

Gresham Locals

Carroll Oakes is ill at his home on South Roberts avenue with an attack of flu.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Lewis were happily surprised Tuesday evening when neighbors and friends came in to assist in the celebration of their birthdays which occur but four days apart.

Mrs. Lottie Bennett, of Rawlins, Wyoming, left yesterday for her home after spending some time at the home of her niece Mrs. Anthony Hengstler where she assisted in the care of Mrs. Hengstler's father, J. G. Embry, who passed away a few days ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Sellin of Cashmere, Washington, cousins of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Allshouse, are spending a few weeks at the Allshouse home while they search for suitable living quarters in Portland, where Mr. Sellin is employed in the grocery business.

The senior high school girls defeated the junior girls Wednesday noon in a well-matched basketball game, the score standing 22 to 16.

Miss Emma B. Johnson, Miss Evelyn Metzger, Miss Mabel Jackson and Mrs. Mary Welch were dinner guests Tuesday evening of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. St. Clair. After dinner the six made up a party which attended the motion picture show featuring "The Fighting Eagle", presented at the Oriental theater, Portland's newest and most beautiful showhouse.

A. Blom is displaying to his friends two souvenirs of the holiday season, of which he is justly proud. One is a letter of greeting from Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Larson of Jerusalem. Mr. Larson is Swedish consul there. He and his wife were in that city when Mr. Blom visited the Holy Land in 1900, and Mr. Larson acted as his guide. The picture on the card shows the Sea of Galilee and Mt. Hermon. On Christmas eve Mr. Blom received a radiogram from Gothenburg, Sweden, broadcast on December 19, received in New York and telegraphed from there.

The Home Missionary society of the Methodist church will meet at the home of Mrs. C. E. Johnson Wednesday afternoon, February 1. The subject of "Christian Missions and America's Racial Attitude" will be discussed under the leadership of Mrs. Johnson. Mrs. Arthur Dowsett, Mrs. Benjamin Cameron and Miss Cora Green will assist the hostess. A short program will be rendered.

M. D. Kern, who has spent the past three months with relatives in Portland, has returned to Gresham to live. He will be located temporarily with B. O. Boswell.

The Junior League of the Evangelical church will give an entertainment at the grange hall, Wednesday, February 1, beginning at 8 p. m. There will be a fine program of music, humorous recitations, skits and a three-act comedy. The comedy is a burlesque on the popular subject of woman's suffrage. The characters change occupations, the men following women's vocations and vice versa, giving plenty of scope for a keen sense of humor.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Raney who live near Ruby Junction are the proud parents of an eight-pound daughter, born Wednesday. She has been named Jean Victoria.

Sherman Kilgore's automobile slipped off the grease rack bed at the Ivy Filling station yesterday morning, but was undamaged when finally righted by the towing apparatus of the Gresham garage.

G. W. Landon suffered a stroke of paralysis at the home of his daughter, Mrs. William Stanley, Wednesday evening and is practically helpless. Owing to his advanced age of 95 years, his recovery cannot be looked for. Mr. Landon has been a resident of the vicinity of Gresham since 1882.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Chamberlain of Springdale are receiving congratulations on the arrival of a son, born to them Wednesday at the home of Mrs. J. A. Bushong. The baby has been named George Allen.

Dr. and Mrs. H. V. Adix entertained at an attractive dinner given Wednesday at Alexandra Court hotel. Covers were laid for 16.

Robert, the seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Callister, is in Emanuel hospital where he was operated on Wednesday for mastoiditis, an unusually severe case.

The Rebekah Welfare club will meet at the home of Mrs. George Kenney Wednesday, February 1. Miss Inez Lusted and Mrs. Etta Hoover will assist the hostess.

FAIRVIEW CELEBRATES WITH FINE PROGRAM

principal speaker of the evening. While some might call him visionary, he certainly is not a knocker and has enough vim and push to see great possibilities ahead for this section. Among other interesting things he said the Oregon country has more than one half of all the standing timber in America, and this timber if utilized, would make Portland one of the largest cities in the United States. He is working strongly for the extension of the Barr road through to Troutdale and the taking over of the P. E. P. right of way for improved highway facilities. In comparing the resources of the United States with those of Europe Mr. Lepper stated that while the United States has only 7 per cent of the land and 6 per cent of the population it contributes 25 per cent of the agricultural supplies and 24 per cent of the manufactured products.

The singing of the P. E. P. synchronizers was much enjoyed by those present. Ten singers besides the accompanist rendered a fine program of numbers. The Gresham Union high school orchestra, under the direction of Miss Alice Prindle, played several fine selections at the beginning of the evening and also during the program. Several Fairview officials remarked on the excellent musical numbers, both vocal and instrumental.

The big 10-inch drilled well, around which everything centers in the new water system, is 101 feet in depth and is located on the D. W. McKay place, in the southwest part of Fairview. An extra heavy steel tower 64 feet in height supports a wooden tank 16 feet high, having a capacity for 32,000 gallons of water. The height of 80 feet gives a sufficient pressure, between 50 and 80 pounds, to answer every requirement. The water pipes are laid 32 inches underground, thus insuring cold water in the warmest weather. Modern plumbing is now within the reach of every Fairview resident, as the water has been piped to every curb. Up to date there are 74 meters installed.

