

Interest Increases in Mt. Hood Sports Day

Plans are well under way for the Gresham community automobile caravan to Mt. Hood and participation in the winter sports there next Sunday.

Since the announcement in Friday's Outlook many persons have made inquiries of the Outlook and have indicated a purpose to go. Some have already visited the mountain this winter and beheld at close view its beauty and majesty in ermine winter covering and have gotten a taste of the exhilarating sport of "sliding down the mountain side." These say they will go again. Those who have longed for the experience or wish to be observers only are eager to go.

There will probably be no concerted effort to keep together in going or at the sport area. Some will go early, some later, some to stay long, some merely to enjoy the auto trip.

An effort is being made by a committee of the Gresham Commercial club to have each Gresham visitor wear a special badge showing the locality they represent and evidencing Gresham's interest in the winter sports.

It is expected full announcement can be made in Friday's Outlook. An effort is being made to get the Gresham band to go. The matter is under consideration.

President Mealey, of the Commercial club, has appointed the following as a committee of arrangements: Chas. W. Hunt, Phil Hepp and Ivan Swift.

At the request of Judge Stadler Gresham is sponsoring this day, March 11, at Mt. Hood winter sports. No expense or responsibility is assumed except to get all possible to go and enjoy the day.

CLOVER MEETING TO BE HELD SATURDAY

Prof. G. R. Hyslop, farm crops specialist with the O.S.C. extension service, will tell why farmers are having trouble getting stands of red clover and how better results can be obtained.

This meeting will be at the R. L. Sabin farm one-half mile north of Boring on the Boring road at 10 o'clock Saturday morning, March 10.

County Agent S. B. Hall is arranging for this meeting and urges all farmers who are experiencing difficulties in securing stands of red clover to be present at that meeting. Meeting will be from 10 to 12 a. m.

FAIRVIEW

Mrs. A. N. Zook and daughter have opened up a dairy lunch in the old Cady building. In addition to their display of home-cooked foods, convent lunches and home-made candy, the ladies will engage in dressmaking.

A small fire routed Fairview residents from their beds at an early hour Saturday morning. The roof of a small building north of the Cady store had caught fire, probably from an over-heated stove, but was extinguished with but small loss.

Smith-Hughes Boys Enjoy Diversions

The boys of the Smith-Hughes agricultural department of Gresham Union high school, under the supervision of their instructor, Edward B. Starkey, have been enjoying themselves with various activities during the past few weeks.

Among other things the farm engineering class has finished forge work involving shaping of iron, tempering and welding. They are now soldering tin, iron, zinc, copper, lead and brass, to acquaint themselves with the peculiarities in the soldering of each kind of metal. Some of the boys have already done some handy repair jobs and will make some useful articles before they are through.

The farm animals class has been testing cream, milk and skim milk for themselves and others in the community who have requested tests.

Yesterday the boys tested samples of milk, separated milk or cream for those whom they had not been able to make tests for previously.

The farm crops and horticulture class visited the farm of George Schaeffer, where they saw the principal varieties of potatoes grown in this locality and discussed a few of the potato problems. A number of the boys are planning to produce certified seed this year. Trips were made to W. H. Gibson's orchard, where the boys had some pruning practice on large bearing trees.

In connection with their rodent study the ag boys made a trip to W. C. Lawrence's place where they set traps for moles. On the trip the boys saw many fields where mole trapping would be interesting. Some of the boys are making a collection of mole skins. A George Honey gave the boys an interesting time in his rose garden. He pointed out the possibility in reforestation as demonstrated in his grove of fir trees which have only been planted about 14 years.

Many useful articles for the farm have been made by the ag boys during the past months, most of which are taken home and put into use immediately upon completion.

Cows at Auction Bring High Prices

At the various auction sales of cattle held this season in this part of the county dairy cows have brought exceedingly fair prices to their owners.

The largest number of people that ever got together in this locality gathered at the Veatsch Bros. farm south of Boring on Tuesday, the 28th to attend the auction sale given by the Boring Dairy company when they sold their herd of dairy cows. There were $1 head of cattle sold to the highest bidder. The milch cows averaged about $115 per head. A pure bred Brown Swiss cow topped the sale at $198, and a Holstein brought $196. Some small calves sold as high as $27. The machinery brought a very satisfactory price. It was estimated that 1000 people visited the sale during the day and lunch was served to $75. A number of the cows were bought by a dairyman from The Dalles and there were buyers from California present.

Most of the buyers were from Portland and bought up cows to supply the Portland trade.

This sale was held by J. W. Hughes of Forest Grove.

