New Dance Hall at Blue Lake Park

J. A. McGill, manager of the Blue Lake amusement park, is making plans for the erection of a larger and better dance hall to replace the old one, which was damaged by the storm early in January.

The new hall, besides being larger than the one it will replace, will have a dome shaped roof. This roof style will improve the acoustics and will make it possible for dancers at the far side of the hall to hear the orchestra as plainly as those near the music.

It is planned to build a large fireplace which will be the attractive center of a cozy corner. The work of dismantling the old building is going along and as soon as possible after it is cleaned up construction will be commercial on the new hall, which will be ready to use when the park opens the last of May.

FAIRVIEW

The Fairview grange will give a card party at the grange hall on Thursday evening, February 2.

CORBETT

That Karl Hannemann's Jersey cow, Poet's Mabel Mowat, has broken the 305-day record for Jersey cows of all ages, was announced by the American Jersey Cattle club, in her seventh official production test, recently completed. This cow has been tested every year since she was two years old and has been awarded four medals of merit and two silver medals by the club.

Snow and ice are gradually melting on the Columbia highway beyond Crown Point. Albert Wiesendanger, forest ranger, reports after an inspection trip to Eagle Creek camp grounds and park, that no damage has been done to the park by the snow storm, although snow to the depth of 2 1/2 feet is now on the camp ground.

Sern Anderson went to Portland Sunday for a few days' visit with friends.

Mrs. Sworden, of Corbett station, visited her sister in Portland several days recently.

Mrs. Vancell Evans, who is a victim of smallpox, is being cared for at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Evans.

Fred Ough is still very ill at the Portland sanitarium.

Mrs. Geo. Perry accompanied her Sunday school class to Portland Sunday afternoon to see "King of Kings" at the auditorium.

LYNCH

The Lynch Parent-Teacher association will hold its regular meeting at the schoolhouse Friday evening, February 3. To commemorate Founders Day there will be a short program followed by refreshments and a silver offering.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Johnson of Gresham were callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dahlquist one evening recently. Friends of Mr. and Mrs. John Ashenbrenner are congratulating them on the arrival of a baby girl.

G. N. Sager made a business trip to Oregon City last Friday. Mrs. G. N. Sager spent a couple of days in Vancouver last week.

Miss Alice Richey and Miss Katherine Poppleton, who are attending normal at Monmouth, came home Friday evening to spend the weekend with home folks.

Mrs. C. F. Kesterson was a Portland visitor Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Wulf were the recipients of a very pleasant surprise party at their apartments in Portland. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Will Richey, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Monner, Mrs. E. P. Evans and Mrs. Chas. Ericson, all of this neighborhood.

Mr. Wulf is recovering from a serious accident with which he met in a logging camp several months ago. The Wulfs formerly resided at this place.

Ronald Pawson, 11 years old, who makes his home with his uncle and aunt Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Meacham, had the misfortune to get his leg broken, between the hip and knee, last Thursday. Ronald met with the accident while at play with other boys at school.

B. E. Turner made a trip to Astoria on business matters last Friday.

Pleasant Valley grange held its regular monthly session Saturday evening. A number of questions of importance were informally discussed, and a team was chosen to discuss the export deubenure plan which has been endorsed to the national grange.

ARBOLEDA

Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Gilbert of Powell Valley road near Arboleda are rejoicing over the arrival of a son 10 1/4 pounds in weight. Mother and child are doing well.

CAMP HILL

The last meeting of the Camp Hill Woman's club was held at the home of Mrs. William Hornecker, Meadowhurst Acres. The afternoon was spent in piecing quilt blocks for the club's quilt. Mrs. Walter Lynn will be the hostess tomorrow. Her residence is at the corner of Jenne road and Powell Valley. All members are urged to be present.

Mrs. H. C. Johnson, who has been ill with the flu, is able to be around again.

Hazel Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Smith, who has been ill at Emanuel hospital, returned home Sunday and is reported to be convalescing satisfactorily.

