ATROCIOUS—IF

Whether the explosion which wrecked the R. B. Jones home near Boring, killing a mother and young son and seriously injuring others, was purely accidental or resulted from criminal motives remains to be proved. Strong suspicion centers on a boy, member of the family, the only one outside the home at the time of the explosion which happened a short time after he had left the house.

We have this young man, who is being held on suspicion, is not guilty of the deed—but, if he is, we brand this atrocious crime as of a magnitude and character comparable with the recent killing of the Parkes girl in Los Angeles, the guilt for which has been fixed on Hickman. The motives and methods may be different but the Boring crime, if it shall prove to be such, is no less deliberate, inexcusable and atrocious.

Earl Jones will have to clear up the suspicion, if he can.

A bulletin of Grange activities says that in a town near Hartford, Conn., the grange got together many of its members and spent a day putting in an up-to-date sidewalk in front of its building and otherwise greatly improving the appearance of the street in front of its property. Their unselfish service in behalf of the public good was viewed with admiration by the citizens and in consequence many accessions to the grange membership followed.

We don't want to be too critical but our impression is that Gresham Grange could do itself and the locality a similar service with like results. If not directly in front of the grange hall, near it the sidewalk is in deplorable condition.

GRESHAM RESIDENT OBJECTS TO WELL

Gresham, Ore., March 13, 1928. Editor Outlook:—In the Gresham Outlook of March 9, 1928, it makes the startling announcement that "the water committee of the city council was ordered to call for bids for the sinking of a well for the municipality of Gresham." It seems to me that this is a rash step without serious consideration. As we now have the Bull Run water, considered far and wide to be the very purest of water to be obtained anywhere, and is, without doubt, one of the greatest assets Gresham has. Then why take the chances of going to the expense of getting a supply of water, when no one knows what the result will be. There will always be chances to take with regards to a well, if there will be a continual supply or not, and if it were not so good. Then it would be a failure, no matter what supply is found. If it is a question of cheaper water for the city, I have my doubts about that. At any rate we will admit that the present Bull Run water is high as to cost. In making the change we cannot run the chances of trying an experiment. The water now in use has been one of the greatest assets we have had in building up our town, and has a greater future, the more it is known that we have this famous water.

The following clipping taken from the Sunday Oregonian of March 11th, 1928, gives some idea of the value that will be placed on the water, for its purity, and cannot help but bring people to Portland and vicinity, and Gresham will undoubtedly get its share.

"Bull Run water, sealed in bottles like those now available on trains, may go to the orient on the ships of the Columbia Pacific Steamship company. J. C. Ainsworth, president of the United States National bank, indicated in a letter to Commissioner Mann yesterday.

Mr. Ainsworth asked whether the water, if sealed in bottles, would keep fresh for a long trip to the orient. Water in those districts is poor, he said, and it would be a great benefit if Bull Run water could be taken on the ships.

Commissioner Mann has in his office a half gallon jug of water that has been there since November 16, 1899, and except for a slight sediment of vegetable matter is as clear as when it was bottled. He will report that the water can be carried for long distances and still be available for use."

Personally, we bought our home here on the strength of having the present water, now in use, and expect others have done the same. Now, in all sane judgment does it look right that we can be cut from what we know to be good pure water, and replace with something we know nothing about?

WM. ANDERSON.

COLUMBIA HEIGHTS

Mr. Ferguson has rented the old Taylor place and has moved a number of his jerseys down there.

At the last meeting of the Corbett grade school board the staff of teachers was re-elected. They are G. Lusby, principal; Miss Katherine Hall, Miss Beatrice Bourgeois and Miss Mabel Porter. As Miss Hall has planned to attend the Ellensburg, Washington, normal the coming year, a new teacher, Miss Ellis of Portland, was elected to take her place. Miss Ellis has been teaching for the past two years at Hurlbut.

Three eighth grade pupils of the Corbett school were among those who gave a program at the teachers' institute. Dick Morgan of Chanticleer Inn gave a clever reading, and Laura Hicks and Elizabeth Morgan gave a play, entitled, "Emancipation and Proclamation."

About 40 Portland Jewish women gave a bridge luncheon at Chanticleer Inn one afternoon last week.

Miss Elizabeth Laing of Portland is the house guest of Mrs. Marian R. Crane.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ehrman, with several friends, spent Sunday at Ehrman's.

Larken Shoulitz is visiting his brother at Coeur d'Alene, Idaho.

Several high school students enjoyed a party at Crown Point chalet on Friday evening. Mrs. Holden of Oswego, daughter of Mrs. M. E. Henderson, also was the guest of her mother.

Mrs. J. Deaver Sr., who has been on the sick list for some time, is somewhat better at present.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Stuart of Portland spent Sunday at the home of the former's parents at Latourell Falls.

R. P. Rasmussen of The Dalles is looking after his interests at the Sandy.

The outlook for fruit this year in this locality is reported to be fine. Owing to the long, cold and frosty nights everything has been kept back, and danger now from cold nights is not likely to interfere with the growth of the fruit. Everyone is glad for the signs of the return of spring.—the song of the lark and the croaking of the frog.
