Popular Young Folks Take Marriage Vows

The Montavilla Methodist Episcopal church in Portland was the setting for a beautiful wedding on Saturday evening, November 19, at 8 o'clock, when Miss Ethel Moffitt became the bride of Lester L. Boring.

Preceding the ceremony William Elliott sang, "God Sent You to Me," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. H. H. Ott. The bridal party entered to the strains of the bridal chorus from Lohengrin, which was played by Mrs. Ott. The Rev. U. C. Smothers officiated, using the impressive double ring ceremony in the presence of about 90 relatives and friends.

The bride was beautiful in a gown of white roma crepe over satin, and wore a full length veil caught in place with orange blossoms. She carried a gorgeous shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Annie Moffitt, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and was charming in a gown of pale blue taffeta. Her bouquet consisted of pink carnations. Miss Anna Hamilton, a cousin of the bride, and Miss Esther Sloop were bridesmaids and were attractive in dresses of pink georgette over satin. Each carried a bouquet of pink carnations. Willard Boring attended his brother as best man, and Harry and George Moffitt, brothers of the bride, acted as ushers.

The church was artistically decorated for the occasion by Jacob Feser of the Mountain View Floral company. After the ceremony the guests repaired to the home of the bride at 2120 East Morrison street where a reception was held and a buffet luncheon served. Miss Amy Sloop presided at the punch bowl and the Misses Frances Cook and Ruth Lauderback cut ices.

Mrs. Boring is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Moffitt of Portland, formerly of the vicinity of Gresham, and is a graduate of Gresham Union high school. For some time she has been the efficient bookkeeper for the Mountain View Floral company. Mr. Boring is the son of Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Boring of Boring and is employed in the grocery business in Portland. He is a graduate of Washington high school. Both young people were popular members of the younger set of Gresham and vicinity where they lived the greater part of their lives. They were the recipients of many beautiful gifts. Mr. and Mrs. Boring will reside at their new home at 1341 East Couch street, Portland.

Out of town guests at the wedding and reception included Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Pihl and Harry and Allen Hamilton of Eugene, Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Welling of Salem, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Perret of Sandy, Mrs. Martha Fieldhouse, Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Ott, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Tacheron, Miss Violet Perret and John Hessel of Gresham, William Elliott, Amy and Esther Sloop, and Joe Drew of Pleasant Home, Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Boring and son Willard and Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Telford and sons Wallace and Tom of Boring, and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Soderquist and children Robert and Edith and Mr. and J. R. Cavangh.

SLICERS WIN GOLF MATCH FROM HOOKERS

Members of Gresham golf club, arranged in two teams, the "Hookers" and "Slicers," met on Ruby's course in a hotly-contested match Sunday, which resulted in a victory for the Slicers, the winning team taking 22 points for the losers' 17. D. Lloyd Anderson was medalist with a score of 76 for the 18 holes, closely followed by James Bushong with a 77. Following is a summary of the plays:

FATAL ACCIDENT DIMS CHRISTMAS JOYS

The Christmas season brings its pathos as well as its joys. Every year for the past 15 years Fred Stegeler, a rancher near Gillis station, has looked forward to the holiday season when his son George, a railroad man, would pay him a visit during the latter's vacation period. Saturday the father received word that the son, aged 36, was that day instantly killed when he stepped from his train on which he is conductor, directly into the path of another train. The accident occurred at Great Falls, Montana, where Mr. Stegeler lived. He had planned this year to spend Christmas with his father and stepmother as usual. The body will be shipped to Portland for interment.

TELEPHONE STATEMENT SHOWS ENLARGEMENTS

Investment of approximately $150,000 in additions and betterments in telephone equipment in Forest Grove and McMinnville, together with heavy investments throughout other sections of the territory since January 1, is revealed in statements filed with the public service commission at Salem by the Oregon Telephone company, which recently purchased the local telephone system as well as other systems in Oregon.

Consolidation of nine telephone companies, the details of which have just been finally worked out, has made necessary the filing of a uniform set of rules and regulations covering all of these properties, to conform to the requirements of the commission and to furnish the public with full information as to the methods to be followed by the operating company.

Revisions of existing rates schedules have been made only in Forest Grove, where a complete change in the type of service furnished will become effective next month, and in McMinnville where a slight change has been made in the type of service available.

