and Hazel Bunting as property manager.

Gresham Union high school football team went to Beaverton Friday afternoon and defeated that team with a score of 12 to 7, although Beaverton was the heavier team. Forward passing was the undoing of the Beaverton eleven. All the Gresham boys played a fine game. Young Duncan is said to be starring and is thought will develop into a wonderful little player. Wilton played a fine game, making some moves that brought forth unusual comment.

Gresham will play Oregon City next Friday afternoon on Stapleton athletic field. The game will be called promptly at 3 o'clock. What the local boys need and desire most of all is the loyal support of the home folks. Patrons of the community have responded splendidly in the purchase of patron tickets, but the boys wish they would use those tickets and give them the encouragement of their presence on the field.

Clackamas County Fruit Growers Meet.

The fruit growers of Clackamas county are endeavoring to get together to form an association similar to the Gresham organizations, according to a report coming from Oregon City where a preliminary meeting was held yesterday. Arrangements were made to hold meetings in various parts of the county where berries are grown with the hope, it is said, of interesting the growers in such an organization.

PORTLAND SYMPHONY COMPLETING PLANS

The Portland Symphony society, which supports and maintains the concerts of the Portland Symphony orchestra, has now virtually completed the preparations for the coming symphony season. These preparations have been under way since the close of the last season, and have necessitated a great amount of detail work with regard to personnel, dates, and programs. A few matters were left to the final decision of Willem van Hoogstraten, who returned to the city Saturday morning to commence work for his third consecutive season as conductor of the Portland Symphony orchestra. Mr. van Hoogstraten will conduct his first concert of the season at the public auditorium Monday night, November 7. This event will be followed, five days later, with the first of the popular concerts to be given the following Saturday morning.

Mr. van Hoogstraten has been occupied, since his arrival, in arranging the final details for the coming season. The program for the opening concert will be announced soon.

The Portland Symphony orchestra will number between 70 and 80 performers the coming season, and provision has been made to augment the orchestra when the same is required by a particularly elaborate orchestration. The orchestra will be, as in the last season, in every respect complete. Through the acquisition of a number of instruments which, despite their rarity, are called for in many compositions, the Portland symphony attained the distinction of being the only fully equipped orchestra in the region—a distinction it continues to hold.

Several changes of personnel have been effected, most important of which is the appointment of Edward Hurlimann, talented Swiss violinist, to the concert-mastership and Bruno Coletti, first cellist.

The symphony society management is receiving subscriptions to the evening series of ten concerts and the morning series of seven concerts, until the opening of the season.

Mr. and Mrs. K. A. Miller entertained a group of Portland friends at dinner at the Hotel Portland on Friday evening in honor of Mrs. Esper S. Larsen of Boston, Massachusetts. Mrs. Larsen's husband, who is dean of the geological department of Harvard university, the dinner guests were his former associates.

Grade School Boy Injured in Crash

A lamentable accident occurred Friday afternoon in connection with the visit of the grade school football team to Estacada where a game had been scheduled with the latter. When near Eagle Creek a touring car driven by Ernest Winter, aged 15, and containing nine boys including the driver, left the road on rounding a curve and crashed into a telephone pole, injuring one boy in the party. George Dietl Jr., aged 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Dietl, sustained a fracture of the left wrist and an injury to the thumb which may yet necessitate its amputation.

The accident is attributed to the fact of loose gravel on the pavement. The Dietl boy was continually waving his arm outside the car, according to the report of others in the machine, and when the auto struck the pole his arm was caught between the car and the side of the pole. The top of the auto was completely wrecked. The boys were taken on to Estacada, but the Dietl lad was immediately returned to Gresham where his injuries were dressed in the office of a local surgeon.

It was understood by those in authority that the Winter lad was the possessor of a driving license, otherwise he would not have been placed in charge of an automobile for the day's trip.

CLUB MEMBERS TO MAKE MANY EXHIBITS

Approximately two head of Guernseys, eight head of Brown Swiss, nine head of Jerseys, 16 head of Holsteins and 11 head of hogs will be taken from the club work of Multnomah county to Pacific International Livestock exposition, which will begin the coming Saturday. The cattle and hogs will be taken to the exhibit grounds Saturday by Walrad & Wright and will be on display there for a week from that date.

Nearly 50 boys and girls of the county will participate in the big show in various ways. From nine to twelve potato exhibits will be given in connection with the land products show. The county team which was selected at the county fair for the northwest judging meet at the Pacific International will judge livestock on display on Monday, November 21. This team consists of Floyd Stafford, Harold Dahl and Lawrence Douthitt. These boys spent part of Saturday at Canby working on some well fitted show stock. The exhibit looks good to them and they are working hard to get as much quality into the exhibit as possible.