The Bowlsby sale on the Base Line road and the Anderegg sale were held under the direction of W. S. Wood and sons, auctioneers, of Vancouver, Washington. At the Bowlsby sale 18 head of cattle were sold, the highest priced cow reaching $187.50.

At the Anderegg sale the top notch cow went for $205, while another went for $200. The average price for the 44 head was $142.33.

ROCKWOOD TEACHER BRIDE OF BEND MAN

A wedding of interest to the residents of Rockwood and vicinity is that of Donald Mulcare of Bend, Oregon, and Miss Miriam Forte, the latter a teacher for the past four years in the Rockwood school.

The wedding took place on Tuesday evening, February 28, at the Presbyterian church on 47th and Gilman streets, Portland.

On Friday afternoon the wedding was celebrated at the Rockwood school when the Parent-Teacher association gave a surprise mock wedding in their honor. Mrs. Mulcare, the bride, her maid of honor Mrs. Thorsen, the flower girl Mrs. Myrtle Smith, the ring bearer Mrs. Mabel Kaser and the bride's six maids, Mrs. Lamb, Mrs. Stone, Mrs. Minnie Smith, Mrs. Passmore, Mrs. Woodfill and Mrs. Margaret Crane, were each garbed in a ludicrous manner. The bride carried a bouquet of straw flowers and vegetables, and the flower girl scattered birds' nests in the path of the couple. The bridesmaids' bouquets consisted of vegetables and fir boughs. The groom, Mr. Mulcare, was attended by Mrs. Willard Cook as best man.

Refreshments were served after the ceremony and Mr. and Mrs. Mulcare presented with a large angel food cake. About 75 were present and all wished the happy couple a long and prosperous married life.

BUICK AGENCY LEADS IN JANUARY SALES

Mr. Metzger recently received a congratulatory letter from the Howard Auto company in which he was designated as leading the state of Oregon in Buick sales for the month of January. There are 35 other Buick dealers in the state.

R. L. Baker, salesman for the local agency, won first place in a salesman contest for used cars for the two weeks ending March 1. Mr. Baker came near selling a car a day during that period, his number being 11 for the two weeks.

Recent sales of the Metzger agency include a Buick brougham to T. R. Howitt; a coupe to William Seidel of Bull Run, and a Buick master sedan to Miss Isabel Gilbaugh of Bull Run.

The new Neon sign, "Buick," erected Saturday at the Walter Metzger Buick agency, attracts much attention. This is the only sign of this kind in Gresham.

PLEASANT HOME

The Ladies Aid of the Baptist church was entertained at the home of Mrs. Sadie Chase on Thursday afternoon at a silver tea.

June, Lynn and Robert Fairweather returned to their home in Portland Friday, after spending two weeks at the home of Mrs. Louise Nelson.

The Mannons, who have resided in Pleasant Home for some time, have moved to the Radford place at Cottrell.

Mrs. Spiers and son Walter are in Portland for a stay of three months, where the latter will be able to take daily treatments for the injuries suffered so long ago. Walter is able to get around on crutches.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Taylor are at their residence near the Baptist church, being called home because of the illness of Mrs. Taylor's brother, Ernest Quay.

The many old time friends of Mrs. Lovica Lusted were much grieved to hear of her sudden passing away on Tuesday evening. Mrs. Lusted lived for many years on her farm east of this community. She was laid to rest beside her husband in the Pleasant Home cemetery on Thursday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Nasshahn were guests of their parents over the week-end, returning to Monmouth on Sunday. Their little daughter Rae will remain with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Moulton, during the spring term of school.

Miss Marguerite Hemmers was also a home visitor from Monmouth, where she is enrolled as a student.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Scoville and family of Portland were guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Nelson on Sunday afternoon of last week.

A good number of members were present at the grange meeting on Saturday, February 26. John Chitwood and Seth Young of Boring-Damascus grange were visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. R. Anderson are moving to Sutherlin, Oregon, where they will engage in farming. The former's brother, R. M. Anderson of Sutherlin came with his truck on Thursday morning to move the household goods. The family will leave Saturday or Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. I. W. Anderson of Portland were visitors at the Geo. R. Anderson home on Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Shaw has been quite ill with grip at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. G. Rich.

Miss Olive Rich, who is employed in Portland, has been at the home of her parents for a few days.

Samuel Bacon is reported to be seriously ill at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Lizzie Hagen of Bull Run.

Grant Sloop, who has been ill at his home for several days, is somewhat better but is not recovering as fast as the members of his family and his many friends desire. It is expected, however, that he is well on his feet.