Considerable change is contemplated in the Gresham system when the new board is installed in the new telephone building early in the spring.

THANKSGIVING

UNDER the guidance and watchful care of a divine and beneficent Providence his country has been carried safely through another year. Almighty God has continued to bestow upon us the light of his countenance and we have prospered. Not only have we enjoyed material success, but we have advanced in wisdom and in spiritual understanding. The products of our fields and our factories and of our manifold activities have been maintained on a high level. We have gained in knowledge of the higher values of life. There has been advancement in our physical well-being. We have increased our desire for the things that minister to the mind and to the soul. We have raised the mental and moral standards of life.

We have had the blessings of peace and of honorable and friendly relations with our sister nations throughout the world. Disasters visiting certain of our states have touched the heart of a sympathetic nation, which has responded generously out of its abundance. In continuing to remember those in affliction we should rejoice in our ability to give them relief.

Now that these 12 months are drawing to a close, it is fitting that, as a nation, and as individuals, in accordance with time-honored sacred custom, we should consider the manifold blessings granted to us. While in gratitude we rejoice, we should humbly pray that we may be worthy of a continuation of divine favor.

PRESIDENT'S PROCLAMATION.

GOVERNOR'S PROCLAMATION. AT this season of the year, it is an American custom to devote a day to the giving of thanks to the Almighty for His bounties; to commemorate the first season of prosperity and plenty.

On this day it is fitting and proper that we review the manifold blessings of the year just past; that we offer true expressions of gratitude for peace and prosperity. That this nation has been preserved through wars and strife, that it has developed in all the arts and sciences as well as in husbandry and commerce, that it has known no year of universal pestilence or famine, should be constant sources of joy to our people; we should be ever cognizant of our good fortune and pay homage to those first comers who so soundly founded and carefully builded the structure of our national life. That we today stand a leader among nations, supreme in the ways of modern civilization, is a tribute to those Pilgrim Fathers, whose first Thanksgiving gives us inspiration today.

To help preserve the ideals of American simplicity and virtue and Christianity, the President of these United States has proclaimed that a day be set aside for the observance of Thanksgiving, and in conformity thereto, and by the authority in me vested, I, I. L. Patterson, governor of the state of Oregon, do hereby proclaim and designate THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 24, 1927, as Thanksgiving Day, and do hereby set it aside as a public holiday. I earnestly ask the citizens of this great state to join together to observe in proper manner the season of Harvest, of Peace and Good Will, that we turn our thoughts to the Almighty Father who in His graciousness has given us amply of His bounties, and that we display the American flag as evidence of our patriotic devotion to the founders of our nation.

CIVIL WAR VETERAN ANSWERS LAST CALL

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Kilgore will regret to learn of the death of Mr. Kilgore which took place at the family residence on Main street Saturday, November 19. He was born August 16, 1843, in Washington, Iowa, and lived there until 1862, when he enlisted in the 25th Iowa volunteers and served until the close of the Civil War.

He engaged in the machinery business in Philadelphia, later moving to Chicago, where he took a position with the Crane company, remaining with them for 31 years. In 1912 the family moved to Oregon, locating at Springwater, and in 1920 moved to Gresham. Mr. Kilgore took great pride in his membership in Thomas Post No. 5, Grand Army of the Republic, one of the oldest and most important in the United States. The roster at one time showed more than a thousand names, the most of the members being leading business men of the city. He was a member of the post at the time of his death.

Mr. Kilgore is survived by his widow, Mrs. Margaret Kilgore, and two sons S. N. Kilgore of Gresham and C. E. Kilgore of Los Angeles. The funeral services, which are in charge of the Jacobson company of Lents, will be private. Final commitment will be made at Lincoln Memorial park crematorium.

The bride was graduated with the 1923 class of Gresham Union high school and later attended Oregon State college at Corvallis. Mr. Campbell also attended the same college, where he was a Theta Chi pledge. After a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Campbell will be at home to their friends at the Johnson home.

Praise to Home Guards. The only branch of the military establishment of the nation that army and navy officials admit remains efficient is the so-called National Guard made up of volunteer forces all over the United States.

Churches Should Guide Public Opinion.

President Coolidge has made a statement in which he expresses the belief that the churches of the nation are in a position to direct public opinion so as to create peaceful methods of negotiations between countries that would prevent wars.

