No Epidemic Exists in This Locality

Still some misgivings seem to exist in the minds of many regarding the present status of infantile paralysis in this locality.

One of the local physicians, when asked his opinion this morning concerning the situation, said that he considered the trouble as subsiding, throughout the state, and new cases do not seem to be manifesting themselves to any alarming extent.

It may not be generally known that more deaths occur from measles and resultant troubles than any other known communicable disease.

There never have been any cases of infantile paralysis within three miles of Gresham, and the ones reported on the outside have seemingly been kept well under control.

ELECTRIC STORE GETS HANDSOME SILVER CUP

Ivan Swift, manager of the local office of the Portland Electric Power company, reports that the Gresham district is the proud possessor of a handsome silver cup, the trophy awarded by George A. Hughes, head of the Edison Appliance company, manufacturers of the Hotpoint electric range.

This cup is awarded to the district office selling the largest number of ranges in a specified length of time over the district's quota, and is given permanently to the one winning it twice in succession.

WINDOW DISPLAY HELPS "GIFT DAY"

One of the most interesting window displays in Gresham just at present is that of the Gresham Outlook office where space has been reserved showing gift suggestions for the Children's Farm Home at Corvallis.

Christmas Seal Campaign Begins

At this season of the year considerable interest centers in the annual campaign which is made throughout the nation in behalf of the little Christmas seals, the medium by which relief is afforded to many who find themselves in the clutches of that dread disease, tuberculosis.

Teachers to Hear of Club Work Plans

The program is now practically completed which the County Local Leaders' association, through its president, W. C. Lawrence, and Mrs. J. H. Dunn, secretary, will give in connection with the meetings of the Oregon State Teachers' association which will be held in Portland during the week of December 29.

Two days have been allotted by the association to boys' and girls' club work and, with the assistance of W. D. Kinder, county club agent, special programs have been arranged for each of these days.

Governor Patterson will address the gathering at 1:30 o'clock Thursday on the subject, "4-H Club Work as Viewed from the Office of Governor." Three county school superintendents, Mrs. Emma Bryant of Hillsboro, Mrs. J. A. Yeager of Pendleton and Miss Elizabeth Murray of St. Helens, will follow the governor, each speaking on the subject, "Why I, as a County School Superintendent, Am Promoting Club Work."

Beginning at 3 o'clock R. D. Hewitt, principal of Troutdale school and a local leader, will talk on the subject, "Why I Am a Local Leader." Mrs. Romney Parcel, a local leader for Clackamas county, will also speak along the same line.

The afternoon program will close with a talk by Mrs. W. W. Gabriel, president of the state Parent-Teacher association, her subject to be, "4-H Club Work as Part of the State Parent-Teacher Program."

Wheeler Sale to Be Held Saturday

On account of ill health and inability to renew his lease, Curtis Wheeler, a rancher on the J. C. Duke farm three miles southeast of Troutdale, has arranged an extensive auction sale to be held on the premises next Saturday, December 10, beginning at 10 a. m. sharp.

Gresham Locals

The senior class of Gresham Union high school reports a fine attendance and gratifying receipts as the result of the class play, "The Goose Hangs High", which was given in November.

Mrs. H. B. Sharp and children are improving their residence property by the building of an enclosed porch at the back of their house.

Oscar Walsh has just completed an additional room to his residence which he recently purchased from the nephew of the late Mrs. Jennie Smith. A porch is also being added on the west part of the house.

Miss Helen Chambers of Hood River is spending a few days at the home of her sister Mrs. K. C. Roberts.

LOCAL BOY DOES GOOD FLYING SCHOOL WORK

Archie Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Peterson of Powell Valley, is taking a two-months' course at the Rankin Flying school in Portland, his record being one of the best out of the 135 students enrolled for the winter classes.

Peterson, who made his first ascent on the second day he was at the school, will complete the first half of the course within the next week. This part includes all the ground work, practice in flying with an instructor, control exercises, lectures on engines and the theory of flight.

According to Tex Rankin, chief instructor and president of the school, Mr. Peterson is progressing nicely and within the next month will be thoroughly capable of handling the ship in the air. His instructor says of him, "He has shown rapid advancement in grasping the fundamental principles of flight and in handling the airplane."