Multnomah county boys will compete strongly for the annual Hollywood Holstein calf award, which will be given by Harold Stinson, owner of the Hollywood farms in Washington. This calf will be awarded on the basis of 25 per cent showmanship, 25 per cent calf, 25 per cent herdsmanship and 25 per cent record book. This calf has been won twice by John Fleming.

BAIRDSDALE WOMAN CALLED BY DEATH

Mrs. Sarah Patterson, aged 67, passed away Sunday evening at the home of her son W. M. Bradley on the Base Line road, as the result of an operation which she recently underwent in Good Samaritan hospital. She came from Missouri in 1921 and settled at Bairdsdale station, living there three years, when she returned to Missouri. After a year in Missouri, she returned west where she has since resided.

The deceased is survived by her widower William C. Patterson; a daughter Mrs. Gertrude Holden of Portland; two sons Walter M. and Herbert Bradley; four brothers and a sister in Springfield, Missouri.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday, October 26, at 2 o'clock from the funeral home of R. W. Gable in Portland. Interment will be made in Rose City cemetery.

BORING

The regular Sunday morning services were held at the church on Sunday. The Rev. O. J. Gill preached a very interesting and uplifting sermon, based on Paul before Felix, the theme being "Vision." At the close of the regular preaching he spoke to the Sunday school children. Mr. Gill intends to give a short talk to the children each Sunday, before the regular Sunday school hour. The Sunday school is growing in interest. Mrs. Shattuck has organized her class of intermediates and they are planning for a very profitable time together the coming year. On Friday after school they had a marshmallow roast. The name they have chosen for their class is "Dependable" and the members expect to live up to the name.

The Ladies Aid will meet at the church on Thursday for work.

The Boring Community club is getting everything in readiness for its bazaar and sale, which will be held at the I. O. O. F. hall on the evening of November 5.

Melville Richey came from Corvallis to see the O. A. C.-Stanford football game, and visited at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Richey.

L. H. Mallicoat went on a hunting trip to Rickreall on Saturday. Pheasants were not very plentiful. Mrs. E. J. Gregson, who has been spending the past ten days visiting relatives at Longview, returned home Sunday.

John Juvenile has gone to Longview to do some work for his brother and nephew.

A. Hedermann of Portland visited at the home of his father, D. Hedermann, on Sunday.

New Lynch School Has Opening Program

Friday evening marked an epoch in the history of the Lynch school district, when the handsome new $30,000 structure, which has been in process of erection during the past fall and much of the summer, was formally dedicated to the cause of education, and the teachers and officers of the school were introduced to the audience. The dedicatory exercises and the reception to the teachers took place in the auditorium of the new school and were well attended by patrons of the community and friends.

Seated on the platform were R. H. Confrey, clerk of the school board and manager of the evening's entertainment; Charles Lettow, chairman of the board; Walter Locke and Herbert Lynch, remaining members of the school board; W. C. Lawrence, chairman of the school board of Gresham Union high school district; Mrs. Smith, president of the Parent-Teacher association; Miss Bernice Swanson, Miss Ida Luoto and Miss Willene Botkin, three of the teachers of the Lynch school; County Supt. W. C. Alderson; Mrs. J. H. Dunn, principal of the Russellville school; R. E. Cannon, principal of Gresham Union high school; William Laing, architect of the building, and Mr. Steel of the contractors' firm of Steele & Davis, builders of the schoolhouse. Miss Elizabeth Canning, principal of the school, was unable to be present on account of illness.

The address of welcome was given by W. C. Lawrence in his inimitable style. Everyone who knows Mr. Lawrence knows that he is deeply interested in the education and welfare of children and young people. His long association with Gresham Union high school has won for him that distinction. He said that four men were entitled to the credit of the community for the achieved end of their dreams in the new building, and then proceeded to name the three directors and clerk of the school board. He spoke of Lynch as one of three outstanding schools which sends pupils to Gresham Union high school, and also said that the community of Lynch stands back of its school and its teachers.

Everyone on the platform was finally introduced and nearly all responded. Mr. Steel head of the contracting firm, was very modest in recounting the part he and his partner had played in the erection of the fine building. He assured the patrons of the district that they would receive dollar for dollar of the amount they had invested. Mr. Laing, the architect, spoke briefly.

