FORMER GRESHAM LAWYER IN ACCIDENT

Writes History of Lowden 1924 Campaign in Oregon.

A letter to the Outlook from Milo C. King, an attorney of Portland, formerly of Gresham, conveys the information that the writer was recently the victim of a painful accident in which his left foot was crushed.

He was on a business errand out Grand avenue when he obtained a "lift" from a P. E. P. truck. It was a fine repair truck with the rear wheels tracking wider than the front wheels. When he alighted and stepped to the curb the rear wheel caught his foot and crushed his digits, he says, and adds that no one was to blame but himself.

The accident, however, gave this industrious attorney and loyal supporter of Ex-Gov. Frank O. Lowden for president an opportunity to work his typewriter and finish an undertaking dear to his heart, a political history for the Lowden campaign of 1924 and the important part Mr. King and the Outlook had in trying to get Mr. Lowden nominated in Oregon at that time. Mr. King is a former schoolmate and old friend of Lowden and the Outlook thought him a favorable candidate. At that time in the primary election Mr. Lowden carried only one precinct in Oregon and that was Mr. King's residence precinct in Gresham.

Mr. King thinks Lowden should be nominated in 1928 and is working hard to bring him to the front.

In a recent letter to Mr. Lowden at Oregon, Illinois, Mr. King tells him he has completed the task and says:

"I am alone again, mainly because there is not excitement nor money enough about the premises of a man writing a political history. But the work had to be done, as it seemed to me, and it is done, my seclusion, compelled by the accident, affording me leisure for the finishing touches. Like you, it is for me to get to the bottom of things, to stay with the task and complete the job while on the right track, regardless of how long it takes or how much it costs.—feeling then that whoever is elected president or whatever happens, it is all for the best. Angels can do no more, though more fortunate than we, they have all the time there is. What is involved in the subject is so important and vast, as I view it, that I tremble at the thought of ever having attempted to treat it as well as for the imperfections and crudeness of my efforts."

CHRISTMAS SEAL PLAN ENDORSED BY GOVERNOR

Commenting upon the steady success of the campaign against tuberculosis in Oregon, Gov. I. L. Patterson says:

"The splendid results your organization has already accomplished in stamping out tuberculosis has proved the value of your activities."

This statement was made in a recent letter to the Oregon Tuberculosis Association, in which the governor gives his hearty approval to the plan.

"The annual sale of Christmas seals by which the Oregon Tuberculosis Association and its affiliated local health associations finance their programs of health work, has my hearty approval and support. I hope you will this year, as you have in the past, meet with the most generous response from the people of Oregon in the sale of Christmas seals which will provide the funds necessary for the continuance of your very useful work."

A national conference on tuberculosis, to be held in Portland, June 18 to June 23, 1928, is already creating wide interest. Medical and lay workers in the anti-tuberculosis campaign will come from every section of the United States to this national meeting.

SEVEN QUALIFY FOR CITY ELECTION

The ballot prepared by Recorder Schneider for next Tuesday's city election contains the names of seven men who have qualified as candidates for councilmen, three of whom are to be elected.

The candidates for their names will appear on the ballot are as follows: Jas. V. Cogswell, Roy H. Gibbs, F. A. Hamlin, T. R. Howitt, W. C. Metzger, C. I. Raker, C. J. Shultz. Three of the seven, Howitt, Metzger and Raker, were nominated by petition of citizens. They are the retiring councilmen and are named for re-election. No other officers are to be voted on except three councilmen and there are no propositions on the ballot.

SPRINGDALE

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Salzman were guests at a Thanksgiving turkey dinner in Portland given by Mrs. Salzman's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Theo. Pillar, Last Sunday Mrs. Salzman was guest of honor at a dinner given by her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. James Neeley McKunnell of Forest Grove. The dinner guests were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ehlers of Forest Grove, Mrs. Theo. Pillar, Mr. and Mrs. John Bosshomer of Portland, all relatives. Mr. Salzman completed the list. Next Sunday Mr. and Mrs. John Bosshomer, who are the grandparents of Mrs. Salzman, will entertain her and Mr. Salzman to dinner in Portland. Mrs. Salzman has been ill for more than a year. Now that she is again able to go among friends and relatives, they are welcoming her with loving hearts and a generous hospitality.

The masquerade dance given at the hall Saturday night was very well attended and many queer costumes, and pretty ones were in evidence. It was quite a task for the judges to decide who the prizes should go to. Leon Spybrock of Corbett and Miss Ada Marie Carlinski of Portland received first prize for the prettiest costume. Don Woodard of Springdale and Miss Edna Griner of Portland received first on the funniest costume. Zenith Gregg received the consolation prize.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Zilm and family enjoyed Thanksgiving dinner at the home of Mrs. May Gregg.

CORBETT

Thanksgiving Day dawned rainy and gray. Precipitation began the evening of November 23 and continued steadily for 48 hours. Nevertheless there were several happy dinner parties in the vicinity.

The largest family gathering was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Chamberlain at Springdale, where their children, grandchildren and great grandchildren gathered to spend a happy day in feast and Thanksgiving and help to make the day more cheery for this respected, elderly couple.

Guests at the Lewis Reed home Thanksgiving Day were Mr. Harmon and son Walter from Portland, Mrs. Leghorn and daughter Helen from Tacoma and Jimmie Leghorn from Portland.

Dinner guests of Mrs. Clara Smith and daughter on Thanksgiving were Mrs. M. E. Reed of Westmoreland, F. W. Reed, Corbett store and Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Reed and baby daughter Glenna Beth. This was a double holiday for F. C. Reed, as it was his natal day also.

Miss Wishard, teacher at the Springfield school, and pupils gave a very fine entertainment Tuesday evening, and the ladies of the district served a delicious three-course lunch commemorating the first Thanksgiving. This was attended by nearly everyone in the district and Mrs. Clara Smith and daughter Ethel Smith Stewart, of Corbett. Mrs. Stewart was a former teacher of this school.

Friends will regret to learn of the illness of Mrs. James Ross.

The recent rains have brought the Columbia river up to spring freshet stage, and at this writing it is still raining.

Mrs. H. L. Moody spent Thursday in Portland with her husband, principal of Columbian high school, who is in a hospital there and expects to undergo a surgical operation soon.

Miss Evelyn Reed and Ray Pulliam enjoyed the Thanksgiving holiday respite from school studies at Oregon normal at their homes here.