The latter half of the course will include instruction in solo flying, stunt work, the study of meteorology and air traffic laws. The teaching staff of the Rankin school has five expert pilots as instructors. Two new Waco planes, the latest model small ships on the market, are used for all instruction work.

The Tex Rankin school is the largest institution of its kind in the northwest and is under the direction of Lieutenant Basil Smith, an ex-navy instructor from Boston Tech. The same course given navy flyers is offered students at the Portland institution. Mr. Peterson, who has spent most of his time in the lecture room, has much practical work which goes along with his advancement.

Professor Boyer to Visit Gresham

Prof. W. H. Boyer, musical director of the city schools of Portland, will be at the Gresham grade school from 3 to 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon to demonstrate his system of music. This system has been followed to some extent in the Gresham school for several years. Parents are cordially invited to attend. Also it is desired that as many others as can attend this meeting and make themselves acquainted with this plan.

Grade School Boys Win From Tigard

A capacity house witnessed the first basketball game of the season which took place Friday evening between the Gresham grade school boys and the Tigard grade school in the grade school auditorium here, the final score standing 38 to 6 in favor of Gresham at the close of the four 7-minute quarters.

The Gresham boys for the first time wore their new suits of orange and black which were secured through the courtesy of Aylsworth & Martin. The fine new basketball was made possible through the Gresham Drug company. The personnel of the team was Clyde Jennings, forward; Joe Exley, forward; Hermon Judd, center; James Barnes, guard; Frederick Howitt, guard. Delbert Exley, Clyde Lewis and Harley Greene were substitutes.

It was Gresham's game from the beginning. The Tigard players were too light and inexperienced for Gresham and, although the former team had some first class boosters, it did not seem to affect their playing to any marked degree.

The game was thrilling to the spectators as well as the combatants and was fair in every particular. M. M. Squire was timekeeper and Hoace Whilon score keeper.

A game has been arranged between Parkrose and Gresham at the Gresham grade school for next Monday evening, December 12, the game to be called promptly at 7:45. An effort will be made to secure the same referee, Dorsey Dent, who refereed the game Friday evening.

Here and There

Miss Viola Richmond was shot to death near Condon, Oregon, Friday night and a girl companion was severely wounded by Ray Ferguson, who had been paying attention to the dead girl. The act is attributed to unrequited love. The body of the murderer was found Monday in a schoolhouse near Condon where he had shot himself.

Frederick Giles, noted English ace, who recently attempted a flight from San Francisco to New Zealand, and was forced back due to unfavorable weather conditions, he claimed, has abandoned his flight and will retire. He was backed by a wealthy Detroit man. His ship was the Wanda.

A move is started in Oregon by the National Law Enforcement league to bring about legislation that will make the buyer of illicit liquor equally guilty with the seller and to make the illicit sale of liquor a felony. The organization is now three years old and is growing rapidly.

A rather tense situation exists in the Newport high school where many pupils are on strike against the presence of a woman teacher, Mrs. T. H. Halleck wife of a member of the school board. Mrs. Halleck is said to be rather old fashioned in methods and appearance. The students are largely backed by their parents, it is said.

The 70th congress opened in Washington yesterday. There are two new men in Oregon's delegation of five. They are Senator F. W. Steiwer and Representative Franklin F. Korell of the third district, comprising Multnomah county. The others are Senator Chas. N. McNary and Representatives W. C. Hawley of the first district and Representative Slinnot. All are republicans and hold or will be assigned important committee positions.

This year motorists of Oregon will have something new to look after.

A law enacted at the last session of the legislature provides that the state shall furnish containers in which motor vehicle owners shall carry their receipts of registration. This container must be installed in the driver's compartment of the motor vehicle. The certificates of registration issued by the secretary of state will be enclosed in the containers and the two will be mailed, ready for installation.

Mr. Kozar has indicated that receipts incident to registering and licensing motor vehicles in Oregon during 1927 would aggregate $6,550,000 as against $6,017,000 in 1926. There were 234,000 motor vehicles registered in Oregon in 1926, while for 1927 they will aggregate 245,000.

