Mrs. W. H. Gibson has again tested the outstanding purebred Jersey cow, St. Mawes of M. L. P., in which it is found that she produced 734.3 pounds of butterfat and 12,289 pounds of milk in 305 days. Her milk averaged 5.53 per cent butterfat for the ten months, and for two of these months her yield exceeded 96 pounds of butterfat. For five consecutive months of the test the cow's production exceeded 85 pounds of butterfat per month.

The Woman's Home Missionary society of the Methodist church will meet at the home of Mrs. H. J. Puffer Wednesday afternoon, Mar. 7. Mrs. H. V. Wilhelm will be the leader. Mrs. O. A. Eastman, Mrs. C. E. Johnson and Mrs. E. E. Wellington will serve light refreshments. A short program is being arranged.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Allison of Spokane are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Locke Lewis. They are well pleased with this section of the country and may decide to locate around here later.

The regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held at the library Thursday afternoon, March 8, at 2:30.

Miss Esther Olson, who makes her home with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bjur of Boring, is the new assistant at the White Way confectionery. Miss Olson came to Oregon about two months ago from Kulm, North Dakota.

E. M. Ward returned Wednesday from a two-day stay at Gearhart where he attended a convention of Twentieth Century store managers. Miss Goldie Bjur entered Wednesday upon the nurses' training course at Emanuel hospital in Portland. Miss Bjur finished her course in Gresham Union high school in January of this year.

Attention is called to the corrected advertisement of W. R. Hicks company on page 3 of this issue. An office mistake in arrangement in last issue caused several misrepresentations. The offerings are timely and should be noted.

A paper drive is being conducted by the junior group of the Pioneers of the Gresham Y. M. C. A. in which the cooperation of the public is solicited. Those having papers to donate should call Robert Barnes, Mrs. Frank Metzger or C. M. Quick-snell.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hallgarth and Mrs. Maggie Stricker, the ladies sisters of Mrs. D. E. Towle, will leave this evening for their home in Elgin, Oregon, after a visit of several days at the Towle home. The party has been spending the winter in Portland and have made frequent visits to Gresham. A guest last week of Mr. and Mrs. Towle was August Lindgren of Park River, North Dakota, who was on his way home from California. For 30 years he was associated with Mr. Towle in farming.

Mrs. Harry Donley has returned to her home in Spokane after a 10-day visit with her sister, Mrs. L. T. St. Clair.

Mr. and Mrs. K. J. Hagberg and daughter Miss Martha Hagberg moved Tuesday into their modern new home at the intersection of the Mt. Hood Loop highway and the Barnes road. Mr. Hagberg recently purchased 12 acres there and began at once the erection of a house.

W. J. Cooper and daughters, the Misses Amy and Dorothy Cooper, left for McMinnville this morning where Miss Dorothy has a position as pipe organist in a motion picture theater. William Thom accompanied the party, expecting to take care of a matter of business on the way.

Albert Welty is now the mechanic in the shop of the Quinby garage, taking the place of Norman Lucky who resigned a short time ago and left for his former home at Burns. Welty was formerly the shop man with the Hessel implement company.

A prowler was seen Wednesday evening in the vicinity of the Russell Akin home on Wallula Heights, the circumstances being very similar to those of about a year ago when a man apparently wished access to the house. On Wednesday the prowler, who is described as about six feet tall and shabbily dressed, walked from the front yard to the rear of the house and loitered on the porch. Mr. and Mrs. Akin gave chase to the man and at times were within three feet of him. He finally disappeared in the darkness. Several important clues were obtained which may lead to his capture.

Arden Squire underwent an operation Saturday in the public surgery of the Medical Arts building for the removal of his tonsils and adenoids. The operation was rather a severe one, but has resulted satisfactorily and Arden was able to return to his studies in high school yesterday.

Helen Shearer, daughter of Mrs. Rose Shearer, has been ill for several days with bronchial trouble, accompanied by fever, but is recovering.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Collins, who moved from their home on South Roberts avenue a short time ago to other property owned by them on East Powell street, have newly painted and kalsomined the interior of the house. Another improvement has been the construction of a half basement, finished in hollow block. Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Parker and family are planning to occupy the Collins house on South Roberts.