The new system, which has been brought to a successful culmination, is due to the activity of a number of men. City Attorney C. G. Schneider handled the legal end of the project and the floating of the bond issue of $20,000, without which there could have been no development. H. L. Gilbert of Portland engineered the work and perfected the plans, while a Mr. Page of Portland assisted as working engineer. Marshal Ira Brooks of Fairview is in charge of the water department, assisted by a committee composed of C. N. Buckner, John Mahaffey and George Shaw.

Adequate fire protection can now be afforded Fairview, where before it was impossible. A fire hydrant has been located in every block and there is sufficient pressure to throw a stream of water 100 feet into the air. The city has 250 feet of two-inch hose, enough to reach any building in the town from the hydrant connection. There is talk now of organizing a volunteer fire department for better protection. Will Brooks is chairman of the temporary fire department.

One noticeable feature of the recent project is the fact that the bond issue of $20,000 was made to cover the work. In many instances of industrial development in communities this is not the case, but by careful management those in charge of the work here brought it through without incurring additional expense.

That's all it will cost you to enjoy solid comfort at night when the old east wind blows and the sheets are like chunks of ice. A Westinghouse Electric Warming Pad does the trick. Safer too than the old hot water bottle, $1.55 down, balance $2 per month. P. E. P. Electric store, Gresham.

February 3 Set For Thrift Day

National Thrift Week has come to an end. Have we profited thereby? Perhaps so, but not as much as we should. It has been too general and no one has taken it earnestly. Why not follow with Gresham Thrift Day, February 3. The First State Bank has set aside February 3 as Thrift Day for Gresham and will furnish placards for those who desire—also label buttons for children in the schools.

The National Thrift committee's ten Commandments for Success and Happiness—Work and earn, make a budget, record expenditures, have a bank account, carry life insurance, own your home, make a will, invest in safe securities, pay bills promptly, share with others. These might well be prefixed by: Conserve health, for without health we can neither work or earn, or in fact, perform any of the other commandments: To teach their children to work should be the duty of every parent—the making of a family budget and living within it has turned the course of many a family from a downward one to an upward. A record of expenditures has aroused many a boy and girl to a realization of their utter uselessness and made them useful citizens.

A bank account creates a desire to accumulate and has been the foundation of a useful and successful career for many a young man. Read St. Mathew, Chap. 25, verses 15 to 30, St. Luke, Chap. 19, verses 12 to 26. Every man should provide for his family and life insurance is a great assistance to the man of moderate means. Every good citizen takes pride in having a home. To pay rent for a long period of time is degrading—the owners of homes move nations. Make a will is good advice to every man who has labored and acquired habits of accumulation. To conserve property after death and see that it is properly used is the desired end.

Invest in safe securities is a command that should stand out boldly before every person who has labored to accumulate. Immense sums are lost annually through the purchase of utterly worthless securities. Read Haggal, Chap. 1, verses 6 to 8.

Pay bills promptly is something that each of us should think of more earnestly. In these three words lies the foundation of credit and without credit there can be no progress. This applies to the well-to-do, as well as the more meek and lowly.

Share with others. This does not mean to share in the spirit of a good fellow, but rather that we bear our share of taxes and other burdens for the benefit of the community at large.

Much can be accomplished by one day of intensified celebration of Thrift. Resolutions can be made for a more careful checking of expenditures, family budgets covering the year can be arranged. Grouping of commodities for sale can be arranged at a saving for the merchant as well as the consumer. Purchasers may likewise club their wants and purchase at a saving. Sales can be consummated in one day what otherwise might take weeks. Group advertising can be effected that will mean a reduction to purchasers.

Let's all join together and celebrate one real day of Thrift, February 3, 1928. Observe results. We will assist in any way we can. All savings deposits made on February 3d will bear interest from February 1, each will be received in the spirit of a Thrift deposit and the creditor given credit for good resolutions in future borrowings. Let us hear from you as to what you will do to celebrate February 3.

Gresham Thrift Day February 3, 1928 More attention is given to Thrift each year—stronger competition is compelling every business house to adopt more sagacious methods in the conduct of its business especially so in its expenditures. Thrift does not mean a penurious saving but on the other hand a judicious expenditure. The old saw "The survival of the fittest" still holds good and as a consequence those who would survive must recognize THRIFT. Thrift in the form of budgets and a careful checking of expenditures is being carried into the best homes more and more every year and should be more universally taught in our public schools. GRESHAM IS TO OBSERVE FEBRUARY 3 AS "THRIFT DAY." Let everyone in this community on that day strive to do something that will better their condition, curtail some needless expense, add to their bank account or purchase necessities in bulk at a reduced cost—a cooperation between dealer and consumer. Let every person in this community try this stunt for one day and note the result at the end of the day. Think what the result would be for the community if continued. In order that this matter may come to the attention of the public more forcibly, the First State Bank will provide every school boy and girl that will call at our bank, with a lapel THRIFT button setting forth February 3 as Thrift Day. Any savings deposit made February 3 will bear interest from February 1. FIRST STATE BANK A Strong Bank GRESHAM, OREGON