Many High Schools to Take Part in Debate.

Many Oregon high schools are reported to be enrolling in the Oregon high school debating league, according to Dan E. Clark, secretary of the league and assistant director of the University extension division.

It is expected that about 80 high schools will have enrolled by the end of the time limit, the middle of December. The state has been divided into 11 districts and debaters from each of these districts will vie with one another soon after the Christmas holidays. Winners will meet at the university in May.

TAJIMA PLANS TO DECORATE STREETS

S. Tajima, who perhaps does more than anybody else to brighten up the dingy places in Gresham, has undertaken again to give the city that Christmasy appearance which has been so favorably commented on in the past.

This will be the third year that Tajima, the window washer, has arranged and placed the street decorations and his enthusiasm grows from year to year.

He is preparing to place about 100 standards, with a Christmas tree attached to each, in front of the business places on Main and Powell streets as ordered by the various stores. The poles are painted red and securely set in bases of concrete painted white.

Tajima is now taking the orders and the trees will be placed early in December and remain up until after Christmas.

It is probable the city will have a large central Christmas tree, appropriately decorated. This with the cooperation of the storekeepers in the street decorations will give the city that attractive appearance which is so much appreciated.

ORCHESTRA TO GIVE MORNING CONCERT

The only concert of the Portland Symphony orchestra to be given between now and December 19 will be the second of the series of Saturday morning "pops" scheduled for presentation at the public auditorium next Saturday morning. Willem van Hoogstraten, conductor of the orchestra has prepared an elaborate program for this event, consisting of five numbers that have already been heard at these concerts, and one completely new addition to the symphony's library, The Schubert "Military March," with which the concert will open, is one of the most familiar of all melodies. In a special concert version it has become a great showpiece of the world's foremost pianists, but in its orchestral setting it retains best the grace and dignity of Schubert's music. The air from Bach's D Major suite, commonly known as the "Air for the G String" is too well-known to require comment. Rimsky-Korsakov's brief orchestral scherzo, "The Flight of the Bumble-Bee," was given its first Portland performance last year, and it was the first real sensation of Mr. van Hoogstraten's second season as symphony conductor in Portland. Though barely two minutes long, it requires almost phenomenal virtuosity from nearly every member of the orchestra. It emulates primarily the buzzing sound of the bumble-bee when in flight, but a beautiful little melody runs through it. This is the only composition that Mr. van Hoogstraten has ever repeated in any of his Portland concerts.

The Tchaikovsky "Nutcracker" suite is easily the best-known extended composition of the great Russian composer. While shorter than the Tchaikovsky symphonies, the suite encompasses an enormous range of musical moods. Its several parts, such as the overture, the "Dance of the Pipers" and "The Waltz of the Flowers," have attained an almost unsurpassed popularity. The new number, which will come third on this program, is really not a new composition at all. It is merely a new acquisition for the Portland symphony's library. It is the Bavarian arrangement of the gavotte from Mozart's "Idomeneo," a brief dance number that represents the great composer at his best.

This concert will commence promptly at 11 o'clock Saturday morning. Mr. van Hoogstraten will give short prefatory talks before each number is played.

Local Home Robbed of Many Valuables

The boldest burglary staged in Gresham for some time past occurred last Saturday evening about 8 o'clock when the home of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Tetrick on Division street east of the cannery was entered, every drawer and cupboard in the house thoroughly ransacked, and various articles of apparel, jewelry and household furnishings taken.

The living room was stripped of its two 9 x 12 rugs. All of Mr. and Mrs. Tetrick's best clothing was taken, also the best work clothes of the former. Their daughter's wearing apparel was taken, but not the clothing belonging to their small son. Jewelry, keepsakes, toilet powders and accessories were a part of the loot. Bedding was stripped from the beds, it is believed, in the search for money. Fortunately no large amount of money was in the house.

The occupants of the home had gone to Mr. Tetrick's mother's on South Roberts avenue to spend the evening, and for the first time in months had left the doors unlocked. A pendulum clock, which had been stopped at 8:15, would indicate that the robbery took place about that time. The blinds of the dwelling had been drawn, and as the house is in a sparsely settled locality, it is believed the thief or thieves had every opportunity to work unmolested.

The burglary was reported both to Gresham and Portland officials and every effort made in both places to apprehend the guilty, but so far no tangible clue has developed.