Mrs. H. L. Langlitz and six children have left for near Payette, Idaho, where they have rented a ranch.

S. C. Jones, who was operated on Tuesday at the Coffey clinic and hospital, is doing exceptionally well and his ultimate recovery is hoped for.

Mr. and Mrs. Gus Alt, the former holding the position of warrant officer at Vancouver barracks, were the Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Leap.

Boys' and Girls' Club Notes.

Miss Helen Cowgill, assistant state club leader, will be in Multnomah county during the week of March 19 to 24, at which time she hopes to meet every girl club member of the county. Her visit is being awaited with much anticipation. L. J. (Doc) Allen will also pay a visit soon and will have something of interest for the boys.

Plans are already beginning to shape for the club summer school to be held at Oregon State college in June.

There are now over 400 club members enrolled in the various projects. These are mostly in girls' work, but others will follow before long.

Lawrence Aylsworth, who started out in club work five years ago with pigs and who later branched out into calf club work, will now return to pigs. He will grow out a pen of four fat pigs to enter at the Pacific International this fall.

The only calf club to be organized so far this year is at Brooks. There are nine members in this club and John Boeckl is the leader. This was formerly a straight Brown Swiss club, but this year other breeds have been allowed.

The motto for the boys' and girls' is, "Make the best better."

MYSTERY PLAY IS A REAL THRILLER

"The House of a Thousand Thrills" is a mystery play. The junior class of the local high school offers this play on March 8 and 9, and the mystery will be in determining who is trying to discover and steal the jewels of the wealthy Mrs. Carlton. Many are placed under suspicion during the three acts.

First Travers, the butler, leads the audience to believe he is guilty. Then it is possible to suspect Serena, daughter of the old lady, as working with the butler. Mrs. Carlton's grandson and granddaughter next appear to be after the gems.

The stenographer, and later the half caste Indian who is the companion of the wealthy old lady, are in turn suspected. At the same time all of these characters agree that there is someone else in the house that makes weird noises, turns out the lights, steals the gasoline and otherwise shows the house is haunted. The play is a real one to provoke imagination.

Tickets have been on sale to school patrons during the last week at the drug stores, and indications are that many are intending to see this most unusual play. Those who seek thrills and action should not miss this opportunity to hang to their seats with both hands.

ORCHESTRA TO GIVE REQUEST PROGRAM

The Portland Symphony orchestra's original plan to close the present season with a special request program, has been extended to include the last two concerts, the first of which is to be presented at the public auditorium Monday night. While the actual winners of the poll recently held by the Portland Symphony society will be reserved for the season's closing concert, to be presented March 12, Monday's program will include some of the most popular rungers-up. The two have therefore been unofficially dubbed, the "consolation" and the "champion" programs, the inference being that several of the top-notchers excluded by a few votes from the final program, are to be heard on the earlier program.

The votes evidenced a surprising diversity of popular taste. No less than 110 different compositions received votes, and many people have expressed a desire to hear works never before presented in this city. What is perhaps most surprising is that first honors were taken in the symphonic-poem classification by two modern compositions, both of which are consequently slated for presentation on the coming programs. Polling the second largest vote in this group was Strasse's two-piano, "Death and Transfiguration," which will be presented Monday night. Ernest Schelling's "A Victory Ball," which brought the largest vote, will be performed at the last concert of the season, March 12.

The most notable on Monday's program is Rimsky-Korsakov's symphonic suite, "Sheherazade," the ever popular musical counterpart of the "Thousand and One Nights." The excessive brilliance of this work, its dynamism and display of virtuosity, its abundance of tone-colors and beautiful melodies, entitle it to a position in the first rank of Russian music. Its presentation represents an ambitious undertaking on the part of the orchestra. It was given by the Portland symphony two years ago.

Also on this program will be the overture to Weber's opera, "Der Freischuetz," and the scherzo movement from Mendelssohn's suite, "A Midsummer Night's Dream."