One of the most interesting parts of the evening's program was the address given by Herbert Lynch, a member of the school board. Mr. Lynch makes no pretensions at being a public speaker, but he held the attention of his audience from beginning to end. He outlined a history of the school district from its beginning 50 years ago, from the first school building which cost $372 to the present fine structure. Interesting extracts were read from the records of those days when the teacher received $30 a month salary, and when she had such a hard time getting a boarding place the patrons were fined $10 for refusing to board her. The perusal of the boarding problem called forth many smiles from the audience. It apparently was a weighty question. So great did it become there was danger of being unable to get a suitable teacher unless board could be obtained. To meet this, the board passed a resolution saying it should be the duty of parents or guardians to board the teacher according to the number of children in the family, two weeks for each child. Not more than $3 per week was to be charged for board and, when requested, the clerk could deduct the teacher's board from her check in favor of the landlady. Should the parents refuse to board the teacher, they could be fined $10 or their children refused admittance to school.

Mr. Lynch's father gave eight travel.

Harry Rickert, Claude Woodie, and several others have returned from their hunting trip to southern Oregon.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ehrman left last Saturday for Portland after spending the summer at Ehrmanor. They will live at the Benson hotel this winter.

Roy Andersen of the Glenn delicatessen on Hawthorne avenue spent Sunday at his home here.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Butler and daughter Hazel have just returned from a trip to Villah, Washington, where they attended the funeral of Mr. Butler's brother Richard Butler who died in Canada recently. The body was sent to Villah for interment.

Mrs. Jasper Crane entertained several Portland friends at a Monday luncheon.

Several slides have kept the road crew on the upper Columbia highway busy during the past week, but the efficient superintendent, G. Wilson, and his men have been on the job, at times part of the night, in order to keep the road clear for travel.

acres out of his 160 on which a school building was erected. The schoolhouse remained a one-room affair until 1915 when a room was added, and in 1920 the third room was built. It requires considerable of a stretch of the imagination to either see ahead 50 years from the humble beginning in 1876 to the building of today, or to look backward to the little one-room schoolhouse where the rudiments of education were taught. Mrs. Ella McGrew was the first teacher in the district and Frank Heiney one of the first.

W. C. Alderson gave a polished address which was listened to with much interest. He began with a quotation from the "Chambered Nautilus" and used this beautiful poem as a basis for his remarks. The wonderful changes of the past 50 years were reviewed in his matchless style. Among other apt quotations from his address was this, "The hope of America is in its children and the education they receive."

R. E. Cannon made a few fitting remarks and illustrated his views by a pointed story which was full of interest.

Mrs. J. H. Dunn read the address which would have been delivered by Miss Eva Campbell, county school supervisor, had she been able to be present. She said that in 1917 there were 28 one-room schools in the county, but that now this number has been reduced to 12. There have been 19 new schoolhouses built since 1917 according to the report.

Miss Willene Botkin rendered two piano numbers, and vocal selections were given by Miss Alexander, accompanied by Donald Confrey at the piano.

In keeping with the custom of the county school superintendent to present every gold standard school with a picture, Mr. Alderson gave to the Lynch school Friday evening the well known print in frame, "Signing the Declaration of Independence." In presenting it he said, "We hope that the principles for which they stood, the fundamental principles of our government, may ever be instilled into the minds of our youth." Chairman Lettow responded in behalf of the board.

At the conclusion of the program wafers and punch were served in the basement and the teachers were greeted in their respective rooms.

COLUMBIA HEIGHTS

The Corbett grade school was presented with a very fine picture, "The Horse Fair", last Thursday evening by County School Superintendent W. C. Alderson. The presentation took place after a short talk to the members of the audience who had previously enjoyed a program by the pupils to celebrate the standardizing of the school. The gymnasium was well filled by the parents of the children, who take much pride in the school.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuelson, son-in-law and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Ross, came up for a few days last week from California to visit at their home here.

Inside Real Estate Involved in Deal

A business deal involving two real estate transfers was consummated today, when D. C. Ely of Oregon City sold his business block on Main street, to Walrad & Wright, and in turn bought a lot 48 x 100 on Hood avenue between Fourth and Fifth from R. D. Bailey, on which he will move his home from his former property.

It is understood that Walrad & Wright plan to erect a building for a storeroom and garage, for their growing transfer business which will cover the entire lot between Second street and the alley to the south, an area of 60 x 120 feet. The building will probably not be put up until toward spring. In the meantime a temporary building will be erected for immediate use.

The Ely house is now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Lambert, who will remain in it for a free ride to its new location. W. H. Kruger, a house mover of Oregon City, will have charge of the work.

The conveyancing in connection with the property transfers was handled by James Elkington.