Mrs. Hans Bay and Mrs. R. Bay of Corvallis, Montana, formerly of Laurel Acers, are visiting in Portland and vicinity.

SANDY BLUFF

A sumptuous dinner was served by Mrs. Leonard Lauderback on Sunday last in honor of her husband's birthday. Courses ran from roast chicken to angel food cake. Those present were the latter's mother, Mrs. M. F. Lauderback, Mr. and Mrs. Alvah Lauderback and son Billie, Miss Betty Huffacre, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Lauderback and daughters, Charlotte and Irene, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Lauderback and sons Jim and Jack, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Miller and daughters Dorothy and Betty, and the host and hostess and their three children King, Mary Jane and Phyllis. Recent visitors at the A. D. Kendall home were Mrs. William Webster of Chicago and Mrs. U. Hewitt of Portland.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Kendall entertained Miss Marguerite Bailey and Albert Seidl Wednesday evening at dinner in honor of the first wedding anniversary of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Matches.

COTTRELL

The dedication of the new school auditorium took place Saturday evening, January 28. A large crowd was present from this community and also from various other districts.

W. M. Dyer was chairman and presented a very entertaining program. G. D. Orr, principal of the Sandy High school, delivered the dedicatory address, which was very interesting and instructive along educational lines for both parents and students.

Several musical numbers were given by the Sandy Union High school band under the direction of Principal Orr. All considered themselves fortunate in having the band as they were under double engagement on that evening. Over 200 were served by the refreshment committee. The regular meeting of the P.-T.-A. will be held next Thursday evening, February 2. A good program is announced by those in charge.

Pleasant View Avenue

An enjoyable party was given Wayne Hall at the home of Mrs. W. C. Hall Saturday in honor of the former's fourth birthday. The table was decorated in red and white in memory of St. Valentine.

Those present were Ruthie and Flora Edelman, Leonard and Roy Harman, Velma Hornecker, Lloyd Halstead, Richard Bjornal and Wayne and Jean Hall. After the children's party, the children's mothers who were present were served with lunch.

Mrs. Kate Bjornal of Portland spent the week-end with her sister, Mrs. W. C. Hall. Mr. and Mrs. Glen Harman, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hornecker, and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Stewart, the last named from Portland, attended the masquerade ball Friday evening at the Lynch schoolhouse.

Sunday dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Edelman were Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Preston of Springdale, Grant Preston of Bend, Oregon, who is visiting his parents, Mrs. Mira Nelson and son Mr. and Mrs. Walter Preston and children of Bonneville, and Mrs. Jack Shafer.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Graves, who have both been ill for some time past, are reported as improving. The Ladies Aid of Rockwood sent over a beautiful potted plant to them last Sunday.

Mrs. Bert Allen and Mrs. Ida Hamilton were Thursday afternoon visitors at the home of Mrs. Ben Halstead.

Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Seifer entertained at Sunday dinner Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Hicks and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Holmer, all of Portland. The home of Mr. and Mrs. S. Brasswell has been much improved by being re-shingled recently.

SCHOOL DIST. NO. 7

Beth Hattan and Dolores Kames, two former pupils of Wilkes school who now attend Washington and Commerce high schools, visited former teachers and classmates during the mid-year examination week.

Josephine Schemp, who is in the sixth grade, has entered school. Her parents recently moved from Los Angeles and are now residing in Ascot Acres.

Cedric Stasek, Elbert Sprecher and Edward Hogue attended the regular meeting of the Montavilla Boy Scouts on Friday evening.

DeLoss Barnett and family, who have resided on the A. G. Schantz farm for the past year, have moved to a farm on the Bairdsdale road.

Mrs. Grace Burrell sold her home and two acres on the Barr road to P. Mason. Mrs. Burrell left last week for an extended visit in San Francisco.

Mrs. Clara McGregor of Albany has been visiting her sister, Mrs. P. J. Fisher.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Barger and daughter Nita, who have been suffering with severe colds, are recovering and are now able to be out.