Portland Milk Law Sustained. In an opinion handed down by the state supreme court last week the Portland milk law was sustained in a decision handed down by Judge George Rossman in the circuit court. The decision states that the Portland city ordinance governing the furnishing and distribution of milk for the consumption of the inhabitants of the city is constitutional and a valid exercise of the police powers of the city.

Certain dairymen contended that in as much as their products complied with the standards fixed by state law it was unreasonable to require them to meet the requirements of the Portland ordinance. The Portland ordinance requires cement floors in the dairy barns, ceiled and painted walls and stationary wash basins with running water in the milk room, etc. The ordinance was designed to protect all the people using milk. During the two years it has been in effect milk conditions have greatly improved, it is claimed.

Aged Pioneer Is Laid to Final Rest

Funeral services for the late James T. McCulloch were held on Thursday at the Methodist church in Gresham, of which he was a member. A large number of friends and members of his family gathered to do honor to his memory. Dr. A. Thompson, a former pastor, spoke words of comfort to the bereaved family, emphasizing the sturdy Christian character of the deceased, who was well versed in the scriptures and a man of deep spiritual devotion.

Scripture was read and prayer offered by the Rev. H. V. Wilhelm, pastor of the church. A solo was sung by C. E. Rusher, and a quartet composed of Mr. Rusher, Mrs. J. E. Gates, Mrs. H. L. St. Clair and Leslie Walrad sang "Come Ye Disconsolate" and "Sweet Bye and Bye," with Miss Amy Cooper at the piano. Interment was in Gresham cemetery. The pall bearers were L. P. Manning and Joe Guthrie of Gresham, LaVerne S. Severance of Portland and three grandsons, also of Portland, Eldridge and Harry McCulloch and Claude Sunderland.

Mr. McCulloch died at Good Samaritan hospital in Portland on November 27, at the age of 89 years, three months and eight days. He had suffered six weeks with a broken hip, the result of a fall.

Mr. McCulloch was born at Otterville, Cooper county, Missouri. He was the son of Thomas T. and Laura C. McCulloch. He married Annie Elliott on January 19, 1864, at Clifton City, Missouri. Six children were born to this union, three of whom, with their mother, survive. They are J. W. McCulloch of Gresham, A. H. McCulloch of Whittier, California, and Mrs. Laura Sunderland of Portland. There are also eight grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. McCulloch united with the Christian church at Damascus in an early day and later joined the Methodist church in Gresham. Both gave freely of their service and support while their strength permitted, and their interest was always with the church. In his young manhood Mr. McCulloch joined Columbia lodge A. F. & A. M., but distance and difficulties made it necessary for him to give up the work.

Soon after their marriage, on April 7, 1864, Mr. and Mrs. McCulloch started by ox team for Virginia City, Montana, where he engaged in placer mining for gold. They were nearly four months on the journey, arriving at their destination on August 4, following.

They lived in Montana until the latter part of the year 1870, when they again moved westward, this time going by mule team. In January, 1871, they settled on the 80-acre farm which has been the family home ever since. This farm was purchased from T. K. Williams. It was burned over land, with huge stumps and stumps and much down timber. They chose for their building place a slightly hill overlooking the surrounding country. There was no public road touching their farm for several years, and outlet was by the courtesy of the neighbors. Mr. McCulloch circulated the petition for the road along the west line of his property and extending on the south to the Powell Valley and on the north to the Base Line road. This was called by his name but is now known as the Kane road. He was the first supervisor in his road district.

In the early days, before the farm was in shape for cultivation, one of the means of livelihood was the manufacture of cedar shingles which were hewn out by hand by Mr. McCulloch and were put in bundles by his wife and children to be sold at from $1.25 to $2 per thousand, in trade. Many reminiscences are told by the members of the family of the struggles through which they passed and of the efforts to establish school, church and other institutions.

Card of Thanks. We wish to express our heartfelt thanks for the many acts of kindness shown us during the illness of our husband and father, James T. McCulloch. Mrs. A. E. McCulloch, J. W. McCulloch, A. H. McCulloch, Mrs. Laura C. Sunderland.