T. Williams, who has been severely afflicted with a cold for the past week, reports some improvement in his condition.

E. D. Kellogg, who suffered a stroke of paralysis a week ago, is said to be slightly better.

The Methodist Ladies Aid will meet at the home of Mrs. John Kleker on Wednesday afternoon, March 7, at 2 o'clock.

EXPLOSIVES—DANGER

As a result of carelessness in leaving blasting caps where children can find them, it is estimated by the Institute of Makers of Explosives, after a survey, that approximately 500 children are blinded or maimed each year in accidents which result from playing with these objects. Among the accidents reported, were ten children in Washington, five in Oregon and four in Idaho.

About 75 per cent of all the accidents apparently occur in rural districts or in the vicinity of small towns. This is due to the fact that the caps are not put away in a safe place after the blasting is finished.

A one-reel motion picture film, entitled "How Jimmy Won the Game," has been completed, the purpose of which is to emphasize the danger to children of playing with blasting caps. This picture, printed on safety film, will be screened in the schools in those states where most of the accidents occur.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stensland's new bungalow at Rockwood is nearing completion and the young couple hope to soon occupy it. At present they are with Mrs. Stensland's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Kuhlman of Ruby Junction.

Grandpa London is gradually failing since the light stroke of paralysis which he suffered a short time ago. He is being cared for at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Wm. Stanley, by Mrs. Stanley and another daughter, Mrs. Lois Spath, who came from Seaside in November to help care for her father during his illness.

Junior Play Will Be One of Mystery

Students who saw skits of the junior play in assembly last Friday have named "The House of a Thousand Thrills" the most exciting play ever staged here.

Two portions of the plot were given, and from start to finish the students were in cold chills or hilarious excitement. The play will be given Thursday and Friday evenings in the gymnasium.

Miss Marjorie Machen, dramatic coach, has been training the cast for roles which range from burglar to that of a French artist. The burglar as played by Horace Wilton attempts to steal the gems of a wealthy old lady. Before the play is over the audience will be suspecting the Frenchman as well.

The play gets its name from the mysterious and exciting moments. Everyone in the house of Mrs. Carlton, the wealthy old lady, admits that something is responsible for the uncanny noises and cries, the disappearances of things, cutting of wires and other puzzling events. Even the crooks think the house is haunted.

William Ott, taking the part of a favorite grandson, furnishes some real thrills and keeps one guessing. He falls deeply in love with the character played by Gretchen Moore. Does she fall for him? This is one of the mysteries.

Sale of tickets to patrons through the local drug stores has been about three times that of the play given last fall. Student salesmen are now canvassing the various communities, and those who do not have tickets may get them from those in charge. Those desiring some of the better tickets can get in touch with the ticket sellers by calling the high school.

During this play the custom of not seating anyone during an act will be strictly adhered to. The play will start promptly at 8:30.

GRESHAM BOY IN AUTOMOBILE WRECK

Frederick Bechill figured in an automobile accident Saturday evening which could easily have terminated in severe injury or a fatality. As it was, he escaped with a cut over his eye and severe bruises when the sedan which he was driving went over a bluff on the Boring road south of Gillis station as he was on his way to Gresham.

The car turned over sideways twice and once ended up, resulting in nearly a complete wreck.

At the point of the accident the paved road runs off into a rough piece of road, and Bechill struck a deep chockhole, apparently losing control of the steering wheel. The car lunged first to one side, then the other, and barely missed a body of water on the east side of the road. It is reported that several accidents have taken place at the same place during the past year. The boy was able to return to his studies at high school Monday morning.

Little Virginia May, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Stanley, has been seriously ill at the home of her parents for the past week but is some improved at this time. Mrs. Stanley's mother is here helping care for the little one.

Mrs. Ida Burgess has been helping in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Olds for the past two weeks. Mr. and Mrs. Olds have moved to Portland where they have purchased a lovely home in Irvington. While the people were very sorry to lose them from this vicinity, the best wishes of all go with them.

Mrs. Dunlop, wife of the Rev. J. F. Dunlop, visited several days in Portland this week with her daughter Marian and family.

Much credit is due Mr. Weber on the new service station which he has built just opposite his home on the Base Line road. It is very neat and modern and up to date in every way.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed McCann are spending the greater part of their time with Mr. McCann's mother, who is very ill at her home in Milwaukie with cancer.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stensland's new bungalow at Rockwood is nearing completion and the young couple hope to soon occupy it. At present they are with Mrs. Stensland's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Kuhlman of Ruby Junction.