Mrs. C. N. Morgan of Portland was a Sunday guest of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Millar.

The many friends of Mrs. Ed Wilkes will be sorry to learn that she suffered a relapse and is again confined to her bed. Dr. H. H. Hughes of Gresham is attending her.

MEETING PLANNED FOR CLACKAMAS SHEEP MEN

A meeting of importance to those who have sheep or are interested in them will be held next Friday, February 3, beginning at 1:30, at the R. L. Sabin farm 1 1/2 mile north of Boring. This meeting has been planned by John Inskip, county agricultural agent, who has arranged for a speaker from the Oregon state college. Several such gatherings will be held in Clackamas county, and Boring was chosen as one of the meeting places.

Mr. Sabin has a nice flock of sheep, many of which are purebred.

PLEASANT HOME

E. E. Van Fleet, who has been in somewhat poor health for several weeks, is not as well as he has been. His many friends are hoping that this slight turn for the worse will soon be superseded by marked improvement.

Mrs. D. T. Williams is reported to be on the sick list.

Mrs. J. F. Collins and daughter Lois spent the week-end in Portland. During this time Mrs. Collins took medical treatment and visited with her relatives.

The community supper which was given by the Methodist church Saturday evening was well patronized, and was considered a success in every respect. The address by Dr. George Pratt was a gem of its kind. The Pleasant Home orchestra, under the direction of Guy Robertson, rendered several fine numbers which were very much appreciated by those present. The committee on program appreciated very much the splendid cooperation given by this organization.

The Gibson family of Portland gave several musical and literary numbers in a very pleasing way. G. H. Bickford acted as chairman of the program. The kitchen and table service was very ably handled by the ladies of the church under the leadership of Mrs. Joe Caldo.

The social hour conducted by the young people under the leadership of Herman Walters at the Methodist church Sunday evening was well attended and thoroughly enjoyed by the large group which attended. After several exciting games had been played, refreshments were served. This was followed by the regular devotional meeting which was led by Amy Sloop. This service was followed by an interesting church service. In addition to the usual exercises of the evening service a trio consisting of H. Lee Ball, W. B. Cory and the pastor sang, "Throw Out the Life Line," and the pastor and C. R. Martin sang a duet entitled, "Because He Loved Me So."

C. R. Martin and family of Garden Home were callers at the Methodist parsonage late Sunday afternoon. They remained for the League and church services.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Van Fleet entertained Sunday an uncle of Mrs. Van Fleet who arrived from Illinois for a brief visit.

Local History Helps Grade School Pupils

The study of the early history of their community and the pioneer families who have helped to develop the country has become a fascinating subject to the 6th and 7th grade boys and girls of the Orient school under the direction of their teacher, Miss Marian Robertson.

A study has been made of the laws relating to the donation land claims in the early history of Oregon and especial interest has been taken by the young people in tracing the boundaries of the claims which are now divided into many smaller farms.

The "oldest inhabitants" are being interviewed, sometimes with remarkable success, as shown in the following story given by "Grandma" Lydia Waybill to 11-year-old Alice Melton, who has written it up in an attractive manner. She calls her story "Grandma Waybill's Trip Across the Plains."

"We started from Boone county, Iowa, April 11, 1864," said Grandma Waybill telling of her trip. "There were 25 wagons drawn by oxen and cows. There were three men in the train who took turns acting as captain. They were Mr. Wright, Mr. Long and Mr. Vancouver. They were all good men and were kind and friendly with the Indians. They exchanged tobacco, milk, etc., for moccasins.

"An old squaw wanted to trade her papoose for my little girl four years old. She wanted her because she had curly hair. At one place Mr. Waybill offered an Indian a big twist of tobacco for two pairs of moccasins. The Indian said 'one piece of tobacco, one pair of moccasins.' Another man said to Mr. Waybill 'you don't know how to trade with the Indians,' and took the tobacco and cut it in two pieces and the Indian readily gave him two pairs of moccasins for it.

