A family gathering took place Sunday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Thompson when there were present Mr. and Mrs. Earl Thompson of Detroit, Michigan, Mr. and Mrs. Kirk Thompson who had come down from Spokane for the week-end football game in the stadium, Mr. and Mrs. Clair Edwards and children Pauline and Willard of Pendleton, Oregon, and Lloyd Long. Mr. and Mrs. Earl Thompson returned to their home Sunday night after spending two weeks here on a combined business and pleasure trip. Their return was made over the Canadian Rockies.

The Rebekahs entertained the Odd Fellows last evening at a Halloween party given in the I. O. O. F. hall at which 125 were present. The hall was decorated in Halloween colors, autumn leaves, flowers and jack o'lanterns. A musical program was given which consisted of a trombone solo by Clair Gullikson, a vocal solo by Mrs. E. E. Morehead of Portland, a ukulele solo by Margaret Gates, a harp and guitar number by Leon Caddy, a trumpet solo by Clifford Gibbs and a reading by M. L. White. After this program the evening was given over to games and stunts. Through the courtesy of the Radio Electric company, a radio receiving set was installed in the hall for the evening. A fine luncheon was served.

The members of the Southeast circle of the Methodist Ladies Aid are planning a noon luncheon to be given on Friday, November 4, in the basement of the Methodist church.

The birth of a baby daughter is reported to Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Lauterback of Sandy on October 9. The child, whose weight was seven pounds, was born at the home of Mrs. Harriet Timmerman.

In spite of the unfortunate occurrence of last Friday afternoon when a member of the Gresham grade school football team was injured while on the way to Estacada to play the grade school boys of that place, the game proceeded, the Gresham boys winning over their opponents 44 to 0.

The shop windows of Gresham are again gay with the orange and black, suggestive of the Halloween season. Especially noticeable are the windows of Hepp's Racket store, where nearly everything is to be found to make Halloween an enjoyable time.

Mrs. Sam Smith entertained on Saturday evening for her girl associates of the local telephone exchange boards at her home on Main street. Halloween decorations of her beautiful home were reflected by pictures on the walls and orange and black hangings on the chandeliers, also the Halloween idea was effectively carried out in the favors and place cards of the dinner party. Five of the girls remained over night with Mrs. Smith for a slumber party.

A reunion of the five Beers sisters, Mrs. Dan Metzger, Mrs. Clementine Metzger, Mrs. W. A. Proctor, Mrs. Violet Pfaff and Mrs. John Weatherly, was held Monday at the home of Mrs. Weatherly at Newberg. Others who were present were Dan Metzger, W. A. Proctor, Mrs. Gus Donley, Mrs. Annie Beers, Mrs. Bessie Dixon and Mrs. Helen Valetta. The occasion would have been a most enjoyable one had it not been saddened by the fact of Mrs. Weatherly's invalidism and the parting with her sister, Mrs. Dan Metzger, who will leave soon for her home in California.

Stereopticon views on India will be shown at the Free Methodist church Friday evening by the Rev. and Mrs. M. C. Clarke of Newberg, for many years missionaries in India. The program will be given under the auspices of the Woman's Missionary society of the Free Methodist church of this place. The public is invited to attend.

Miss Ruth Bliss left Saturday evening for her home in Glenfield, New York, near Utica, after spending two years in the west. She and her father made the trip to the coast two years ago, but he returned last April. Miss Bliss is making the trip east now on account of the impaired condition of her father's health. On the way home she will stop at Oakland, California, for a visit with an aunt Mrs. Anna Kerr, at San Bernardino where a niece of Mrs. John Bliss resides, and at Pasadena where she will visit friends. The health of Miss Bliss has been greatly improved since her residence in the west.

Kenneth Roberts, Harold Anderson of Portland and three other Portland friends enjoyed a week-end pheasant hunting trip to Stanfield in eastern Oregon. Mrs. Kenneth Roberts and Mrs. Anderson accompanied the party as far as Hood River where they spent the night with Mrs. Roberts' parents Mr. and Mrs. Chambers. The men bagged nearly the limit of birds.

Hans Sloan sustained a fracture of the left wrist Friday while engaged in shingling a house for B. W. Emery in Portland. He fell from a ladder while attempting to ascend with a bundle of shingles. He was taken to the office of Dr. Mark Emery where the arm was set and he was then able to proceed home. Word was sent to the Rev. L. A. Skuzie, who by the way is an expert shingler, and he assisted in completing the job.

The White Rose dairy has added to its equipment a ton Graham Brothers truck which will be used on the milk route of the dairy farm.

Gresham's golf club is continuing its defeated streak of wins for this season, the game of last Sunday resulting in a score of 19½ to 10½ in Gresham's favor over the Corvallis club at Ruby golf links. Quinn Metzger wrested honors for the day from James Bushong, who has been low man for the last five matches. The same teams will contest next Sunday at Corvallis.