Grandpa London is gradually failing since the light stroke of paralysis which he suffered a short time ago. He is being cared for at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Wm. Inspection of Fruit Reveals Root Weevil

Accompanied by G. W. Dean of the Berry Growers Packing company, J. E. Stansberry, state fruit inspector, has recently visited a number of berry fields and is fully convinced that where the weevil bait was used intelligently berry yards that had been infested with weevils seem to be entirely free from the pest, while in many yards that were untreated the presence of weevils is so pronounced that the berry crops will be materially damaged. The point is made very clear that unless the weevil bait is applied on strawberry as well as caneberry fields, tonnage will be materially reduced. The Berry Growers Packing company has a limited supply of the bait and orders should be placed at once to insure delivery at the proper time.

With reference to setting out new berry plants, Manager Towle says: "This is the right time of the year to plant red and black raspberries. In preparing the soil the plowing should be done deep and good as this will lay the foundation for success. The planting of red raspberries should be done preferably north and south as the rows of canes shade each other, preventing sun scald and offering shade to the pickers in harvest. The best spacing is not less than 7 1/2 feet apart for the rows, and for the plants 3 feet 9 inches. This spaces the plants one-half the width of the rows and if you are careful and lay out your planting properly you can cultivate both ways with the horse cultivator reducing the cost of care of the yard for the first two years. If desired a half crop of potatoes or corn can be grown the first year that should help carry the cost of cultivating.

The blackcap raspberry could be planted with a fair hope of profit as the old plantings are going out and new plantings should be made. The two best varieties are the Munger and the Plum Farmer of which we have a limited supply of plants, as well as Cuthbert plants. The blackcap plants should be set rows 8 ft. apart and plants not less than 4 feet apart in the row. These plants do not need wire or posts and you can cultivate both ways during the life of the plants, which reduces the cost of production. Weevil bait should be applied on all kinds of berries.

Suggestions.
"Lime sulphur spray should be applied now on tree fruits."
"Early sowing of spring grain pays."
"Early potato planting should be done with medium sized whole potatoes preventing danger of the seed rotting and sturdier growth of plants."

Outlook's Birthday Made Happy Event

(Mrs. Mary Welch)
Among the many pleasant events which are participated in from time to time by the members of the Outlook force was that of Friday afternoon, when a pause was made in the busy routine of work to celebrate the 17th birthday of the Gresham Outlook. Editor H. L. St. Clair, in the preceding issue of the paper, had referred to his "infant", which had been gradually developing into a husky little fellow during the years, without the inkling that a small celebration was being arranged in his honor.

Two birthday cakes, each equal in beauty and edibility, adorned the festive board and were greatly admired by the 16 persons present. Although the cakes were attractive and stately, they were not at all durable, and vanished as if by magic at the onslaught. One of them was the gift of the Portland Gas & Coke Co., through its representative who is helping conduct the annual cooking school in Gresham, and was baked by Mrs. J. E. Bartlett whose culinary skill is the admiration of her many friends. This cake was flavored with orange and was ornamented with 17 orange-colored candles and proved as delicious as it was beautiful.

The other cake, which was the result of the baking skill of Mrs. L. T. St. Clair, carried out the idea of St. Patrick in its decorations of green on the light-colored icing. Seventeen green candles formed the border, while across the center of the cake were outlined in green the numerals, "1911-1928", the intervening years representing those of the Outlook's existence. This cake also proved upon proper examination to be all a birthday cake should be, and made a very satisfying accompaniment for the ice cream and coffee which were served.

The years as represented by the dainty icing were no doubt anything but years of indolent ease. As the glowing little candles of orange and green were in turn lighted and then blown out by the editor and his wife, those standing by, several of whom have been closely associated with the paper practically from its beginning, could fancy that many days and even nights of toil were encountered in the effort to bring the Outlook up to its present existence.

There may have even been times when it was feared that the "small boy" could not pull through, but a careful feeling of the pulse and proper doses of printer's ink carefully administered by the parent in the right doses may have had something to do with passing these crises, and the child survived. Loyalty and support, the golden flowers of friendship, have been important factors in contributing to the success of the paper.

Toil has its reward in the knowledge of something useful accomplished, some goal attained. It is the sincere wish of the employees of the Outlook Publishing company that many happy returns of its birthday may be duly celebrated.

Besides the editor and Mrs. St. Clair, the members of the Outlook force who participated and, in fact, planned the surprise, were Emma B. Johnson, Evelyn Metzger, Mary E. Welch, Mabel Jackson, Chase E. St. Clair, Leslie T. St. Clair and Benj. H. Davies. Members of the various families made up the number to 16.