"Sometimes we fell in with other trains and for a time there would be as many as a hundred wagons traveling together. We came the route traveled by the first immigrants, fording the Green river and going around the Snake and Platte rivers. Part of the train left us at the Snake river, and crossed, paying toll of $5 for each wagon, thinking they could make better time by doing so, but we arrived at La Grande, which was then known as Grande Ronde, a few days ahead of them.

"There wasn't a great deal of sickness considering the long journey. I had a baby boy who died on the way. I was sick and the woman who looked after him fed him so many wild rose buds that he became ill and died suddenly. Some thought he died of diphtheria. We buried him on the bank of the Owyhee.

"For six weeks while crossing the desert we did not see a house. When we came to the Platte river there were hot springs scattered along the trail. Sometimes the cattle would go in knee deep and would lunge to get out of it. When we first got into these springs everyone was thirsty and we stopped to camp. A German in the crowd climbed from his wagon and lay down to drink from a spring and found the water hot. He exclaimed 'move on, get out of here, hell can't be more than half a mile from here,' and he jumped into his wagon and with his family drove away and we never saw him again.

"Along the Sweet river the water contained so much alkali that many of the cattle died, so we had to work the milk cows with the oxen to draw the wagons. We had plenty of food so no one suffered from hunger.

"When we got to Grande Ronde winter was coming on so we wintered there and came to Portland in the spring, arriving there July 14, 1865. We stayed there three months, then came out here and took up a homestead of 160 acres. The first thing we did was to clear a place and build a log house, then we cleaned a place for our gardens and fields.

"Some years later we built a frame house, which we now use for a woodshed, having built a larger house which I now occupy."

YOUNG CHICKS CARE STUDIED BY BOYS

well ventilated for chicks will not do well in stuffy quarters, but do not let a direct draft pass through the chicken house.

"Preparing for Chicks and Care for the First Week"

Before you start growing chicks you need a good brooder house. The house must be sanitary and free from diseases. It must have plenty of light and ventilation. A house that is movable is the best. The brooder should be fenced off while the chicks are young so they will not wander away from the heat. The house should be cleaned once a day. It should be big enough so the chicks will not become crowded. On the floor of the brooder house have about a half inch of sand with chaff on top. Spray the house with a good disinfectant like lysol. The house should be heated before the chicks arrive to take all dampness out of the house.

When the chicks arrive have the temperature of the room about 90 degrees. Later the temperature can be lowered as the chicks begin to feed and to run about. There are several kinds of brooders, but you are likely to get the best results from a coal brooder. When the chicks arrive put them under the brooder.

The first 48 hours do not feed the chicks anything. After that, feed them a chick feed consisting of cracked wheat, cracked corn, steel cut oats and pearl grit. Have some green feed like kale, lettuce, etc. Give them sour milk or skim milk to drink. Do not give them any water while they get milk. Feed five times a day with all they can eat each time. In the house there should be hoppers and fountains. These should all be sanitary. When you feed them tap on the door so they will be ready to eat.

When the chicks arrive kill all the sick ones and burn them. Keep track of your sick chicks and separate them immediately.

The brooder house should be on clean soil free from diseases.

To remove a grease stain from a rug after dust has settled into the grease spot and the rug has become unsightly: If possible scrape off part of the grease and dirt with a dull knife, and then scrub the stain with a soft brush and warm soapsuds. Or maybe the spot can be absorbed, by one or more applications of fuller's earth, French chalk, or talcum powder, or by blotting paper, and a warm iron. A solvent, such as carbon tetrachloride, gasoline, or benzine, may be used. Gasoline and benzine are very inflammable, and must never be used in the same room with an open fire or flame of any kind. A freshly spilled liquid should not be rubbed from a carpet or rug, because this tends to drive it into the fabric. If possible, the liquid should be covered at once with corn meal, talcum powder, blotting paper torn into bits, or any other absorbent material which will take it up and keep it from spreading.
